

Nixon Rescinds Nominations Made by LBJ

President Wants
To Review Them
'Without Prejudice'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has withdrawn 485 nominations— including two ambassadors and five judges— which Lyndon B. Johnson sent to the Senate in the final days of his administration.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon wants a chance to review each case without prejudice and added: "There is a possibility some will be renominated."

A newsman told Ziegler there was some unhappiness at the Justice Department, where he said it was reported there had been an understanding between the former administration and some officials of the Nixon transition team that the judicial nominations would not be withdrawn.

"There was no such understanding at all," Ziegler replied. The nominees for ambassador are Robert W. Komer, former head of the Vietnam pacification program, whom Johnson named envoy to Turkey, and Albert W. Sherer Jr., a career foreign service officer who had been slated to go to Equatorial Guinea.

The five judges had been named to U.S. district courts in California, Washington, D.C., and Guam.

JFK Withdrew 1,243
Ziegler was quick to point out that President Kennedy had withdrawn 1,243 Eisenhower postmaster nominations when he took office. But Ziegler said he did not know how many nominations had been submitted or subsequently reinstated.

The action also affected three men Johnson had named to the Law Enforcement Assistance Agency, created last year to help local police in the fight against crime. They are administrator Patrick V. Murphy, former director of public safety in the nation's capital, and associate administrators Ralph G. H. Siu of Hawaii and Wesley A. Pomeroy of California.

Also involved was Emory P. Roberts of Maryland, a veteran Secret Service agent who had been appointed to the Federal Parole Board Roberts is still on duty in his post as a receptionist in the West Lobby of the White House, where visitors come through to see the President.

Johnson's longtime Texas friend and congressional liaison aide in the White House, Harold Barefoot Sanders Jr., was among new federal judges involved. He had been named to the U.S. Court of Appeals.

300 Left Homeless By Killer Tornadoes

HAZLEHURST, Miss. (AP) — Massive clean-up operations began today in central Mississippi where tornadoes killed 29 persons as they carved a path of destruction across three counties.

The twisters, roaring in from the west Thursday morning, injured more than 150 persons and left approximately 300 homeless. Damage was estimated in the millions.

The first area struck was a predominantly Negro settlement just outside south Hazlehurst in Copiah County. The tornadoes then moved northeastward into rural areas of Simpson and Smith counties about 30 miles further.

Restore Service
Utility crews worked into the night Thursday to restore most of the electrical and telephone service.

The Hazlehurst hospital alone treated 128 persons. Many others were taken to hospitals in Jackson and Brookhaven.

About 200 homeless persons spent the night at an emergency center set up at the National Guard armory in Hazlehurst.

Governmental and private agencies quickly moved into the area to care for the hungry and the homeless.

"We are ready to feed, clothe and shelter all of them," said George Sheffield, central Mississippi Red Cross disaster chairman.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture in Atlanta and the state Welfare Department in Jackson volunteered to provide food where needed. Gov. John Bell Williams, on a tour of the stricken area, pledged state aid.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., announced in Washington the Small Business Administration would make 3 per cent loans available to business and residential areas. Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., urged the government to declare the region a federal disaster area.

Survivors said an overwhelming roar and ominous darkness preceded the tornado.

"It sounded like a train to me," said Lonnie Haynie. "When the lights went off we got on the floor and I got on top of my youngest child. The house was flattened over us."

"I knew what it was when I heard it," his wife Vera said.

Pueblo Skipper Tells Tale of Terror, Torture

Bucher Says
Was Forced

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — The captain of the Pueblo says he confessed to spying after blood-chilling mental torture, and then tried to drown himself in a bucket of water.

Tears streaming, his voice breaking with anguish, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher told a Navy court of inquiry Thursday that North Koreans finally broke him by threatening to shoot his crewmen one-by-one in front of him—and summing up the youngest sailor and saying they would start with him.

Bucher's account of the terror ended—at least for now—his public appearances. He went before a closed session of the court today to give secret—classified—testimony, and was to be followed, the Navy said, by Rear Adm. Frank L. Johnson, commander of U.S. naval forces in Japan at the time the Pueblo was seized. Bucher has said he radioed desperately for help as North Korean gunboats surrounded the intelligence ship, but it never arrived.

The Navy said Johnson would testify after closed-door accounts from one or more of three captains under his command in Japan when the Pueblo was seized off North Korea last year. Summaries of all secret sessions will be prepared, deleting all classified information, and made available to newsmen, a Navy spokesman said.

Open court sessions are scheduled to resume Wednesday.

'Quite Disturbed'

After describing why he confessed, Bucher said Thursday, "sometime during the night I attempted to commit suicide by drowning myself in a bucket of water in my room but was unable to accomplish this."

"Mentally, I was quite disturbed," he said, partly because of the embarrassment he thought his confession caused the United States.

The typewritten confession said Bucher was a CIA agent, that his ship intruded into North Korea waters and that he was trying to put South Koreans ashore.

"And I realized," he said, "they (North Koreans) needed me alive more than anyone else in the crew for public appearances that I was afraid of and knew were coming."

He couldn't eat or sleep for several days, Bucher said, because he was haunted by the thought that secret information on the Pueblo had fallen into Communist hands.

Begins Trembling
The court warned Bucher Wednesday he may have violated regulations by surrendering the ship. Bucher was in his fourth day of testimony and has been unusually calm, sometimes tense, until he came to describing an interrogation before he confessed. As he talked he began trembling.

"They made me kneel on the floor," Bucher said. He said a North Korean he nicknamed Super Colonel, or "Super C," seemed desperate.

"You have two minutes to decide to sign the confession or be shot," Bucher said he was told. "I spent two minutes on the floor and I repeated over and over... (the skipper's voice broke and he paused) I love you, Rose. I love you, Rose."

His blonde wife Rose sobbed and rubbed her eyes at that point in his testimony.

"At the end of the two minutes he asked me to sign," Bucher said. "I said I wouldn't. He told a guard at my side to move so when I got shot and the bullet passed through my head, he would not be hit."

"Kill the son of a bitch!" Bucher said a North Korean Turn to Page 2, Col. 3

'I'm Sure I Came Close to Death'

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — From his lonely prison room in North Korea, U.S. Navy Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher could hear little girls laughing.

Children went by outside singing a marching song.

Things were improving. A few days before, on March 5, 1968, Bucher and his 81 men from the USS Pueblo had been moved to the prison in the countryside.

It was six or seven miles from Pyongyang, the capital of North Korea, Bucher told a court of inquiry Thursday. The court of five admirals is investigating capture of his intelligence ship.

At this new prison there were no blinds on the windows, and Bucher said he could see cooperative farms surrounded by military installations and missile batteries.

A parade of tanks went by on a nearby road almost weekly, he said.

"We were treated much more humanely," Bucher said, comparing this prison to the compound where he and his men were taken when they were captured three months before. At that compound, Bucher said, he and his men had suffered severe beatings and Bucher underwent chilling mental torture.

"There was always an aura of terror," he said. But now the men had daily sick call except for Saturdays and when doctors were not available.

"Nurses were always available and their professional qualifications were comparable to the nurses at home. But not their looks. Their looks didn't quite come up to standards," Bucher said with a grin.

"I'm sure I came close to death on a couple of occasions because of illnesses. There was typhoid, and scurvy was rampant from a lack of vitamins. Mysterious holes started appearing in our skin."

"There were the types of sores you see in the Bible in pictures of Lot. By and large I thought their medical treatment, considering all things, was barely adequate. In some cases, though, it was just short of miraculous.

"They did have penicillin. But their sterilization and cleanliness standards were far below those at home."

"I'm sure that because of this several of us contracted hepatitis. I was one of those."

"At one time I had lost approximately 100 pounds."

Bucher said he was given a half a pack of cigarettes every day and he and his men were getting tooth brushes and tooth paste.

During 15-to 20-minute exercise periods in the summertime, Bucher said, he and his men were sent out to cut the grass around the prison building.

"They had not invented lawnmowers yet," he said, "and we cut it with a pen knife."

The men got to write home—but interpreters translated the letters into Korean and they were changed by officers in charge of the captivity, Bucher said.

Then, he said, the men got their letters back and were ordered to recopy them, adding the North Korean changes.

The North Koreans tried to propagandize his men with socialistic movies every Friday night and booklets and brochures about the "tremendous number of atrocities by American troops during the Korean war."

"They gave us absolutely ridiculous accounts of the war and the way things were in the world," Bucher said. "They gave us news in a way that tried only to demoralize us."

"They told us Robert Kennedy had been killed by the President of the United States."

Hospital Helicopter Downed

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today a medical evacuation helicopter was shot down in the central highlands killing seven and bringing the war's total of choppers lost in combat to 999.

The command also belatedly announced that a helicopter shot down Jan. 15 south of Da Nang, killed Col. Michael M. Spark, 41, Alexandria, Va., commander of the 3rd Marine Division's 3rd Regiment. Six others, including a Marine officer, died with him in the flaming crash. Spark was the first Marine regimental commander killed in Vietnam.

The medical evacuation helicopter was downed Thursday in the central highlands 23 miles northwest of Pleiku. Three wounded Americans and four crewmen were killed. The command said it was clearly marked with red crosses.

In addition to the number of small-arms fire, crashed and burned in the jungle.

Meanwhile, U.S. military analysts said from now until mid-February is a critical period in the Vietnam war because of the peace talks in Paris and the new administration in Washington.

Spokesman at Da Nang identified two others that died with Spark in the crash last week.

They were: Lt. Col. Ernie Lee Whisman, 39, commander of the 1st Battalion, 12 Marines, a native of Winchester, Ky., whose widow and four children live in Wichita Falls, Tex., and Sgt. Major Ted McClintock, 59, of the 3rd Marine Regiment, a native of Seattle, Wash., whose widow lives in Bothell, Wash.

A spokesman said Spark was in a command helicopter directing his troops battling enemy soldiers in heavily fortified positions about 30 miles south of Da Nang. The helicopter was hit by an enemy winter-spring offensive has been anticipated since last Dec. 13, but the experts said they believe the U.S. and South Vietnamese operations that have smashed numerous bases and captured hundreds of tons of supplies have upset the Viet Cong's timetable.

With more than 700 tons of munitions and food captured already this month, South Vietnamese headquarters today announced the biggest single haul of the war. A ranger battalion seized 60 tons of assorted ammunition near the Cambodian border 132 miles west of Saigon, a communique said.

Because Cambodia is off limits to U.S. and South Vietnamese forces, supplies stockpiled just over the border are available to the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese for operations nearby in the three northern provinces of the 3rd Corps Area, which has Saigon at its heart.

Feel 30 Years Younger!

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A three-hours-a-week program of exercise makes 70-year-old men feel and function as if they were 30 years younger, the University of Southern California reported today.

The school gave these results after a year of tests with 69 men aged 50 to 87.

Blood pressure—improved 6 per cent.

Body fat—decreased 4.8 per cent.

Oxygen consumption (best single measure of vigor)—increased 9.2 per cent.

Arm strength—increased 7.3 per cent.

Nervous tension—reduced 14 to 15 per cent.

The men taking part in the experiment work out for one hour three times a week. Their closely supervised regimen includes calisthenics, stretching, swimming—and jogging.

The research was conducted by Dr. Herbert A. Devries, professor of physical education and head of an exercise research group at USC's gerontology center. He said in an interview he plans to test groups of older women later.

Better Motivated
"We may get even better results with women," he said, "because of greater motivation. We are already swamped with demands from women who have heard about our project."

Key to success of the experiment lies in tailoring exercise to the individual. Devries is developing a "pharmacopoeia of exercise" similar to the catalog of drugs available to physicians.

"Exercise should be prescribed with the same care and certainty that a physician uses in prescribing drugs," Devries said.

Devries has developed a series of tests to monitor physical condition during the exercise program and whenever trouble shows up exercise is suspended or canceled.

"People in this age group should undertake an exercise program only after a complete physical examination," he said, "and the older they are the more carefully they should be supervised."

Keeping Man Clean Through the Ages now! by G.J.L.

Next to water, soap is one of the oldest and most familiar cleaners known to man. No one knows who first discovered it but some say it came about accidentally when women washing in the rivers, used clay from Sapo Hill in ancient Rome. The clay contained fat and ash from sacrificial altars and thus made a soapy substance which seemed to help in washing. If this is true, it could account for the name both in English and other languages—soap, sapone, savon. History tells us of rough cleaning substances being used in the Second and Eighth Centuries in both France and Spain, and from those early Spanish soapmakers came the name "castile."

In 1800, a French scientist discovered that soda and lye could be made from common salt. Soap then became easier to manufacture at home, and thus more readily available to the common people. This meant that soap need no longer be an expensive luxury.

Early American Craft
Here in America, soap boiling was one of the earliest crafts. Housewives first made their own from waste kitchen grease and lye and many in rural areas continued to do so even as commercial soap slowly became available. In soap factories refined fats and oils and closely controlled alkali content were combined using mass production techniques. Then color and perfume were added. Increased research and development led to standardized formulas and processes, and to different forms of soap for personal and household use.

In the beginning, soaps were soft or semi-liquid and were usually ladled from barrels. Long bars came next and these were chopped into sizes to suit the customer, and then priced by weight. Competition brought uniform cut sizes and wrapping to identify brands. Soapmaking had become a science.

With the development of the mechanical washing machine, a demand was created for a product that would dissolve quickly and work efficiently when added to a tubful of water and soiled laundry. Initially, housewives "chipped" their own, but soapmakers soon supplied packaged chips, flakes and granules.

Modern Innovations
As these new forms appeared, formulas continued to improve in all soap products. Composition was matched to function. Fats and oils were carefully selected in order to obtain the desired color, hardness, and degree of lathering.

Today, in addition to tallow and coconut oils, special ingredients are pressed from a great variety of flowers, fruits and seeds. Palm, olive, sesame, peanut, soy, sunflower, lavender, rosemary, citronella, bay sandalwood, and many others all contribute their oils and essences to the familiar bars and packages we use in our homes.

When the basic fats and oils are mixed with alkali under controlled conditions, they react to form soap and glycerine. The glycerine is removed along with excess lye and other impurities. Then perfumes, colorants, preservatives and, in the case of laundry products, varying amounts of builders (or cleaning ingredients) are added before the soap is then processed into bar, flake or granule.

To make flakes, hot liquid soap is poured between revolving steel rolls and scraped off as it adheres in thin layers to the cold steel. As these scrapings harden and dry, they are broken into flake size and packaged.

Basic Classifications
A process called spray drying is used in producing granules. Hot liquid soap is sprayed through hoses under pressure from the top of a tower. The soap dries as it falls in drops through heated air to the bottom and the particles are then aerated and filtered to assure uniform size before packaging.

Household soaps are generally classified as light and heavy duty or, more correctly, all purpose. Light duty products, sometimes referred to as "unbuilt," are primarily pure soap with only perfume and trace amounts of preservative and brightener added. They are

Parents of Sexually Victimized Child Can Cause Deep Scars

The way parents react to sex victimization "quite mild." Unless these offenses are "extensive" they "do not, of themselves, seem to affect any individual's psychological balance or eventual sexual adjustment in any way."

On the other hand, "many children are more psychologically harmed by the reaction of their parents than by the event itself," the sociologists claimed. "The problem for the parent is that the process of discussing what may have been a trivial event for the child (such as the order of seeing a minor traffic accident), the discussion itself will lead to the expression of the parent's sexual concerns and anxieties."

How to React
"In such circumstances it is not uncommon for a parent to shake and threaten the child as an expression of rage and frustration over his own seeming inability to protect him. This irrational aggression against the child by anxiety-ridden parents can only make worse what might have been a mildly curious reaction on the child's part."

Majority Not Violent
The more common sex offenders, "the Peeping Tom, the exhibitionist, the types who touch children in movie theaters, are in the aggregate not potential rapists or violent in any way," the sociologists contended. They called the consequences of this sort of sexual

Jaycettes Donate Two Pool Tables To County Hospital

Male patients at Outagamie County Hospital recently received two pool tables donated by the Appleton Jaycettes.

The purchase of the tables was made possible after the Appleton Jaycettes were informed that they were among six Jaycette chapters in the state to receive grants from the United Jaycette Fund (UJF).

The sum requested on behalf of Outagamie County Hospital was supplemented by funds from the Appleton Jaycettes and Jaycees.

Previously known as the Cerebral Palsy Fund, UJF was established as a joint cerebral palsy, mental health and retardation fund at the close of 1966. All Wisconsin Jaycette chapters contribute and any chapter may submit a request for a grant. Requests are voted off at the annual mid-year convention in December.

In 1968, more than $6,000 were awarded, with chapters from Beaver Dam, Cudahy, Chippewa Falls, Wauwatosa, Menomonee Falls and Fond du Lac completing the list of recipients.

Your Problems

Ann Tells Husband to Forget, Forgive, Too

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I read with interest the letter from the woman who stumbled over two very close relatives in the backyard — her husband and her sister. They were locked in loving embrace and the time was 5 a.m.

Your advice was "forgive and forget — and then forget what you forgave." Neat phrasing, Ann, but easier said than done. And now I am writing to ask, what should a husband do when he stumbles over his wife and his boss, in his very own living room — asleep, the both of them, on the sofa at 3 a.m.?

True, I was not expected until the following day, but it's a fine

How-Have-You-Been when a man can't go home without warning his wife in advance so she can clear the guy out.

Our marriage was a good one, or so I thought. We have three terrific kids — one in prep school and two in college. My wife doesn't want a divorce and neither do I. She claims Mr. X drove her home from a party and came in for a nightcap and they had too many.

My wife forgave me for a little affair three years ago and now she says it's my turn to be noble and compassionate. Somehow I think a man is entitled to an occasional indiscretion but a wife should live by a different set of rules. Maybe I'm old-fashioned but this is the way I see it. Please back me up. Thanks — Shafted

Dear Shaft: Thanks for what? You are looking for support for a weak argument and you've rattled the wrong cage. Bub, my advice to the cuckolded husband is the same advice I give to the wife who has been cheated on — forgive and forget, then be big enough to forget what you forgave.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Last night my husband and I went to a movie. It was not advertised as an adults-only film but it should have been.

Five minutes after the movie started, a couple came in with two children. The little girl was about 10 and the boy was no older than seven. The parents sat in the middle and the children sat on either side. The boy was seated next to me.

About halfway through the picture the little fellow's head fell on my shoulder. The poor kid had fallen asleep and I wasn't surprised. It was eleven o'clock. I didn't have the heart to wake him so I just let him sleep.

What's the matter with parents who drag their kids to night movies — and in the middle of the week at that? There should be a law against it. Please say something in your column to let the imbeciles know it's wrong to do this to children. — Outraged

Dear Out: I agree wholeheartedly. Here's your letter and I hope the imbeciles see it.

What awaits you on the other side of the marriage veil? How can you be sure your marriage will work? Read Ann Landers' booklet "Marriage — What to Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. (Copyright, 1969)

Sheinwold Solid Suit Is Useful At Notrump

The weak two-bid, used by almost all American experts, promises a strong six-card suit in a hand not quite worth an ordinary opening bid. If the suit is really strong and partner has ample strength in the side suits, game at notrump is a distinct possibility. The responder can show interest in game at notrump by bidding two notrump; and the opener can then show whether or not his suit is good enough to provide most of the tricks needed for the notrump game.

Opening lead — ♠ Q

In today's hand South's response of two notrump is forcing for one round, indicates an interest in a final contract of three notrump and asks North to clarify the nature of his hand. North does this by raising to three notrump, indicating that he expects his suit to run, thus providing most of the tricks South will need. South is delighted to get the news. Note that South is not tempted to suggest a slam. He knows that North has less than an ordinary opening bid, therefore only about 9 or 10 points in high cards. His own count is 15 points, so that the combined count will not come close to the 33 points usually needed for a slam.

Easy Time
South has an easy time at three notrump if he is not greedy. Declarer wins the first spade with the king and should give up one diamond trick at once. Losing a diamond would be unnecessary if the five missing diamonds broke 3-2, but South needs only five diamond tricks and can therefore afford to take out insurance against a 4-1 break in diamonds.

As the cards lie, South's insurance play is necessary. If he had cashed the three top diamonds he would get no further tricks in the suit and would therefore go down at least one.

After giving one diamond to the opponents, South can win any return and lead his remaining diamond to take the rest of dummy's long suit. Five diamond tricks and his own four winners in the side suits are enough to make game and rubber.

Daily Question
Partner opens with two diamonds (weak two-bid), and the next player passes. You hold: 8 4 3, H-Q 10 9, D-J 10 9 4, C-K J 6. What do you say?

Answer: Bid three diamonds. This type of raise is not a serious attempt to get to game but is, instead, an attempt to increase the price of admission. The opponents probably have a game, and you should make life as difficult as possible for them. If you are not vulnerable against opponents, you might even jump to four diamonds.

Promises Exchanged

MENASHA — St. John Catholic Church was the setting Jan. 18, when Miss Mary Louise Westenberger and Herman Jack Maas exchanged wedding vows in a 2 p.m. double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Westenberger, 836 John St. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Herman Joseph Maas, 408 Tayco St.

Honor attendants were Miss Barbara Smith and Leonard Maas.

The newlyweds were honored at a reception at the Twin City Bowl.

Mrs. Maas was employed by George Banta Co., Inc.

The couple will reside in Maryland, where Mr. Maas is serving with the Army.

Wedding Vows Said

HOLLANDTOWN — St. Francis Catholic Chapel was the setting for the Jan. 20 wedding of Mrs. Nancy L. Stoll and Joseph Kolasinsky. Officiating at the rite was the Rev. Edward Kilsdonk.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mildred Harper, Menasha, and Willis H. Harper, Neenah. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Gus Kolasinsky, Menasha. The couple will reside in Menasha.

Floral Designs Spark Anniversary Themes

Although the silver and gold wedding have become the two anniversaries that are celebrated more than any other, the old idea that those which come before the quarter century mark are usually disregarded, is now outmoded.

Today, the wedding anniversary naturally presents itself as an appropriate occasion for merrymaking, entertaining, and commemorative gift giving. As a truly original gift. For example, couples, starting with their first anniversary, usually mark their years together with various forms of informal festivity, reserving formal banquets for the observance of their 25th and 50th anniversaries.

This ever-increasing observance of each year of marriage also poses a problem for friends and relatives—that of giving a fitting and memorable gift.

Traditional Motifs
Flowers span the years and are generally accepted as customary gifts. But, Florists' Transworld Delivery design experts suggest they are especially on target when professionally designed to feature individual art.

Inspired by Fancy, an FTD designer created this Oz tin man for an unusual tenth anniversary gift. Made of salt and pepper shakers, a vegetable grater body, spoon arms and a funnel hat over his scouring pad hair, the tin man is surrounded by an arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums, orange marigolds and stocks of gladioli. After this novel floral greeting has served its purpose, the utensils will be welcomed in the kitchen.

Splash Bathroom With Color

Got a yen for yellow — or a penchant for purple? Are you bent on burgundy — or tempted to try turquoise? Throw caution to the winds and indulge your tastes for whatever color pleases you — in the bathroom.

This is a far cry from the rules most women follow in choosing anything for their homes. Usually they cling to either of two tried-and-true decorating rules: Play it safe with neutrals or surround yourself

The Homemaker With a Whim for bright colors might take a fling in decorating the bathroom. These bathroom accessories are sold in 14 bold colors. Although all the available pieces are shown here, with matching towels, three or four pieces may add that dash you desire.

Orthodox Jews Make Concession to Women

By EDITH LEDERER
HAIFA, Israel (AP) — Orthodox Jews have made a major concession to the modern Israeli woman—curlers and hair dryers.

In orthodox tradition, a married woman is required to bathe monthly at a Mikveh, where she is ritually cleansed. The woman completely submerges herself in a swimming pool reminiscent of a Roman public bath and is blessed each time she surfaces by the woman who runs the Mikveh, often the wife of a Rabbi.

Though the Mikveh has survived centuries of wet heads, it is now facing a 20th century problem—the ruined hairdo.

To help women keep the faith, at least one Mikveh in the wealthy Mount Carmel section of Haifa provides its customers with all the ingredients of a do-it-yourself beauty salon.

The wet-haired woman can roll her own hair, dry it under

Marriage Announced

Married in a 3 p.m. ceremony Dec. 28 at Faith Evangelical Lutheran Church were Miss Judith Ann Sengstock and David Louis Baehman. The Rev. John Ruege, Oshkosh, officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Victor Sengstock, 2412 Carlton Ave., and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Baehman, 3464 Fond du Lac Road, Oshkosh.

Miss Kathy Crane, Menasha, and John Behm, Oshkosh, were honor attendants.

Mrs. Baehman is employed at Treasure Island. Her husband is serving with the armed forces.

Mrs. Campbell Will Attend Conference

Mrs. William Campbell, Neenah, past national president of the Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, will visit with members of Congress during a conference in Washington, D. C. Feb. 7 to 9.

The conference will center on "Movies from Home" — a special project to the Auxiliary that has helped send hundreds of filmed messages from families to American servicemen in Vietnam. Richard M. Maloney, an advertising executive and Air Force Reserve officer who helped develop the project, will be keynote speaker for the meeting of the national and state Auxiliary officers.

Another speaker will be Czechoslovakian refugee Monica Fidir.

Ceremony Performed

WAUKESHA — Miss Sherry Lynn Hopson and William Alden Rudrud, both students at Oshkosh State University, were married in a 7:30 p.m. ceremony Jan. 21 at First Baptist Church. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. L. B. Lettin and Robert S. Hopson, both of Waukesha. Mr. and Mrs. Dallas K. Rudrud, Whitefish Bay, are parents of the bridegroom.

EASY ETIQUETTE

with most other rooms, and usually "decorated" in white porcelain, chrome, and neutral tiles, the average bathroom is an ideal candidate for daring new color schemes. And it's easy to make the transition without lifting a paintbrush or even putting much of a dent in household finances.

Luxury-look bath accessories, ranging from carpeting and rugs in all sizes to sound-deadening doorknob covers, are made in a veritable rainbow of colors.

Knitted of easy-care synthetic fibers, these practical deep-pile accessories may be washed and dried quickly. Frequent laundering isn't really necessary, however, since the velvety, 50-50 blend of Dacron polyester and acrylic fibers tends to resist soiling.

The well-dressed bath of today can be completely outfitted with such finery as matching tank and lid covers, plush-coated wastebasket and laundry hamper, a fabric-clad bowl brush canister, matching jackets for the scale and facial tissue box, and even a ribbon-banded bonnet for that spare roll of bathroom tissue.

You'll find it difficult to spend more than $100 on such a wardrobe, even for a big, old-fashioned bathroom. At that rate, some homemakers may feel they can afford more than one set for a seasonal change.

The luxury bath accessories come in a range of soft pastels and rich jewel tones, as well as basic black and white. Nor is there any rule against mixing complementary colors, if you wish.

If your choice is a dramatic color like burgundy, royal blue, or clear yellow, the decorator's suggest living with it for a while before investing further in towels or shower and window curtains to match.

A strong color may be continued as an accent only — in rows of ball fringe on white curtains, perhaps, and in the borders of monograms on towels of a softer shade, particularly in a smallish bathroom. Otherwise, the result may be a closed-in feeling.

To help get a bathroom decorating project underway, one manufacturer offers a special starter ensemble composed of a two-piece tank set, lid cover in standard round shape, and a 24 x 36-inch oval rug. Additional accessories may be added.

Total Home Comfort Is New Trend in Living

Soon most new homes being built and those being modernized will include provision for year-around indoor climate control. Included will be such features as heating, air conditioning, electronic air cleaning, humidity control and odor control. This is the outlook of William Hartzheim of Menasha Sheet Metal, 314 Racine St., Menasha, who says development in this field in recent years has been spectacular.

Joanne Woodward Talks About Her Life With Paul Newman

Hollywood's runner-up for top movie money-maker of 1968, and winner of the New York Film Critics award for best director, Paul Newman has been this year's top activities man at home.

To Joanne Woodward, who received the critics' best actress nod, marriage to this human dynamo means trying to keep up with a man whose multiplicity of activities can sometimes be staggering — especially, she relates in the February Good Housekeeping, to a wife with a.m. grogginess and low blood pressure.

Ticking her "five husbands" off one by one she says, "First, there's the stand-up-and-be-counted politico Paul Newman, who turned down a 1968 bid to run for the Connecticut State Senate, asserting, 'I don't believe I'm qualified to run for public office, although lack of qualifications doesn't seem to have bothered some other actions I know!'

Then, there's Paul Newman, the actor — "who'll work much harder on a script he hates," Joanne tells, "and at the same time drink too much beer. If he doesn't like something he's agreed to do 'he can be an absolute pain in the neck.'"

Happier Behind Camera

Speaking of Newman, the director, Joanne says firmly, "Paul doesn't need the crutch of idolatrous fans. I think he's probably happier behind the camera rather than in front of it."

He has a great deal of insight and in "Rachel, Rachel," Paul's first directing stint, almost always I deferred to his perception. "Once or twice violently disagreed with him. He'd say, 'Fine, show me what you want to do.' And then he'd let me do the scene my way." She is hoping that he will pull down an academy award as best director.

Now, for the lest known Newman — Paul the father of six—who doesn't want his brood to be exploited Hollywood style. "We want to rear normal children whose sense of importance is for and within themselves, not because they have parents who are movie stars," says Joanne. At a recent movie premiere, they attended with their two teenagers, the girls gawked at the other stars until the crowd sent up a howl at sight of Paul and Joanne. When a photographer asked pointedly,

Bill Would Compensate Crime Victims

Proposal Makes State Responsible To Protect Citizens

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The concept of compensating victims of crimes because the state has failed to insure their protection has been proposed to the Wisconsin State Senate.

Sen. Norman Sussman, D-Milwaukee, has introduced a bill which would enact the New Zealand practice of making awards to victims of violent crimes or attempted crimes — other than the domestic variety practiced by spouse upon spouse.

Sussman's bill would allow for payments of up to $10,000 to crime victims — or their dependents — if court actions are brought and allowed by the victim of a crime or his dependents.

Cost Not Determined

To win such an allowance, the perpetrator of the crime would not have to be caught or convicted. Insanity, drunkenness or other conditions of the person accused of the crime would not prevent such payments, under Sussman's plan.

The cost to the state of such an act has not yet been estimated.

Under the terms of the bill, bodily harm or injury would include pregnancies resulting from such crimes.

Included assaults, murder, robbery, rape, poisonings, arson and threats.

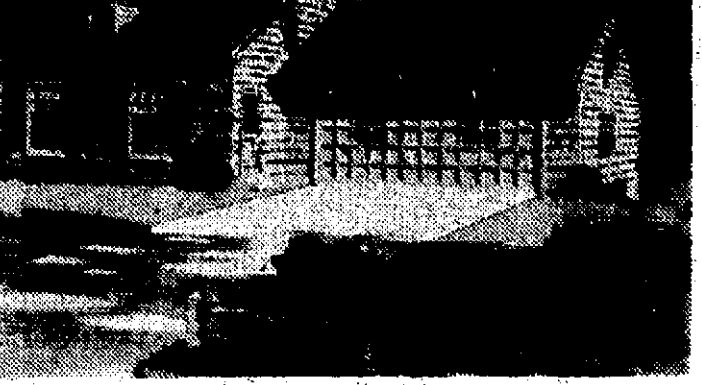

Damages could be awarded for expenses incurred because of the personal injury or death of the victim; financial losses to the dependents of the victim; pain and suffering; and other financial losses the jury might award.

The bill is to be considered by the senate judiciary committee.

Archdiocese's Quota For Fund Is Enlarged

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Roman Catholics in the Milwaukee Archdiocese will be asked to give $2.75 million, an increase of nearly $1 million over last year, to the 1969 archbishop's charities and self-development fund drive.

At a meeting of about 400 priests, Archbishop William E. Cousins also announced a "parish share plan." If a parish fails to meet its quota from pledges, it will be expected to make it up from other sources, Cousins said.

Total Home Comfort will mean you will be able to dial the climate of your choice in any season. Dusting will be reduced to a minimum. Humidity will be just right inside, no matter what it is outdoors. And your guests will no longer be met by lingering odors from your evening meal.

Hartzheim points out that new improvements in home comfort control have come more rapidly in the last few years than in generations before. And perhaps most important, costs are within the reach of the average homeowner. As a result, the trend to Total Home Comfort is expected to move rapidly.

According to Hartzheim, with in the very near future, homes without Total Home Comfort features will be considered obsolete. In addition to improved comfort, he feels controlled indoor climate will reflect in better health, better year-round appetites, better sleep, less housework and social benefits in drawing the family more closely together in the home for year-around family activities.

Menasha Sheet Metal specializes in installing indoor comfort systems. The hours you spend inside your home add up to many years in a lifetime. You can be sure you will enjoy them more by having Menasha Sheet Metal, 314 Racine Street, Menasha, install a complete indoor comfort system. (Adv.)

NLRB Rejects Complaint of Unfair Practice

Investigation Shows Teamsters Did Not Violate Rules

The regional office of the National Labor Relations Board at Milwaukee has declined to issue an unfair labor practice complaint against an Appleton union arising out of a picketing incident at Oshkosh in November.

Charges had been filed Nov. 27, 1965, against Teamsters Local 563 by the strikebound Fox Valley Construction Material Suppliers Association, Inc., a group of seven Fox Cities ready-mix and sand-gravel firms.

The Madison attorney representing the association filed written charges with the NLRB that in mid-November the striking Teamsters had pickets at the Leach Co., Oshkosh, where association members were shipping materials.

Pickets Charged

It was alleged the pickets "induced or encouraged" individuals employed by Leach and Gateway Transportation Co. not to handle products of struck association members.

After investigating the charges, the NLRB issued a finding Thursday to the effect there was lack of evidence to support the charges and as a result no complaint would be issued, automatically dismissing the charges.

The Teamsters claimed drivers of Courtney and Plummer, Neenah "contaminated the reserve gates" and thus made picketing at two entrances legal.

Used Two Gates

It was claimed the drivers of the firm in addition to using the reserve gate set aside specifically for them, also drove vehicles with materials through the regular Leach Co. gate or entrance.

By not confining deliveries to the reserve gate, the union contended, it opened the way to picketing wherever the trucks entered to make deliveries. As a result, some non-striking employees refused to handle materials.

The latest NLRB action is another chapter in the six-month dispute which has resulted in countless charges and counter charges of unfair labor practices by both management and the union.

Still Pending

Decisions on earlier cases are still pending.

And there is no indication the striking Teamsters and members of Operating Engineers Local 136 are anywhere near close to engaging in talks with the association.

While both sides have said they are willing to negotiate, previous mediation sessions have proven fruitless and no further talks are scheduled.

In the meantime, association members are continuing to operate and unions are picketing jobsites and delivery points.

Nichols Man Guilty of Rape Attempt

No Contest Plea Entered in Assault On Young Mother

James L. Mory, 25, Nichols, Thursday afternoon pleaded no contest and was found guilty of the attempted rape of a young mother near her home Sept. 24.

Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer ordered Mory committed to the State Department of Health and Social Services for not more than 60 days for a social, mental and physical examination at the sex deviate center at Waupun. No date was set for further court proceedings.

Maximum sentence for attempted rape is 15 years, Schaefer told Mory.

Testimony introduced at a Sept. 28 hearing before Schaefer was accepted as evidence following the no contest plea.

Mory was taken into custody by Appleton police shortly after he attacked a 33-year-old woman near her northside home about 3 a.m. Sept. 24.

Mayor Questions Cost Placed on FVTI

Is $5 Million Total Price or Portion District Will Pay?

Will the proposed new area not bonded over a long-term vocational and technical training school cost $5 or $10 million?

Mayor George Buckley said today he has written the District 12 Vocational, Technical, and Adult Education Board for a clarification.

In a letter to William Sirek, District director, the mayor said he noted in a newspaper account earlier in the week that the new school, the Fox Valley Technical Institute, to be built in the Town of Grand Chute would cost approximately $5 million.

Received Calls

However, Buckley said he received a few telephone calls on the matter from "concerned taxpayers" who inquired if the cost estimate included funds to be allocated the major construction project.

Buckley asked Sirek to advise him if the $5 million figure being used by district officials is "inclusive or exclusive of all governmental monetary aids."

Buckley has been a watchdog on the budget and building procedures of the board and has engaged in scraps with that group in the past, threatening to put the building project to a bond issue referendum if it was 40 percent.

Hearing for Janet Holly Seek Termination of Parental Rights to Tot

A hearing will be held in Outagamie County Juvenile Court Feb. 17 on a petition requesting termination of parental rights to a newborn infant abandoned in a car in the county hospital parking lot Dec. 13.

The 9:30 a.m., closed hearing was ordered by Judge Raymond P. Dohr, of the Juvenile Court, after a petition was filed by the Outagamie County Department of Social Services.

The infant girl was placed in a "temporary foster home" by county welfare authorities after she was released from Appleton Memorial Hospital Dec. 23. She was returned to the hospital for a short time early this month

Blurred Picture Cleared

Mental Health Center Near Reality

BY FERN SMITH Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Outagamie County Hospital is close to qualifying as a comprehensive mental health center and giving a continuity of services to the mentally ill, alcoholic and mentally handicapped.

Members of the Outagamie County Mental Health Association had the blurred picture of mental health care cleared Thursday and learned that what is needed to provide the full range of services can be provided without further capital expenditure.

The federally funded community mental health center requires a continuity of services within a community. It must include in-patient care, out-patient care, partial hospitalization, consultation, diagnostic and screening services, rehabilitative services, pre-care, after-care and placement services, training and research and evaluation.

Direct Admissions

Outagamie County Hospital became a direct admissions hospital Jan. 9, Speener announced.

"This increases the choice of a prospective patient in our county when he seeks mental health care," he said. "It means that he can be admitted to the county hospital, can be treated right here in his own community, can return to work or begin working as treatment progresses."

Within 48 hours of his admission, a patient will see a psychiatrist and his treatment program will be structured, Speener said.

The direct effect of the new hospital status is the improvement of financial reimbursement from the state, according to Speener. "The first 31 days, admission will be reimbursed at the rate of 80 per cent and allow as many as five readmissions for Counsel adults and children ... Keane.

31-day periods at the diminishing rate of 5 per cent," he explained.

"It also means that a county patient admitted can be cared for here at the per capita cost of $247 per month compared with the $900 monthly rate at Winnebago State Hospital," he added.

Not Acutely Ill

"I want to stress that we will not be equipped to handle the acute mentally ill patient. He must be cared for in a private facility," Speener said.

This phase of mental illness is now handled in the 40-bed psychiatric unit at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Dr. Keane explained. "We cannot accept a committed patient," Keane said. "It is a standing joke in the community that the different agencies think in terms

Go-Go Dancer Too Young To Prosecute

Charges Against Flagstone Performer Are Dismissed

Two charges against a former dancer at a Town of Grand Chute tavern were dismissed Thursday after the court was told that she was only 17 years old at the time of the alleged offense.

Mrs. James Vanderloop, now 18, of 201 Cross St., Menasha, had been charged by Outagamie County authorities with disorderly conduct and with consuming intoxicating liquor in public while under the age of 21.

The charges were brought after a sheriff's department deputy witnessed an allegedly indecent performance at The Flagstone, 2820 W. Prospect Ave., the night of Oct. 17. She was employed as a go-go dancer at the Grand Chute tavern.

Demands Trial

Mrs. Vanderloop pleaded innocent and demanded a jury trial, which was to have been Thursday in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Although at the time she was arraigned in court last October she did not state an age, she told county jailers she was 20 when she was booked Oct. 18 after being taken into custody at her home on a warrant. She has been free on a $150 bond.

Thomas Cane, Outagamie County assistant district attorney, in asking dismissal of the charges Thursday, told the court that although his office thought Mrs. Vanderloop was 20 years old, it later was learned she was a juvenile on Oct. 17. The girl reportedly was born Nov. 23, 1950.

Could Not Be Tried

Schaefer ruled that since she was 17 at the time of the alleged offenses, she could not be tried in criminal court.

The district attorney's office said Thursday it had not yet been determined if an effort will be made to bring the case into Juvenile Court.

Jacques LaFave, 47, who owned The Flagstone Oct. 17, had been charged with furnishing intoxicating liquor to the young entertainer, but Richard Hamilton, former assistant district attorney, moved to dismiss the charge Jan. 2.

The Flagstone was closed by order of the town board on Dec. 13, after two deputies observed another young dancer perform in the nude.

Appleton Man Hurt In 2-Car Collision

Marshall B. Hulbert, 63, 70 S. Meadows Drive, suffered minor head cuts and knee bruises about 1:45 p.m. Thursday when his car and one driven by Charles H. Velte, 35, 835 Louise Road, Neenah, collided at E. College Avenue and N. Morrison Street.

Appleton police said Velte was eastbound on College Avenue and apparently went through a red light, striking the southbound Hulbert car, which went out of control and knocked off a traffic signal post.

Appleton Project for Aged Given HUD's Top Priority

The regional office of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) has given top priority to Appleton's application for a housing-for-the-elderly project it was learned today.

Eighth Dist. Rep. John Byrnes, R-Green Bay, was instrumental in getting HUD officials to expedite an economic survey of the Appleton area which had been scheduled to start in March.

In a letter to Mayor George Buckley, Byrnes said he had received word from the HUD Chicago office that work on Appleton's application "has been rescheduled."

"Prompt Action"

"I know that you will be pleased to note the prompt action being taken with regard to the market analysis," Byrnes informed Buckley.

Buckley said he was elated, and thought members of the Appleton Housing Authority and elderly in the community, who have been patiently awaiting a project, would be, too.

The analysis is being made by the agency to determine the need for a federally-funded project here.

In its 18-month-old application, the housing authority requested a 300-unit project but subsequently received informal word it might be initially scaled down to 200 units.

Estimated cost of a 200-unit high rise apartment complex for elderly on low, fixed, incomes was set at $3 million.

Asked About Delay

Last week Byrnes said he had written the Chicago HUD office to ask what was causing the delay in processing the city's application, approving it and sending it on to Washington where funding is authorized. Byrnes was told then of the impending market analysis, but HUD officials said they did not know the completion date.

Since then Byrnes received official word from HUD that the study was scheduled for March.

Expedite Processing

"Because of the urgency involved in this case, I urge that every effort be made to expedite processing of this application to include earlier scheduling of the economic marketing analysis if at all possible," Byrnes wrote to HUD official Francis D. Fisher.

Byrnes made his written request on Jan. 14. Three days later he received a reply from Fisher, enclosing a photocopy of the letter for Buckley.

Fischer replied that he was responding to the congressman's request on Appleton's application and declared, "Because of the urgency in this case, I have arranged for the rescheduling of the marketing analysis. This element of the review process will be completed within the next few days."

Appleton Civic Leader

W. E. Schubert, 71, Dies; Former Head Of Wisconsin Michigan

William E. Schubert, 71, a retired vice president and general manager of Wisconsin Michigan Power Co., Appleton, died at Tucson, Ariz., late Thursday afternoon following a short illness. Schubert, who retired in 1964, been ill for about three months with pneumonia and a lung infection.

Memorial services will be at 2:30 p.m. Saturday at a Tucson mortuary. His body will be cremated and remains returned to Appleton for a Masonic service.

Memorials have been established for him at Appleton Memorial Hospital, the First Congregational Church, Appleton, and Casas Adobes Congregational Church, Tucson.

He is survived by his widow, two daughters and three grandchildren.

Schubert, a Milwaukee native, moved to Tucson in 1965. Schubert came to Appleton in 1923 on special assignment to redesign the Appleton power plant and remained here until his retirement. He was a pioneer in developing and using pulverized coal as fuel in generating electricity and instituted the system in Appleton.

The process reduced the amount of coal needed per kilowatt-hour of electricity by two-thirds. It is widely used in the United States.

Leading Role

Schubert played a leading role in guiding the power company during a spectacular era of growth when its value jumped many millions of dollars. Electrical output was increased greatly during his career here.

He also received national recognition for his interest in Scouting, and was instrumental

Bill Would Ban School Board Secrecy

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — City school boards would be subject to the general provisions of the state's anti-secrecy law under a bill proposed by three Fox River Valley lawmakers.

The proposal would repeal the 28-year-old and only recently noticed provision which allows such boards to recess in no committee of the whole sessions and bar the public and press from their meetings.

The bill introduced by Assembly Speaker Harold V. Froehlich, R-Appleton, and Assemblyman David O. Martin, R-Neenah, and Erwin W. Conradt, R-Shiocton, marks a major step in an effort by The Post-Crescent to open some local board meetings to the public.

1939 Law

Other meetings of governmental boards have been compelled to be held under open conditions since the passage of the state's anti-secrecy law in 1939.

The anti-secrecy law provides generally that public bodies may not bar the public and press from their sessions except for consideration of personnel, legal and real estate proposals.

Even those exemptions are strictly governed. The state law is considered one of the most sweeping yet workable freedom of information statutes in the nation.

The section of laws governing closed meetings of local school boards was apparently overlooked in writing the open meeting laws a decade ago, and has been discovered and repeatedly challenged by The Post-Crescent.

Froehlich termed the bill "one of local interest but of statewide importance."

Under the terms of the proposal, the anti-secrecy law could be waived and the public and press invited into a meeting dealing with a personnel item if the employee in question requests an open session.

Attorneys Vie Over Issue of Shared Time

Two Interpretations Given State Rulings In Neenah-Menasha

NEENAH-MENASHA — The question of shared time, which still is before the board of education, is apparently the result of differences in the interpretation of state rulings.

Neither the Wisconsin Supreme Court nor the State Attorney General have ruled on the constitutionality of parochial students attending certain courses at public schools.

Neenah and Menasha school boards recently were asked by St. Mary High School if some parochial students could take courses at Neenah and Menasha High schools.

The school boards went to their attorneys for legal opinions and in both cases the attorneys said shared time "is constitutionally doubtful."

St. Mary High School turned to its attorney who stated that, based on Supreme Court cases and the opinion of the attorney general, "There is no constitutional bar in Wisconsin to work out an arrangement of a shared time program."

The Neenah Board of Education abided by its attorney's ruling and voted against the shared time proposal, while the Menasha school board decided to investigate the possibility further.

All three attorneys cited identical Supreme Court cases to back up their opinions on the constitutionality.

In 1962 state Reynolds vs. Nussbaum case, Neenah City Attorney Charles Schaller quoted the Wisconsin Supreme Court as saying, "Wisconsin has probably furnished a more complete bar to any preference for, or discrimination against, any religious sect, organization, or society than any other."

Menasha City Attorney Richard Steffens also referred to the same quote, while St. Mary's counsel, Ray Fink, cited another ruling from the same case.

"Let's assume, but not decide that permitting children, who satisfy the age and residence requirements, to secure part of their education in the public schools, even though at the same time they may be in attendance at parochial schools, does not violate the Wisconsin Constitution," Fink quoted the Supreme Court.

Steffens further went to a July, 1967, opinion from then Attorney General LaFollette, who claimed that public funds could not be paid to an instructor teaching in a parochial school.

Steffens felt it wouldn't make any difference whether the parochial student came to the public school or whether the parochial school for classes.

Fink claimed that the attorney general in July of 1967 reaffirmed an earlier opinion that the State Department of Public Instruction could participate in a federal program to promote shared time programs "so long as such instruction is carried on in a public school under the supervision and control of the public school authorities."

All three attorneys stated they knew the Wisconsin Supreme Court has never ruled on the constitutionality of shared time.

Steffens pointed out that allowing parochial school students to ride school buses required a constitutional amendment. This was not considered an educational objective, but merely instrumental to bring the pupils to school, he said.

"I can only hold that the sending of the students to the schools themselves and participating in said matters of public instruction, is of doubtful constitutional validity," he said.

If the school district did not participate in shared time and if a taxpayers suit stopped the program after it had begun, "the parochial schools would be in the embarrassing position of not getting qualified teachers in time to complete the course," Steffens said.

Pat Muskavitch, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Muskavitch, Shiocton, will now join the ranks of newspaper carriers. In 1960 the youth was burned over 90 per cent of his body, however, he now is able to operate the three-wheel bike which was presented to him by the Outagamie County 40 et 8. The young recipient is shown receiving the bike from Raymond Winius, Chief de Gare, during the presentation in Little Chute Wednesday evening.

40 et 8 Helps Youth Peddle His Papers

SHIOCTON — A 14-year-old Shiocton youth, Pat Muskavitch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Muskavitch, who suffered burns over 90 per cent of his body in 1960, will join the ranks of newspaper carriers thanks to efforts of the Outagamie County 40 et 8.

The boy was playing with matches and gasoline in an abandoned brooder house on Aug. 31, 1960 when gasoline spilled onto his clothing and burst into flames inflicting second and third degree burns. He was confined to the hospital for more than a year.

A blood transfusion from a youth who also had received severe body burns is believed to have helped him survive. Still unable to ride a normal bicycle, a special three-wheel unit was manufactured for the youth to enable him to peddle his papers. The machine, costing almost $150, was purchased by the county 40 et 8 and presented to him at a dinner at Little Chute, Wednesday.

Gen. Abrams' Son Has Own Command in War

FIREBASE, BLACKHAWK, Vietnam (AP) — 1st Lt. John N. Abrams, 22-year-old son of Creighton W. Abrams, Jr., American commander in South Vietnam, has taken over a command of his own in the rugged central highlands.

He is commanding officer of Troop C, 2nd Squadron, 1st Cavalry, 4th Infantry Division, after serving 18 months as a platoon leader and executive officer.

Officers and men at this base 20 miles east of Pleiku describe the slightly built Abrams as a tough, aggressive military man.

"He is a damn good officer," said Lt. Col. Richard A. Miller, 38, Lindsey, Ohio, the 1st Cavalry commander. "He knows this area like the back of his hand."

On a recent operation, Abrams watched from his helicopter as his troop carried out a search and cordon move. He spotted one Viet Cong running from a village with a weapon.

"Fire a few warning shots," Abrams said to his gunners, adding, "The idea is to capture him."

The Viet Cong vanished into the brush and Abrams ordered his chopper to land. With a handful of men, he took off in pursuit. The man couldn't be found, and the young officer shook his head in disappointment.

"That's one of the most difficult things about this war," he said. "You are never sure who's who."

Going back to his helicopter, Abrams passed one of his medals treating a wounded Viet Cong.

"Keep trying to save him doc," he said.

An older brother, Capt. Creighton W. Abrams 3rd, was here as a battery commander and now is stationed at Ft. Sill, Okla.

A third Abrams son, 8, is in school in the States.

Wandering, Mysterious Gem Is Sold

NEW YORK (AP) — The perfect pear-shaped pearl—aptly titled La Peregrina (the wanderer)—was sold at public auction Thursday, but the gem still remains a mystery wrapped in an expensive enigma.

The auctioneer at Parke-Bernet Galleries knocked it down for $37,000. But who sold it? And to whom? And is it THE perfect bauble found in the Gulf of Panama by an African slave more than 400 years ago and since worn by kings and queens?

Or is it locked in the safe deposit box of Queen Victoria-Eugenia of Spain, now living in Switzerland? The Duke of Alba, chamberlain to the queen, said Wednesday she has the real jewel and has no intention of selling it.

Peregrine Pollen, Parke-Bernet's president, said simply that he has "confirmed the authenticity of this jewel (the pearl auctioned) to our complete satisfaction."

As to the new owner, a gallery spokesman said, "It's a complete mystery. It was an ordered bid. It was placed before the sale. La Peregrina is lost once more. Maybe she will turn up in history."

Supreme Court to Hear Annex Cases in Spring

MENASHA — The state supreme court's hearing of arguments in the Town of Menasha challenge of the city's Banta and Schwarzbauer annexations could be scheduled for April or May, according to the court clerk's office.

According to Clerk Franklin Clark, the town has until Feb. 26 to file its brief explaining its appeal of the ruling issued last year by Circuit Judge Andrew W. Parnell, Appleton, upholding the annexations.

The town filed a transcript of the tandem trial before Judge Parnell with the supreme court a week ago today. Under court rules, the brief outlining arguments must follow within 40 days, Clark explained.

He said if the town's brief was filed early in the 40-day period, it might be possible to schedule arguments before the supreme court in April. But, "May is more likely," Clark said.

Meanwhile, Menasha City Attorney Richard Steffens, who is defending the annexations for the city, was skeptical.

"You're always at the mercy of the plaintiff in any kind of lawsuit," he said. It is up to the town, through its attorney, George St. Peter, Fond du Lac, to move the case along, Steffens said.

"In the last four years, they haven't been moving very fast," Steffens added.

The 186-acre Schwarzbauer Annexation was passed by the common council late in 1965 and the Banta Annexation came in mid-1967. Yet, it was the end of April, 1968, before the town brought its challenge before Judge Parnell.

Steffens Skeptical Steffens demonstrated his skepticism that the case will be

Painless Laser Ray Beam Could Stop Tooth Decay

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A painless ray from a laser beam may soon prevent tooth decay, a researcher says.

Dr. Fred M. Johnson of Electro-Optical Systems, a division of Xerox in Pasadena, Calif., said Thursday night such an instrument may be ready for dentists offices by 1971.

The technique, called laser glazing, relies on the pinpoint accuracy and near instantaneous heat of the narrow and intense laser light beam. When a special sodium chemical solution is applied to the teeth, the laser beam permanently fuses or seals the tooth's enamel outer covering, Johnson said.

The hardening of the enamel prevents food chemicals from entering and decaying the teeth, Johnson told the American Nuclear Society Branch in Las Vegas.

judge is expected to begin on July 1.

If all went according to the normal schedule cited by the supreme court clerk, the ruling in the case could be expected by then if arguments were heard in April and the court took the usual 60 days to hand down its findings.

An attempt to reach St. Peter this morning for comment was unsuccessful.

Ends 37-Year Career

Iveaux Andersen Retires at Savings and Loan

NEENAH-MENASHA — Iveaux Andersen, chief executive officer of the Twin City Savings and Loan, will end a 37-year career next week, but will remain on as the Association's board chairman.

Andersen, who started with the firm in 1932, announced his retirement which will be effective Feb. 1, Wednesday at the Association's annual meeting.

Elected to succeed Andersen was Herbert R. Pagel, who has been with the firm for 23 years and has served as the Association's secretary and chief appraiser and head of the mortgage loan department for the past four years. He has been a director since 1956.

Since Andersen's affiliation with the institution the assets have grown from $184,000 in 1932 to $34,550,000, the reported assets on Dec. 31, 1968.

During the past year, the assets grew about 6.6 per cent from $32,396,000. Savings balances grew from $28.8 million to $30.2 million.

Dividends for the past year totaled $1,381,378 which were a 10.2 per cent increase from 1967, while reserves were increased by $135,000 bringing the total to $2,732,395.

Mortgage loans increased by more than $5 million, bringing the total to almost $29.5 million.

In his annual report, Andersen predicted more competition for the savings dollar. "Many families spent more and saved less. Automobiles, homes, color television sets, and hard goods of all kinds experienced soaring sales. No doubt some families were apprehensive that many items would cost more next year. For this reason, some money that normally would have been put away in the savings account found its way into the market place."

"Savings are recovering at a slow, steady pace," he continued, "and for this reason we expect to accelerate during the first half of 1969."

Other officers elected were D. W. Bergstrom, chairman of the executive committee; Leo M. Pfister, executive vice president; Iveaux W. Andersen, Jr., secretary; William H. Foth, treasurer-controller; Audrey K. Boettcher, assistant secretary; Evelyn Garfield, assistant treasurer.

Directors re-elected were C. R. Geisler, D. W. Bergstrom and R. P. Galloway.

Leo M. Pfister was elected to fill a new director post on the board of directors. Other directors of the Association are, J. D. Schmelein, W. A. Remick, D. S. Koskinen and R. W. Hatemeister.

Soaring Cost, Demand Face All Phases of Transportation

Transportation demands and rising costs in the next decade are the most important things facing all phases of transportation in Wisconsin.

That was the summation of the 56th Mid-Winter Highway Conference Thursday by William E. Redmond, chairman of the State Division of Highways, at the conclusion of the three-day session.

The address of G. H. Bakke, secretary of the Wisconsin Department of Transportation, was singled out by Redmond as the highlight of the conference.

Bakke said that transportation demands will double in Wisconsin in the next 10 years and that 30 per cent of the demand will be on highways. He stressed the importance of planning to meet these needs.

Another major item at the conference was a mass discussion on highway personnel labor disputes. A committee was named which will meet soon in Madison to study the over-all picture.

"Another major item," Redmond said, "was the word from Gov. Warren P. Knowles and Lt. Gov. Jack Olson that they are behind efforts to get bonding for bridges at this session of the Legislature. Our department has met with the chief executive and we are putting all our eggs in one basket at this session and that is for the bonding for bridges."

Hospital Near Mental Health Center Status

The guidance center screens and counsels both adults and children, Keane said. The present caseload is 194.

De La Hunt urged that all services be tied together and said he thought it could be done without building a complex of services at the county hospital site which could be a great expense to the taxpayer. "Let's sit down together and talk all of this through," he urged.

Community Involvement
So the hospital will fully qualify as a comprehensive mental health center, panelists recommended further community involvement in the total program, a full-time psychologist and more room at the guidance center, involvement of doctors in the total program, a residence type facility and half-way house, an information and referral center for alcoholics and a better program for the mentally handicapped.

Sylvester Esler, chairman of the Outagamie County Board, told the group that the blue ribbon report given one year ago by a nine-member committee, was now reactivated. "You can expect to hear from us within two weeks," he said.

That report recommended that all mental health services be consolidated at the county hospital — a plan which met with violent disapproval in some community sectors.

In a short business meeting, John Wylie was elected president of the association; Mrs. Gordon McIntyre, vice president; Ray Kluever, secretary, and Mrs. John E. Mielke, treasurer.

Six new board members were chosen by the association; the Rev. the conference that the state can be sued for negligence is now up to the Legislature.

Robert Mortensen, executive secretary of the Wisconsin County Boards Association, Thursday told the conference that the Tarr Task Force recommendations on taxes probably will not have a measurable impact on real estate tax rates.

There might be a revision in methods of tax collection, however, he said, with the burden of collection falling on counties rather than on the 1,800 municipalities now doing the job.

Vernon McMillen, Marquette County, was elected president of the Wisconsin County Highway Commission Association, with Earl Skagen, Racine, vice president; John Kolarski, Oneida, secretary; and C.A. Schmickla, Madison, treasurer.

in Wisconsin Michigan selling the 1,400-acre Gardner Dam campsite to the Valley Council of Boy Scouts in 1943 for a nominal sum. The camp was designed and put into operation under his direction.

He also helped arrange for the company to lease 200 acres of land for a nominal fee to the Chalk Hill Girl Scout Camp, located on company floodage property near the Wisconsin-Michigan border.

Schubert began his career in 1923 with the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power Co., which four years later merged with Wisconsin Michigan. He was a mechanical engineer, chief engineer, assistant general manager and general manager before being named vice president and general manager in 1939. A year later, he was appointed to the board of directors.

He was a registered professional engineer in Wisconsin and Michigan, and belonged to several engineering societies. He also was registered with the National Council of the State Board of Examiners.

Technical Articles
Through the years, he contributed numerous technical articles and scientific papers to engineering journals. He received his undergraduate and later his professional degree in mechanical engineering from the University of Wisconsin. The university cited him in 1953 for eminent professional services as an engineer and practical conservationist.

Schubert had organized the company's tree planting program, resulting in over 500,000 new trees in the company's watersheds. His interest in renewable natural resources led to extensive natural resources research, which was published in book form.

Because most of the company's hydro-electric plants are located on the Menominee River system, Schubert became a recognized authority on the river and authored an article for the State Historical Society, of which he was a life-long member. He was its president at one time.

He was a 33 Degree Mason and served as Grand Master of Waverly Lodge No. 51 of Appleton in 1934. He also was Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Wisconsin in 1946-47.

His long list of civic activities included president and director of the Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce, the Appleton Kiwanis Clubs, and director of the YMCA, Valley Council Boy Scouts and other organizations. He helped organize the Appleton Community Fund in 1947.

Eight special classes in business administration will begin next week at the Fox Valley Campus, UWGB.

Sponsored by University Extension and the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay, these classes are offered to assist companies in the Fox Valley area to train their employees in certain specialized fields.

Although the classes are non-credit, they are patterned after the same courses given at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. Course outlines and texts similar to those in Madison are used also.

The special classes are:
—Management philosophy, aimed at narrowing the gap between knowledge and performance in management practices, begins Monday, Jan. 27. Al Collins, manager of manpower planning development at Kimberly-Clark Corporation will be the instructor.

—Managerial accounting begins also Jan. 27. It is designed for the accountant having charge of the general ledger and will explain how accounting data can be interpreted and used by management in planning and controlling business activities. Max Hensel, professor of accounting at the school, will be the instructor.

—Beginning accounting class will begin Jan. 28. It is offered for students who plan to continue with additional courses in the field and to the self-taught bookkeeper who desires a Road. Further details and enrollment procedure is available at the Fox Valley Campus.

by Edward Mulloy, C.P.A., senior systems analyst at Kimberly-Clark.

—Time and motion study will be taught by Willard L. Kern, president of Management Science, Inc. of Appleton. This class will meet for the first time on Jan. 28.

—Corporation finance, to acquaint the student with external and internal aspects of corporation financing methods, will be taught by Raymond C. Young, assistant to the treasurer at Kimberly-Clark.

—Wage and salary administration begins the same evening with Paul M. Greene, consulting psychologist of Gorrell, Greene and Associates of Milwaukee and Appleton, as instructor.

—Cost accounting, Unit II begins Jan. 30. The course will show how good accounting information and analysis can further help management in the decision making process. Hensel will be the instructor.

—Marketing, the challenge of American business, begins on Jan. 30. It is designed to be a course broad enough to permit the student to develop his knowledge in the several areas of marketing and flexible enough to focus on special interest areas. Gilbert Dementis, director of marketing research of Kimberly-Clark, is the instructor.

All courses meet from 7 to 10 p.m. for 16 weeks at the Fox Valley Campus on Midway Road. Further details and enrollment procedure is available at the Fox Valley Campus.

Little Chute Sailor Relates Part in Enterprise Tragedy

Special to The Post-Crescent

PEARL HARBOR, HAWAII — Petty Officer Second Class Fritz Arts, 23, of Little Chute, was sitting in the cockpit of an A7 Corsair jet on the deck of the USS Enterprise Jan. 14, watching the routine activity of an aircraft carrier around him.

"About ten minutes before the 8:30 a.m. launch there was an explosion and then a fire in an F4 Phantom jet about 35 feet from where I was sitting," Arts said.

"It didn't take me very long to get out of that plane," he continued. "I started to move a tractor away from the burning plane, but I saw two sailors lying on deck on fire." After getting some help, he smothered the flames on the men and carried them to sick bay. "They were pretty badly burned, but I think they will be okay," Arts added.

"I went back up on the flight deck and saw the fire was really fierce. There were a lot of fire hoses so I went from one to the other helping where I could."

Fire control parties had the blaze under control in 30 minutes and all fires extinguished in three hours.

The world's largest warship then steamed into Pearl Harbor to start patching up her wounds.

THANK YOU

To all the residents of Appleton who took the time to help clear snow away from fire hydrants. We asked for your help in this emergency and your response was most helpful. You deserve the gratitude of your neighbors as well as that of this department.

At Reid Clubhouse Youth Center Plan Gains Momentum

There is growing sentiment among some residents on Appleton's south side to have the city use the Reid Municipal Golf Course clubhouse as a youth center during the winter season.

The proposition was put to the park-recreation commission earlier in the week and Recreation Director Lloyd Koehnke has begun a study which will be completed with recommendations within 60 days.

The Rev. Robert Rank of Sacred Heart Catholic Church has asked the commission to okay and underwrite a youth program at the clubhouse, suggesting it be opened to the city's teens on Friday and Saturday nights.

"We feel there is a need for a place for high school youths to gather on winter nights," Father Rank said. He envisioned teen-agers engaging in recreational activities, along with providing their own informal musical entertainment, featuring talented teens in the community.

Supervision Cost
Father Rank said he didn't think the park-recreation commission would have to make an appropriation for the youth center but should underwrite the cost of supervision.

"It would have no connection with our parish," Father Rank said. "It would be strictly a citywide thing." Koehnke recalled about five years ago the city used Reid Clubhouse as a youth center but the novelty wore off and when interest declined the program was dropped.

At that time the youth center at Reid was open Monday through Friday nights from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

When commission members appeared hesitant on reacting to the request, William Heerman told his colleagues, "We have been groping for something to do for high schoolers and I think this represents a good idea."

Consider Next Winter
Heerman acknowledged the commission had no funds in the 1969 budget for a supervised program but moved that consideration be given to opening the Reid Clubhouse to teen-agers next winter.

It was reported the clubhouse is heated during the winter and used by some adult groups for meetings.

Ald. George Schwarzbauer (10th) recently submitted a resolution to the city council asking that use of the Reid Golf Course clubhouse as a youth center be considered.

On another note, officials of the Fox Cities Foxes Baseball Club told the commission renovation of Goodland Field cost more than expected and requested the city pay about $5,800 of the $21,000 overrun caused mostly by major plumbing repairs.

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Former vice president Hubert H. Humphrey will speak at a testimonial dinner in Milwaukee Feb. 11 for Walter J. Burke, national secretary-treasurer of the United Steel Workers.

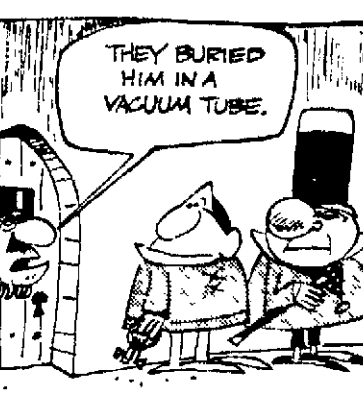

Burke, a former Milwaukeean, is completing his first four-year term and is expected to be re-elected Feb. 11. His headquarters are in Pittsburgh.

The dinner is sponsored by political, civic, business and labor leaders.

Answer
Jack is $27\frac{1}{2}$ and Jill is $16\frac{1}{2}$ years old. This little problem is probably easiest solved if you trace it backward, for when Jill was $5\frac{1}{2}$ years old, Jack was $16\frac{1}{2}$. When Jill is 3 times that age she will be $49\frac{1}{2}$ years old. Half of this is $24\frac{1}{2}$, and when Jack was that age Jill was $13\frac{1}{2}$. Accordingly, Jack's age is twice this, or $27\frac{1}{2}$.

Tom Hibbard Slams 742 National Series

Tom Hibbard put in a little extra practice after his ball wasn't working to his satisfaction Wednesday night and the effort paid off as he came through with a booming national honor count of 742 in the 41 Bowl Classic League Thursday night.

Hibbard, manager at the 41 Bowl, opened with a 277 game and followed with counts of 242 and 223.

It was Hibbard's second national honor count of the season. He had a 715 in the Traveling Classic League two weeks ago. It was the seventh men's national set recorded in the Fox Cities area.

Top team scores included a 1,072 scratch game by the Out-Town Club and a 3,090 series by the 41 Bowl squad.

Davis Slams 658

Bernie Davis was runnerup with a 227 game and 658 series while Roger Koehn blasted a 651 set which also included a 227

Leigh Ford, winner of the consolation bracket, won the second-place playoff with a 31-17 win over Heckrodt.

Appleton, Menasha, Neenah, Oshkosh and Green Bay players participated.

A mixed doubled handicap tournament is scheduled for Jan. 31. A buffet will be part of the evening's program.

Hardt defeated Frank Heckrodt, 31-23, in the finals. Hardt had reached the finals with a 31-25 decision over Dr. Jack Anderson. Heckrodt beat Jack Lenahan, 31-29, in the semi-finals.

JIM MURRAY Globetrotters Help Topple Prejudice

When Abe Saperstein died a few years ago, there was a brief, almost laconic obituary released over the wires. Abe wouldn't have had it any other way.

It was not that Abe was immodest, although nobody ever caught him making any anonymous donations to anything respectable. It was just that Abe would gnash his teeth at any loss of opportunity to publicize his own unique public monument — The Harlem Globetrotters.

The Harlem Globetrotters are, to put it simply, the most extraordinary athletic team in the history of games. The 1927 Yankees, the 1930 Notre Dame eleven, the Australian Davis Cup squads — no group, no dynasty approaches the Globes either in durability, skill or drawing power. Part minstrel and part sport, part of their fascination is that no one ever figured out how good they are.

They have been in more fixed matches than a mob fighter. They go around the country, no, the world, with their own sparmates, but their charm is, underneath that veneer of buffoonery exists some of the world's greatest athletic talent.

Wilt Chamberlain came out of the Globes to swallow basketball. Bob Gibson came out to surround baseball. The Harlem Globetrotters squelched riots in Germany, revolutions in South America. They shot baskets with Castro, joked with kings. They have had audiences with three Popes. Their trademark is the smile.

They are a throwback to the days when we had such offenses to the American conscience as "Negro leagues" and "barnstorming troupes," when our greatest performers graced our shabbiest stages.

Abe Saperstein founded this gaudy group when he found them on the playgrounds of Chicago in 1927, school dropouts who put down their shoeshine boxes to perform feats with basketballs that the magicians do with handkerchiefs.

Abe reveled in the title, "The Jewish Abraham Lincoln," and, while no one ever got the best of him in a contract fight, he once packed his team off to London at his own expense to raise $400,000 for Prince Philip's favorite charity. The Globetrotters have helped heal the sick, mend the maimed, straighten the misshapen — moral and physical — of nearly every country on earth. They were a bigger attraction in Moscow than those roller-skating bears, or the biers of despots.

They were as powerful as the Constitution. Using them as a base, Abe (and Bill Veeck) came within one swipe of a pen in 1941 of buying the Philadelphia Phillies and fielding an all-Negro lineup. Baseball took five more years to integrate, and then only a drop at a time, but it was Saperstein who showed up in the Cleveland dugout with Satchel Paige one historic night when integration was achieved.

Twenty years ago, you could have bought the team by paying off the mortgage on the bus. The Globes wore out a bus every six months. And you could have won 11 or 12 NBA championships in a row. Today, thanks in part to the Globes, black youngsters take in more money in basketball than the entire cash crop their grandfathers picked in their lifetimes.

The Globetrotters no longer could sweep the court with an all-star NBA team, perhaps not even with a second division club. But neither can Bill Russell drop-kick a basket.

The Globes take on a team of movie stars (Don Adams, Jim Brown, Bill Cosby, Jack Lemmon) for the benefit of brain-damaged children of the Dubnoff School and the Teach Foundation Saturday night at the Forum. They will get laughs for kids who have forgotten even how to smile. And if you haven't seen Meadowlark Lemon play basketball, why, turn in your

Dey Becomes Commissioner For PGA Tour

Quits Long-Time Post With USGA, Gets 5-Year Term

NEW YORK (AP) — Joseph C. Dey Jr., the most influential golf figure in the United States, is leaving his long-time job as executive director of the U.S. Golf Association to become commissioner of the rich pro tour.

The exact date of Dey's switch has not been determined, but may be announced when the USGA holds its annual meeting here this weekend.

In announcing Dey's appointment Wednesday, J. Paul Austin of Atlanta, chairman of the newly constituted Tournament Policy Board, said Dey would have complete control of everything pertaining to the pro tour.

However, actual conduct of the tour will continue under the direction of the field staff, headed by Jack Tunihill.

Five-Year Term

The 60-year-old Dey agreed to terms for five years. He will have offices here and at PGA headquarters in Palm Beach Gardens, Fla. He has been executive director of the USGA since 1934.

Dey was a unanimous selection by the Tournament Policy Board, which came into being last month following an agreement between the rebellious tournament players and the PGA.

In his USGA post, Dey headed the organization which lays down the code of playing rules in the U.S. for the pro as well as the weekend hacker.

He is internationally known in the golf world and has worked closely with the Royal & Ancient Club of St. Andrews, Scotland, in coordinating the rules of golf which prevail throughout the world. In addition, he has been secretary of the World Amateur Golf Council.

Musial, Campanella Happy Over Selection

NEW YORK (AP) — Stan Musial got 218, 37 less than were required.

Stan the Man, 48, who retired in 1963 and now is a Cardinal vice president. "I was just concerned about being voted in. A majority is enough."

"I'm certainly pleased. And I'm happy to be able to go in with Roy because down through the years he was a great opponent."

"This completes my baseball career, and there's nothing more I can ask for in life," said Stan the Man, 48, who owns a liquor store and remains active in baseball as an instructor at clinics in the New York area.

He also paid tribute to his co-entrant into the Hall. "Musial, said Campanella, 'was not only one of the most outstanding hitters, but one of the top gentleman in the National League.'"

Musial set 64 individual records that still stand, including NL career marks for hits, 3,630 and runs batted in, 1,951. He compiled a lifetime batting average of .331, with a 1948 high of .376, and led the league's hitters seven times. He hit 475 home runs.

Campanella, paralyzed from the waist down since his mishap 11 years ago this month, made the Cooperstown, N. Y., shrine after having fallen eight votes short of the necessary 75 percent a year ago.

This time, he was named on 270 ballots and became the second Negro among the 95 players in the Hall. The first was Jackie Robinson. Campy's Dodger teammate.

3 Clubs in Trouble Milwaukee No. 1 Site For AL Team Claims Twins' Cal Griffith

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Washington Senators and two other American League baseball franchises are in trouble. Calvin Griffith, who moved his team from Washington to Minnesota and renamed it the Twins in 1961, said Wednesday.

He said Milwaukee would be a No. 1 site for one of the clubs.

The teams are financially ailing and they should be moved "so we can have a more stable league," Griffith said in a telephone interview with the Milwaukee Sentinel.

He refused to identify the other two teams.

But rumors around the league have the Chicago White Sox and Cleveland Indians in the situation Griffith described.

Indians President Gabe Paul told a Milwaukee audience this month he is opposed to any franchise moves.

Has Authority

At the Milwaukee baseball writers' dinner, Paul said the commissioner has the authority to block any franchise moves that are detrimental to baseball.

"I don't agree with Paul," Griffith said from his Bloomington, Minn., home. "The commissioner doesn't have that kind of authority."

"They say that Washington is the national capital and that a club must remain there. What does that mean? I say that if a club owner is doing the best he can to make a go of it and is still losing money, he doesn't owe that city any obligation and should be allowed to move," Griffith said.

Lose Big Money

"Why should a club continue to lose big money to the point where it can no longer afford to operate at its present location?" he said.

Turning to Milwaukee as a spot where a team could settle down, Griffith said it showed tremendous support for baseball.

"Look at what the fans here have proved," he said. "It wasn't the fault of the fans when the move of the Milwaukee Braves was made to Atlanta. The trouble lay with the other people—the way they handled the situation."

Last season, the Chicago White Sox averaged 29,000 fans for nine regular season games and an exhibition test in Milwaukee—despite unfavorable weather. Fourteen games are on the slate for this year.

Flyers Also Play
2 to 2 Standoff
With Black Hawks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The National Hockey League's All-Star Game was played three days ago but the stars haven't stopped shoveling.

Detroit's Frank Mahovlich, who scored two goals in the mid-season classic, came right back with a pair Thursday night as the Red Wings battled Boston to a 2-2 tie.

Bernie Parent of Philadelphia, the only goalie to play a full period of shutout hockey in the All-Star Game, kicked out 36 shots and led Philadelphia to a 2-2 standoff with Chicago.

Claude Larose, who scored the West Division's tying goal in the final three minutes of the All-Star Game, tallied Minnesota's first in a 3-1 victory over Pittsburgh.

In other Thursday night action, New York dropped Los Angeles 3-1, Oakland stunned Montreal 5-3 and Toronto shaded St. Louis 3-2.

Mahovlich's 28th and 29th goals of the season balanced a pair by Ken Hodge of the Bruins and gave Detroit the standoff which extended hot streaks for both clubs.

The Bruins, unbeaten in 12 games, zoomed into a five-point lead over Montreal in the East Division. Detroit, which has lost only one of the last 10, is locked in a three-way tie for fourth place with New York and Chicago.

Parent was brilliant against the Black Hawks as Philadelphia battled Chicago to a tie. The Flyers goals by Dick Sarrazin and Guy Gendron came 16 seconds apart in the second period with Gilles Marotte serving five-minute major penalty.

The Hawks were two men short for the first one with Bobby Hull also in the box. Doug Mohns and Howie Young scored for Chicago.

Larose's long slap shot of Pittsburgh in front of Pittsburgh and Minnesota, playing its first game under returning Coach Wren Blair, ended a 14-game winless streak at the expense of the Penguins.

After the game, the teams swapped defensemen with Duane Rupp going to Pittsburgh and Leo Bolvin to Minnesota.

The Rangers were also successful with a returning coach as Emile Francis stepped in for ailing Bernie Geoffrion. Rod Gilbert scored a pair of goals and Vic Hadfield assisted on all three New York tallies in the victory over the Kings.

Montreal jumped off to a 2-0 lead against Oakland but the Seals battled back to tie the score at 3-3 and then beat the Canadiens on late goals by Bob Dillabough and Gerry Ehman.

Dillabough stole a pass from Henri Richard with just over five minutes remaining and broke in alone to beat goalie Rogation Vachon. Then Ehman hit an empty net for the wrapup goal.

Ron Ellis had a pair of goals leading Toronto past St. Louis and ending five-game unbeaten streak for the West Division-leading Blues.

Defensive Mark

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The best set of defensive statistics in the Wisconsin State University Conference basketball ratings dominates the week-end effort by Stevens Point to preserve its edge in the WSUC standings.

The Pointers, allowing opponents an average of only 63.3 points a game, host Eau Claire, whose 63.7 defensive average is second only to Stevens Point's.

The Blugolds, in third place in the standings with a 4-2 record, can expect the same difficulty which other WSUC teams have encountered against Stevens Point: how to distribute a defense.

The Pointers, now 6-0, have no player among the loop's top 10 scorers. But they have four men among the next 15.

Averaging 14.5 The balanced scoring pace is being geared by Tom Ritzenthaler with 14.5 points per game. brother Ken with a 10.2 point average. Mike Hughes with 12.7 and Quinn Vanden Heuvel with 11.7.

Tom Ritzenthaler is averaging a 61 per cent success in shots from the field. His brother set a WSUC record last season of 53.8 per cent.

Another reason for the Pointers' success is Hughes' behavior under the boards. He is averaging 13.3 rebounds a game, second best in the conference.

The loop's top rebounder is Mel Coleman of Stout State with a 16.4 average.

Stout, in second place with a 6-1 mark, plays Saturday at River Falls State (4-3) while Stevens Point hosts the Blugolds.

Platteville (4-3) faces defending titlist Oshkosh (1-6) and Whitewater (1-6) is at La Crosse (2-4). The ninth member, Superior, is 2-5.

U. S. Skating Meet Slated In Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee will host the United States Olympic Style speed skating championships Saturday and Sunday.

The U.S. International Skating Association announced the Milwaukee site Thursday after warm weather forced the meet to be moved from Flint, Mich.

About 90 skaters are expected to enter the competition, which will lead to the two-man U.S. team that will compete in the world championships Feb. 15 and 16 at DeVenter, The Netherlands.

Among the entries are Neil Blatchford, holder of the U.S. record for 500 meters, and six other members of the 1968 U.S. Olympic team.

Crosby Test Postponed

96 Final Scores
Wiped Out; Casper,
2 Others Hit 70

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Suppose for a moment that you are a 26-year-old professional golfer who has never finished a tournament higher than a tie for 20th place. Last year, you earned a grand total of $3,537.53.

You are now in the first round of one of the richest tournaments on the tour and you finish with a 70, two strokes under par and in a three-way tie for the lead with Billy Casper, who last year made more than $200,000 and rookie pro Mac McLendon.

But just after you finish your 18 holes at the Pebble Beach course, the first round is canceled because of heavy rains. Everybody's score is wiped out and you have to start all over.

Are you angry? Do you curse the weather that played such a dirty trick on you? Not if you're Harry Toscano because you figure you had it coming.

It all happened to Toscano in what was to be the opening round of the $150,000 Bing Crosby Golf Tournament Thursday. No fewer than 96 pros had finished their rounds and 72 were on the course, most of them almost through, when the Professional Golfers Association canceled the round. The tournament will now run through Monday at least.

Two years ago, it rained at another Crosby and Toscano was standing at the 18th tee. It had taken him 102 strokes to get that far and he promptly hit his tee shot out of bounds.

"It would have taken at least 110 strokes," Toscano remembers. "I won't forget it if I live to be 150. It was raining so hard I was almost blind."

But that round, too, was wiped out and Toscano figures that maybe this was evening up the score. But he said he was playing pretty well Thursday, especially on the key holes, and should be able to do it again.

What are the chances the tournament will be finished Monday? Not certain. Rain is supposed to diminish today but more is forecast for Saturday. ABC now plans to televise the final three rounds.

SHEBOYGAN — Appleton East's wrestling team dropped five of the last six matches on the program and wound up on the short end of a 22-21 score in a dual meet with Sheboygan North Thursday night.

The Fox River Valley Conference duel saw two Patriot grapplers register pins compared to one for the Golden Raiders. East's Mike Breitman, 103-pounder, and heavyweight Larry Turkow put their opponents' shoulders to the mat, while 154-pound Tim Schroeder turned the same trick for North.

The results:
95 — Dave Van Handel (SN) beat Mark Kindschi, 2-0.
103 — Greg Grummer (AE) beat Vander Weele, 14-5.
112 — Mike Breitman (AE) pinned Mark Munson, 1:30.
120 — Dan Huelbeck (AE) and Paul Potter drew, 4-4.
127 — Rick Schmidt (AE) beat Larry Heinz, 7-3.
133 — Mark Grummer (AE) beat Rick Fessler, 9-3.
138 — Chuck Katte (SN) beat Dennis Vande Borgt, 6-2.
145 — Bill Gill (SN) beat Steve Buelow, 12-7.
154 — Tim Schroeder (SN) pinned Jim Butler, 1:29.
165 — Carl Stafford (SN) beat Joe Kuschel, 5-0.
175 — Dennis Leonard (SN) beat Dave Brown, 8-1.

Anderson to Defend City Handball Title

Ken Anderson will defend his Appleton handball singles tournament title this weekend.

Eight players will seek to dethrone Anderson in the 12th annual city event at the Appleton MCA Saturday and Sunday.

Anderson faces Dan Gauslin in his first match at 10:15 a.m. Saturday. In other first round action it will be Stu Locklin vs. Ken Kitchen Sr.; Vince St. Marie vs. Ken Kitchen Jr. and Bud Koehnke vs. Eric Melso. The Melso-Koehnke winner will face Bill Branta.

The championship match is set for 1:15 p.m. Sunday.

Mike's Avenue Bar, Lee and Sandy's Bar and Rich and Sally's No. 2 all scored sweeps of 3-game sets to remain in first with 9-0 records. Kappell's Bar was upset in the first game, but came back to win the last two and now has an 8-1 mark.

Report Sinatra Ready to Buy Into Ownership of Dolphins

MIAMI (AP) — Frank Sinatra and a Miami businessman are waiting in the wings in case a bitter backstage feud dissolves the ownership of the Miami Dolphins, the Miami Herald reported in Wednesday editions.

The Herald reported Sinatra and Salvatore A. "Sam" Rizzo are hoping to buy into the American Football League Dolphins if the present partnership between General Manager Joseph Robbie and majority stockholder Willard "Bud" Keland fails.

Pro football Commissioner Pete Rozelle is arbitrating the dispute between Robbie and Keland. Millionaire Keland of Racine, Wis., wants to fire Robbie the Herald said, but cannot because of contractual arrangements.

The Herald identified Rizzo as a former race track owner in Massachusetts and operator of a gambling casino in Nevada.

Keland, however, denied he has seriously discussed allowing Rizzo or Sinatra into ownership of the Dolphins. Keland and Rizzo are members of the same country club in Miami.

Patriots' Swim Squad Whips Ashwaubenon

Appleton East's swimming team captured first places in 10 of 11 events to splash past Ashwaubenon, 69-27, in a meet in the Patriots' pool Thursday night.

Included in the East victories were two relays, the 200-yard medley and the 400-yard freestyle. Members of the former quartet were Scott Duthie, Doug White, Bob Jensen, and Scott McArt, while John Bruyette, Steve Sprissler, Eric Rogers, and Scott McArt comprised the latter.

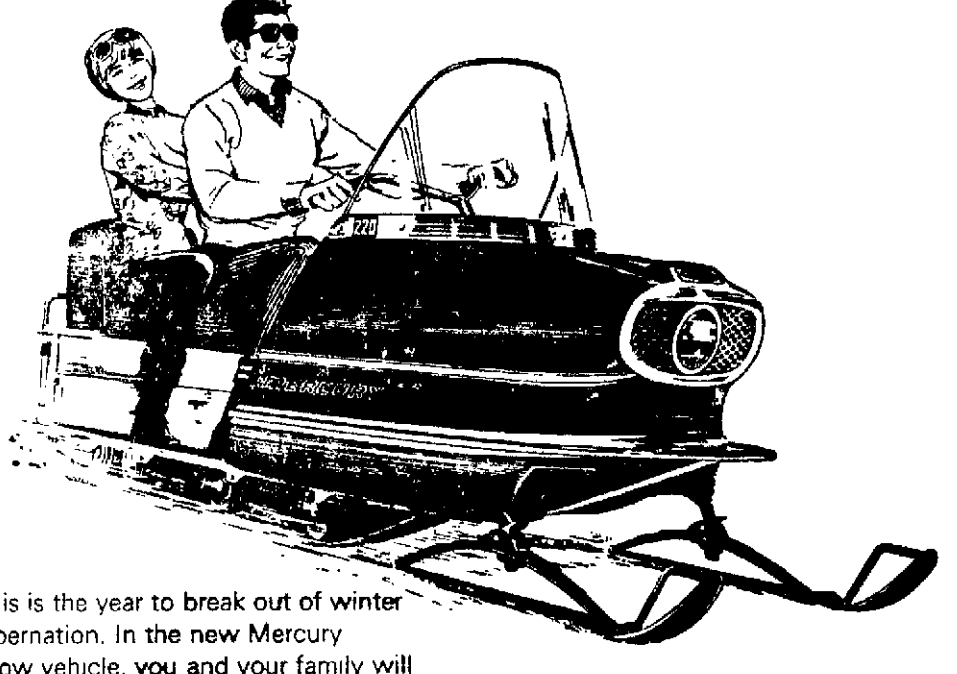

Other East triumphs were posted by Bruyette (200-yard freestyle); Dave McArt (50 freestyle); Rogers (200 individual medley); Jim Wittman (diving); White (100 butterfly); Duthie (100 breaststroke); and Jensen (100 breast).

East, which has its next meet at home against Sheboygan South Feb. 1 at 1:30 p.m. now owns a 3-2 dual meet record.

Nixon Plans Changes in Budget

Upcoming Legislative Plan To Congress Could Include Dismantling of OEO Agency

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon hopes to start sending "a significant legislative program" to Congress within several weeks, according to the President's newly named chief White House staff member.

The statement from Arthur F. Burns gave added substance to other indications that Nixon intends to present the Democratic 91st Congress with an ambitious legislative program as soon as possible, perhaps by March.

Submits 2 Reports

Burns, an economist and "longtime friend and trusted advisor" was named by Nixon Thursday as counselor to the President with cabinet rank, the only White House staff member with that status.

Burns, whose chief responsibility will be development of domestic policies and programs, said he already has submitted two reports to Nixon on potential legislative proposals for executive actions.

A decision yet to be reached is how and exactly when Nixon will make his legislative proposals. If the President decides on a special State of the Union message it probably will come within 30 or 40 days, Burns said.

The alternative would be a series of special messages.

The other indications that Nixon wants to get his proposals to Congress as soon as possible included his creation of nine special panels within the Council of Urban Affairs to submit recommendations on what he called "near term" issues requiring quick action.

So far, Nixon's legislative intentions have been defined only in broad terms, essentially by subject headings.

Burns' reports, for instance, covered 18 major areas, including federal expenditures, government organization, debt, science and technology, education, business regulation, resources and environment, health care, manpower and electoral reform.

Knowles Aide Blasts Report Of Marriage

MADISON (AP)—Reports that Gov. Warren P. Knowles might be considering marriage were described Thursday by an aide as "vicious and absolutely untrue."

Executive secretary Paul Hassett's denials of the report were seconded by Claude Jasper of Madison, former state Republican chairman who said he had introduced Knowles to Anna Chennault years ago.

"He's an attractive fellow," Jasper said. "I suppose he'd better get used to this sort of thing."

Rumors linking the recently divorced governor and Mrs. Chennault, widow of World War II Flying Tiger General Clare Chennault, cropped up during the gubernatorial inauguration which Mrs. Chennault attended.

Knowles accompanied her to President Nixon's inaugural in Washington last weekend, and their association was publicized by a nationally circulated magazine.

Hassett described Knowles and Mrs. Chennault as "just good friends."

Hassett also denied a rumor that Knowles was in line for appointment as ambassador to Japan.

Republicans have said the governor has no intention of leaving his office while the legislature works on budget and tax issues.

Bucher Tells of Red Terror

Newsome walked across the gold carpet and reached to put a hand on Bucher's arm. His hand fell short as one of Bucher's attorneys put a hand under the skipper's elbow as Bucher's legs appeared to wobble.

Bucher's other attorney took a microphone from around the skipper's neck and led him from the courtroom. A Navy psychiatrist-medical officer and Mrs. Bucher, still weeping and pale, followed Bucher out.

Court was recessed for 90 minutes.

Answers Demands

When it resumed, Bucher said his confession finally softened Super C enough to make him answer his (Bucher's) continuous demands to know whether his wounded men were being treated.

He quoted the colonel as saying "I can tell you that the wounded are being taken care of."

"This as it turned out was a lie. They got no medical attention for at least 10 days."

He said one of his men had been shot completely through with shrapnel and gangrene in his untreated wound caused a stench "so terrible that another crewmanship who was not wounded said he could not stand being in the room without vomiting."

Bucher said another one of his men was beaten until his abdomen was ruptured and "his gut was sticking way out. They opened my door and stopped with a stretcher so I could see his condition."

"My primary thought was, as long as I was kept alive, to get a message back to the United States that our ship had not intruded, regardless of what coerced confession would come out of this captivity."

Pueblo crewmen gave a well known gesture of vulgar contempt when they posed for a photograph the North Koreans distributed to the West.

"When they found that out, they really tounded on me and gave me the worst beating I received," Bucher said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army Pfc. Terry L. Martin, son of Lois J. Martin of Milwaukee, has been killed in action in the Vietnam war, the Defense Department said Thursday.

Protesters on Campus Could Lose State Aids

MADISON (AP)—Dissatisfied students will have to refrain from violence and rule breaking on campus or lose state loans, scholarships and other aids under a bill introduced in the Wisconsin Senate.

Sen. Nile W. Soik, R-Whitefish Bay, submitted the bill Thursday.

"The purpose is to insure good students in school can continue to study and we will not have such incidents as Oshkosh," he said.

A violent demonstration by Negro students at Oshkosh State University Nov. 21 resulted in suspension of 94 students.

If this bill passes, I hope the minority of violent students will be prompted to think twice," Soik said.

He proposed that loans, grants, tuition exemptions, scholarships and fellowships be withdrawn from students convicted in criminal or civil actions, and from students intentionally breaking rules set by regents.

Students convicted of using force, disrupting campus activities or seizing college property would come under the law.

Soik also co-authored a bill aimed primarily at "underground newspapers," to fine persons for exposing minors to obscene materials.

The bill provides a maximum penalty of a year in prison and a $500 fine for making available to minors materials depicting nudity or sexual conduct.

Soik said constitutional issues apparently prevent local communities from taking action regarding the papers.

"What we need is a state law," he said.

Recommendations Win Praise

Bill Provides Funds for Needy College Students

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposal for a "civilian GI Bill" to enable needy students to attend college will be introduced in the 91st Congress.

Rep. Ogden R. Reid, R-N.Y., said he would draft the new legislation, which would implement a report by the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education.

"Any qualified student ought to have the chance for a higher education, including masters and doctors degrees if he decides to pursue them," Reid said in an interview.

The report, released last Dec. 12, contains 22 recommendations, including a massive program of direct grants to needy students, with federal matching grants, student loans, work-study programs and doctoral fellowships. Extensive aid for medical training also is included.

Chances Remote

Although the report is viewed favorably by most congressmen, the chances of formal enactment this year are almost nonexistent.

In the Senate, associates of Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., new chairman of the Senate Education Committee, say that at present they would view Reid's bill as something of a catalyst to stimulate discussion leading to new legislation some time in the future, but not necessarily this year.

And a key member of the House Subcommittee on Education, Rep. Albert Quie, R-Minn., said, "I doubt if we're going to do anything about higher education this year."

In an interview before he took office, Robert Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare, said he had talked about it with President Nixon, "but not in any depth."

He said some of the report may be forged into administrative proposals. "I'm generally in favor of the emphasis on medical and dental schools," Finch said, although he added, "Probably the areas of real concern are for elementary and secondary schools."

Reid himself said, "I realize that the effort at the elementary level has to be improved if we are going to maximize the opportunity at the upper levels of higher education. Still, I hope the education and labor committee will act soon on higher education."

The Carnegie proposal has received generally enthusiastic support in academic circles.

"Top of Agenda"

Dr. Clark Kerr, former president of the University of California and chairman of the Carnegie Commission, said, "The predominant reaction has been that this program should be near the top of the agenda for the new Congress."

Ray Accepts 'Defense' Of Ex-Aide to Dr. King

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A top aide to slain civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. has paid a jail cell visit to James Earl Ray, King's accused killer, and says he will aid in Ray's defense. The move was backed by the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, King's successor as head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

"Brother Ray has asked me to defend him and I intend to do it," the Rev. James Bevel told a meeting of about 50 ministers Thursday night after his jail visit. Bevel said last week he was convinced Ray was innocent in the slaying of King here last April 4.

In Atlanta, Abernathy said he viewed Bevel's action as a way of moving "nonviolence into a new dimension in American life." The SCLC head added, "Rev. Bevel is speaking to the real issue—namely that it is not who killed Dr. King, but what killed him."

One-Hour Meeting

Bevel visited with Ray in the top-security cell on the third floor of the Shelby County Jail, accompanied by Ray's attorney, Percy Foreman of Houston, Tex.

Sheriff William N. Morris Jr. said Bevel and Foreman were with Ray for one hour. Later Bevel discussed the case in general terms with the ministers who had been attending the general board meeting here of the National Council of Churches.

Bevel said he was convinced of Ray's innocence before he met with him "and I am now even more convinced that Ray was about as capable of killing King as I am of flying to the moon."

In answer to a question, the bearded, balding Bevel said he had been accepted by Ray to assist in the case and that Foreman would remain as chief counsel. Bevel, 32, is not a member of the bar but says he is a lawyer "by circumstances."

Foreman was not available for comment on what part Bevel

Miss Eva Franz
208 N. Sidney St., Kimberly
Age 54, passed away this morning after a short illness. She was born April 20, 1914 in Kimberly. Miss Franz was treasurer for the Women's Catholic Order of Foresters for 24 years and a member of the 25 Year Club of the Kimberly Clark Corporation, Kimberly. She is survived by four nieces, Mrs. James Siebers, Mrs. Gerald Verhagen, Mrs. Donald Rozenko, Mrs. Donald Opsteen, two nephews, Robert Zwiers, all of Kimberly and Vance Zwiers, Combined Locks. Friends may call at the Jansen Funeral Home, Kimberly after 7 o'clock Saturday evening and Sunday after 2 o'clock. The rosary will be at 8 o'clock Saturday evening by the Women's Catholic Order of Foresters and the parish rosary will be at 8 o'clock Sunday evening. Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock Monday morning at Holy Name Catholic Church, Kimberly and interment will be in the parish cemetery.

Louis E. (Stub) Helser
(Stub)
1503 N. Alvin St.
Age 86, passed away Thursday a.m. after a lingering illness. He was born April 22, 1882 in Shiocton where he lived for 2 years and then moved to Appleton living here for the rest of his life. He was a member of the First English Lutheran Church. He formerly was a chauffeur for the late Dr. Victor Marshall for 32 years. Survivors are his wife, Clara; two daughters, Mrs. Clarence (Esther) Monyette, Appleton, Mrs. Edward (Elva) Steinacker, Wausau; one sister, Mrs. Maude Geautte, Fond du Lac; three brothers, Roy, Earl, Lester, all of Appleton; six grandchildren and sixteen great-grandchildren. One daughter, Dora Scheurle, preceded him in death. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 Saturday afternoon at the Brettschneider-Trettin Funeral Home and burial will be in Riverside Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 4 o'clock Friday until the time of services.

Mr. Lynn Sheldon
1327 S. Monroe St.
Passed away Friday morning. Funeral arrangements are incomplete and pending at the Brettschneider-Trettin Funeral Home.

Edwin Hillmann
Rt. 2, Brillion
Age 72, passed away at Calumet Memorial Hospital, Chilton, on Wednesday evening. He was born March 6, 1896 in the Town of Rantoul. On Oct. 19, 1920 he married Mabel Rohrdanz. He farmed in the town of Brillion for 48 years and was a dealer in raw furs. Mr. Hillmann was a life member of the Trinity Lutheran Church, Rantoul and served on the church board. He was a director of the Farmers State Bank for 26 years; a branch secretary and treasurer for the A.A.L. for 32 years and a member of the following committees: the state Conservation Congress fur committee, advisory panel of the Bureau of Natural Resources. He is survived by his wife, Mabel; one daughter, Mrs. Ruben (Germaine) Klessig, Rt. 4, Chilton; one son, Donald, Rt. 2, Brillion; six grandchildren; three sisters, Mrs. Rudy (Frieda) Schnell, Mrs. James (Clara) Reed, both of Green Bay. Mrs. John (Hulda) Kirby, De Pere; four brothers, Roland, Brillion, Henry, Potter, Milford, New Holstein, Carl, Reedsville. One son, two sisters and one brother preceded him in death. Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2 p.m. at the Trinity Lutheran Church Rantoul with the Rev. Theodore Bartel officiating and burial will be in the parish cemetery. Friends may call at the Wieting Funeral Home after 3 p.m. on Saturday until 11:30 on Sunday and from noon until the hour of the service on Sunday at the church.

Mrs. Harold Raaths
Black Creek
Age 63, passed away Wednesday evening. Mrs. Raaths' husband, Harold, was inadvertently omitted from the list of survivors in yesterday's obituary.

Mrs. Arthur (Marie) Radloff
235 S. Main St., Brillion
Age 76, passed away this morning. She was born August 4, 1892 in the Town of Maple Grove. Her parents were Mr. and Mrs. William Koch. She married Arthur Radloff October 3, 1911, and lived in the Brillion area her entire life. Mrs. Radloff was a member of the Faith United Methodist Church, Brillion. Survivors are two daughters, Mrs. John (Florence) Drahm, Mrs. Louis (Jeanette) Pfeffer, both of Brillion; two sons, Kenneth, Eau Claire and Victor, Indianapolis, Indiana; seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. She was preceded in death by her husband and one grandson. Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p.m. at the Faith Methodist Church, Brillion, with the Rev. Willard Albertus officiating and burial will be in the Brillion Commuty Cemetery. Friends may call at the Wieting Funeral Home, Brillion from 2 p.m. Sunday until 10:30 Monday morning and then at the church from 11 until the hour of the service.

Frank Schindler
Rt. 1, Neenah
Age 63, passed away unexpectedly Wednesday at Jasper, Florida. He was born August 22, 1905 in Kimberly, Wisconsin and had been a resident of the town of Neenah for the past 25 years. He had been employed by Courtney and Plummer, Inc. for the past 13 years, prior to that he had been employed by Winnebago County for 22 years. Mr. Schindler was a member of Our Saviors Lutheran Church. He was married January 18, 1969 to Florence Schwandner. Other survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Kay O'Rourke, Newark, New Jersey; one son, Dale, Neenah; four sisters, Miss Margaret Schindler and Mrs. Adelbert Jensen, both of Neenah; Mrs. Rachel Tuttle, Oshkosh; Mrs. Alex Malcolm, Winnetonka; two brothers, Dave and Willard, both of Neenah and four grandchildren. Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p.m. from Our Saviors Lutheran Church with the Rev. James O. Olsen officiating and interment will be in Lakeview Memorial Park, Oshkosh. Friends may call at the Westgor Funeral Home from 2 p.m. to 9 p.m. Sunday and Monday at the church from noon until the hour of the service.

Only Aldermanic Contest April 1 To be in 1st Ward
KAUKAUNA — The April 1 election in which five aldermen and two school board candidates are to be elected has generated little interest and few candidates.

To date nine persons, including seven incumbents, are circulating nomination papers which must be filed prior to 5 p.m. Tuesday. Candidates seeking the 3-year terms on the board of education are Olin Dryer and Victor Haen, incumbents, and Mrs. Joan Wolf.

Lone aldermanic contest shaping up is in the 1st Ward where Incumbent Robert Vondracek is being opposed by Richard Verhoeven. Four aldermanic incumbents without opposition to date are Richard Gerrits, 2nd; George Simon, 3rd; Russel Dix, 4th, and William Rogers, 5th.

Since relatively few signers are needed for any of the aldermanic posts, persons interested in public office likely could still take out papers and have them returned prior to the Tuesday deadline, according to Karl E. Marzahl, city clerk.

Speakers Named For Social Week At St. Norbert

DE PERE — A member of the Milwaukee group which removed and burned approximately 10,000 selective service files there in September to protest the war in Vietnam will be one of four speakers at St. Norbert College during "social week" Feb. 2-8.

Robert Graf of the "Milwaukee 14" will speak at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 5. He is an editor of The Catholic Radical newspaper and a member of the Casa Maria Catholic Worker Community. For seven years he was a member of the Jesuit order.

The case against members of the group is still pending.

Other speakers to appear during the week will be Joseph T. Mulloy, Louisville, Ky., an authority on poverty, who will speak on the "War on Poverty in Appalachia" at 8:15 p.m. Monday, Feb. 3; Donald Peterson, Eau Claire, national co-chairman of the New Democratic Coalition, who will speak at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 4; and Menachem Sadinsky, an Israeli native and army officer who fought in the Six Days' war against Egypt, who will discuss U.S. foreign policy and the Arab-Israeli conflict at 4 p.m. Friday, Feb. 7.

The public programs are free. The week is sponsored by the Christians for Social Change, a campus student organization.

New London '5', Holy Cross Play Key Grade Game

New London Precious Blood, which defeated Appleton St. Joseph, 27-25, last weekend, continues as the sole leader in the Catholic Boy Basketball League with an 8-1 record.

The leaders are host to Kaukauna Holy Cross (4-5) in this week's game.

Other pairing are St. Joseph (6-3) at Menasha St. Patrick (0-9), Neenah St. Gabriel (6-3) at Little Chute St. John (5-3), Appleton Sacred Heart (6-3) at Appleton St. Thomas More (2-7), Menasha St. John (5-4) at Appleton St. Bernadette (2-7), Kimberly Holy Name (6-3) at Appleton St. Pius (3-6), Menasha St. Mary (3-5) at Neenah St. Margaret Mary (5-4) and Appleton St. Mary (7-2) at Appleton St. Therese (2-7).

Winners last weekend included Holy Name over St. Bernadette, 44-33. Menasha St. Mary over St. Pius, 30-27, Holy Cross over St. Therese, 47-46, Sacred Heart over Little Chute St. John, 48-38, Appleton St. Mary over St. Margaret Mary, 53-30, Menasha St. John over St. Thomas More, 59-41 and St. Gabriel over St. Patrick, 45-15.

Mann Rallies To Shade Kaukauna '5'

Neenah Mann came from behind in the last period to trip Kaukauna, 66-57, for its ninth straight Fox Valley freshman League basketball triumph.

The Neenah cagers led, 37-38, at halftime but fell behind, 50-49, at the close of three periods. Led by Ed Hawley and Dene Storch, they took the lead at the start of the final frame and retained it, finishing with 17 points to the Ghosts' seven.

Storch collected 23 points and Hawley had 21. Giordana posted 19 and Litscher and Klister each hit 11 for the Kaws.

Screening for UW Athletic Director Begins Next Week

MADISON (AP) — Preliminary screening of about two dozen candidates for the post of athletic director at the University of Wisconsin may begin next week.

Prof. Frederick Haberman, chairman of the university's athletic board, said Wednesday he has received 23 applications for the job, but only one name could be made public. That one, he said, is Milt Bruhn, former Badger football coach and now acting athletic director.

The athletic director vacancy was created Jan. 10, when Ivan B. (Ivy) Williamson, was demoted to professor of physical education after a 13-year stint as athletic director.

Wisconsin has been beset by sagging football fortunes and a financial deficit.

Haberman said he expects to hear by next week from a number of applicants on whether or not they want their names released to the news media.

Fisheree Slated For Sunday at Lake Weyauwega

WEYAUWEGA — The eighth annual fisheree sponsored by the Arndt-Bruley American Legion is scheduled to be Sunday on Lake Weyauwega.

Fishing will begin in the morning and continue through until 3 p.m. All fish caught must be registered by 3 p.m. to qualify for the cash prizes.

Prizes to be given away are a ice drill, walkie-talkie, rod and reel, and camping stove. Many other merchandise prizes will also be awarded.

Members of the committee are John Laude, chairman, Merlin Prah, Duane Gilbertson, Ray Akey, Joe Pleshek, Harry Rasmussen, Duane Koehler and Roman Krause.

'Winter Enduro' Set by FVSCC

The Fox Valley Sports Car Club will hold a rally, "The Winter Enduro," Sunday afternoon.

Drivers are to meet at the Behm Motor Garage, 730 E. Northland Ave., Appleton, between 12 noon and 1 p.m. Entry fees for the time, speed and distance event are $150 for each club member and $250 for non-members. Money collected in fees will be forwarded to the WBAY-TV cerebral palsy telethon.

Tim Scheib, chairman, recommends that winter driving equipment be used for the event.

Swedish Driver First to Finish Monte Carlo Race

MONTE CARLO (AP) — Bjorn Waldegaard, 25-year-old Swedish champion, limped home to the finish of the Monte Carlo rally today to take first place on unofficial returns and give Porsche its second straight victory.

Waldegaard and Swedish co-driver Lars Helmer were given a great welcome as they crossed the line.

They had driven 3,500 miles from their Warsaw start.

Official confirmation of their victory could not be expected for some hours because it had to await checking of the car.

But they had a clear and apparently insurmountable lead. Jean Vinatier of France, in an Alpine, was unofficially placed second and his compatriot, Gerard Larrousse, in a Porsche, was third.

Man, 71, Gets Deserved Lecture on Use of Guns

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — T. J. Duty, 71, who operates a laundromat, got a lecture from police Thursday on the handling of firearms. The lecture came after Duty had attempted to put his shotgun on a rack in his laundromat, accidentally discharging the weapon. Police said the shot went through the north wall of the laundromat, both walls of an adjacent house, both walls of a beauty shop and the south wall of a barber shop.

Oklahoma State Sophomore Cage Star Ineligible

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma State university basketball hopes were dealt a severe blow Thursday when it was announced that star sophomore Amos Thomas has been declared ineligible for the remainder of the season.

Thomas, 6-foot-7, is the Cowboys' leading scorer and rebounder.

But Thursday it was reported that Thomas had played in a benefit basketball game that violated NCAA rules.

OSU learned that Thomas played in the fund-raising game for Oklahoma City Dundee High School last April and reported it to the Big Eight Conference.

"Based on this information, it has been determined that the participation in this game is in violation of NCAA and conference rules," the school stated.

49 Father-Son Teams Enter Kegling Tourney

KAUKAUNA — Forty-nine father-son teams have signed for the recreation department sponsored bowling tournament to be held Saturday at the Bowling Bar.

Openings remain on the 11 a.m. shift, and persons interested may contact Jack Hilgenberg, tournament director, or call the recreation office.

Handicaps will be used and boys from 13 through high school age are eligible to compete.

Canadians to Return Part of Nose Cone

REGINA, Sask. (AP) — A 12½-pound fragment of a U.S. satellite launch vehicle recovered last fall in northern Saskatchewan is being returned to the United States under terms of the Outer Space Treaty.

The titanium from the protective nose cone survived temperatures of more than 3,100 degrees as it re-entered the Earth's atmosphere at 17,000 m.p.h. It was reported by John Hodges, observatory director of the Regina Astronomical Society to be in "a remarkable state of preservation."

The brandy that masters all mixers

The Christian Brothers Brandy—a satisfying drink all by itself—also takes kindly to mixing. With a splash of soda, it comes through smooth, and full bodied—from the first sip to the last. In a Stinger, its mellow flavor blends in perfectly—but never gets lost. (For that matter, it's equally at home in a Manhattan, an Old-fashioned or a Sour.) Such versatility helps explain why The Christian Brothers Brandy is, indeed, America's favorite.

Nixon Rescinds Nominations Made by LBJ

President Wants
To Review Them
'Without Prejudice'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has withdrawn 155 nominations — including two ambassadors, five judges and dozens of postmasters — submitted to the Senate by Lyndon Johnson in the last days of his administration.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon wants a chance to review them all case-by-case "without prejudice."

"There is a possibility," Ziegler said, "some will be renominated."

The nominees for ambassador are Robert W. Komer, former head of the Vietnam pacification program, whom Johnson named envoy to Turkey, and Albert W. Sherer Jr., a career foreign service officer who had been slated to go to Equatorial Guinea.

The five judges had been named to U.S. district courts in California, Washington, D.C., and Guam.

JFK Withdrew 1,243

Ziegler was quick to point out that President Kennedy had withdrawn 1,243 Eisenhower postmaster nominations when he took office. But Ziegler said he did not know how many nominations had been submitted or subsequently reinstated.

The action also affected three men Johnson had named to the Law Enforcement Assistance Agency, created last year to help local police in the fight against crime. They are administrator Patrick V. Murphy, former director of public safety in the nation's capital, and associate administrators Ralph G. H. Su of Hawaii and Wesley A. Pomeroy of California.

Also involved was Emory P. Roberts of Maryland, a veteran Secret Service agent who had been appointed to the Federal Parole Board. Roberts is still on duty in his post as a receptionist in the West Lobby of the White House, where visitors come through to see the President.

Johnson's longtime Texas friend and congressional liaison aide in the White House, Harold Barefoot Sanders Jr., was among new federal judges involved. He had been named to the U.S. Court of Appeals.

Other judgeships withdrawn:

David G. Bress for the District of Columbia; William M. Byrne Jr. and Cecil F. Poole of California, to serve the central and northern districts of California, respectively; and James P. Al. center set up at the National Guard armory in Hazlehurst.

300 Left Homeless By Killer Tornadoes

HAZLEHURST, Miss. (AP) — Agencies quickly moved into the area to care for the hungry and the homeless.

"We are ready to feed, clothe and shelter all of them," said George Sheffield, central Mississippi Red Cross disaster chairman.

The twisters, roaring in from the west Thursday morning, injured more than 150 persons and left approximately 300 homeless. Damage was estimated in the millions.

The first area struck was a predominantly Negro settlement just outside south Hazlehurst in Copiah County. The tornadoes then moved northeastward into rural areas of Simpson and Smith counties about 30 miles further.

Restore Service

Utility crews worked into the night Thursday to restore most of the electrical and telephone service.

The Hazlehurst hospital alone treated 128 persons. Many others were taken to hospitals in Jackson and Brookhaven.

Pueblo Skipper Tells Tale of Terror, Torture

Bucher Says
Confession
Was Forced

'I'm Sure I Came Close to Death'

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — The captain of the Pueblo says he confessed to spying after blood-chilling mental torture, and then tried to drown himself in a bucket of water.

Tears streaming, his voice breaking with anguish, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher told a Navy court of inquiry Thursday that North Koreans finally broke him by threatening to shoot his crewmen one-by-one in front of him—and summing up the youngest sailor and saying they would start with him.

Bucher's account of the terror ended—at least for now—his public appearances. He went before a closed session of the court today to give secret—classified—testimony, and was to be followed, the Navy said, by Rear Adm. Frank L. Johnson, commander of U.S. naval forces in Japan at the time the Pueblo was seized. Bucher has said he radioed desperately for help as North Korean gunboats surrounded the intelligence ship, but it never arrived.

The Navy said Johnson would testify after closed-door accounts from one or more of three captains under his command in Japan when the Pueblo was seized off North Korea last year. Summaries of all secret sessions will be prepared, deleting all classified information, and made available to newsmen, a Navy spokesman said.

Open court sessions are scheduled to resume Wednesday.

'Quite Disturbed'

After describing why he confessed, Bucher said Thursday, "sometime during the night I attempted to commit suicide by drowning myself in a bucket of water in my room but was unable to accomplish this."

"Mentally, I was quite disturbed," he said, partly because of the embarrassment he thought his confession caused the United States.

The typewritten confession said Bucher was a CIA agent, that his ship intruded into North Korea's waters and that he was trying to put South Koreans ashore.

"And I realized," he said, "they (North Koreans) needed me alive more than anyone else in the crew for public appearances that I was afraid of and knew were coming."

He couldn't eat or sleep for several days, Bucher said, because he was haunted by the thought that secret information on the Pueblo had fallen into Communist hands.

Begins Trembling

The court warned Bucher Wednesday he may have violated regulations by surrendering the ship. Bucher was in his fourth day of testimony and has been unusually calm, sometimes tense, until he came to describing an interrogation before he confessed. As he talked he began trembling.

"They made me kneel on the floor," Bucher said. He said a North Korean he nicknamed Super Colonel, or "Super C," seemed desperate.

"You have two minutes to decide to sign the confession or be shot," Bucher said he was told. "I spent two minutes on the floor and I repeated over and over... (the skipper's voice broke and he paused) I love you, Rose, I love you, Rose."

His blonde wife Rose sobbed and rubbed her eyes at that point in his testimony.

"At the end of the two minutes he asked me to sign," Bucher said. "I said I wouldn't. He told a guard at my side to move so when I got shot and the bullet passed through my head, he would not be hit."

"Kill the son of a bitch!" Bucher said a North Korean

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — From his lonely prison room in North Korea, U.S. Navy Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher could hear little girls laughing.

Children went by outside singing a marching song.

Things were improving. A few days before, on March 5, 1968, Bucher and his 81 men from the USS Pueblo had been moved to the prison in the countryside.

It was six or seven miles from Pyongyang, the capital of North Korea, Bucher told a court of inquiry Thursday.

The court of five admirals is investigating capture of his intelligence ship.

At this new prison there were no blinds on the windows, and Bucher said he could see cooperative farms surrounded by military installations and missile batteries.

A parade of tanks went by on a nearby road almost weekly, he said.

"We were treated much more humanely," Bucher said, comparing this prison to the compound where he and his men were taken when they were captured three months before. At that compound, Bucher said, he and his men had suffered severe beatings and Bucher underwent chilling mental torture.

"There was always an aura of terror," he said. But now the men had daily sick call except for Saturdays and when doctors were not available.

"Nurses were always available and their professional qualifications were comparable to the nurses at home. But not their looks. Their looks didn't quite come up to standards," Bucher said with a grin.

"I'm sure I came close to death on a couple of occasions because of illnesses. There was typhoid, and scurvy was rampant from a lack of vitamins. Mysterious holes started appearing in our skin."

"There were the types of sores you see in the Bible in pictures of Lot. By and large I thought their medical treatment, considering all things, was barely adequate. In some cases, though, it was just short of miraculous.

"They did have penicillin. But their sterilization and cleanliness standards were far below those at home."

"I'm sure that because of this several of us contracted hepatitis. I was one of those."

"At one time I had lost approximately 100 pounds."

Bucher said he was given a half a pack of cigarettes every day and he and his men were getting tooth brushes and tooth paste.

During 15- to 20-minute exercise periods in the summer-time, Bucher said, he and his men were sent out to cut the grass around the prison building.

"They had not invented lawnmowers yet," he said, "and we cut it with a pen knife."

The men got to write home — but interpreters translated the letters into Korean and they were changed by officers in charge of the captivity, Bucher said.

Then, he said, the men got their letters back and were ordered to recopy them, adding the North Korean changes.

The North Koreans tried to propagandize his men with socialistic movies every Friday night and booklets and brochures about the "tremendous number of atrocities by American troops during the Korean war."

"They gave us absolutely ridiculous accounts of the war and the way things were in the world," Bucher said.

"They gave us news in a way that tried only to demoralize us."

Hospital Helicopter Downed

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today a medical evacuation helicopter was shot down in the central highlands killing seven and bringing the war's total of choppers lost in combat to 999.

The command also belatedly announced that a helicopter shot down Jan. 15 south of Da Nang killed Col. Michael M. Spark, 41, Alexandria, Va., commander of the 3rd Marine Division's 3rd Regiment. Six others, including a Marine officer, died with him in the flaming crash. Spark was the first Marine regimental commander killed in Vietnam.

The medical evacuation helicopter was downed Thursday in the central highlands 23 miles northwest of Pleiku. Three wounded Americans and four crewmen were killed. The command said it was clearly marked with red crosses.

In addition to the number of helicopters lost in combat, the U.S. Command said 1,316 others have been lost since Jan. 1, 1961, due to mechanical failure, enemy barrages that caught them on the ground and other causes.

Spokesman at Da Nang identified two others that died with Spark in the crash last week.

They were: Lt. Col. Ernil Lee Whisman, 39, commander of the 1st Battalion, 12 Marines, a native of Winchester, Ky., whose widow and four children live in Wichita Falls, Tex., and Sgt. Major Ted McClintock, 59, of the 3rd Marine Regiment, a native of Seattle, Wash., whose widow lives in Bothell, Wash.

A spokesman said Spark was in a command helicopter directing his troops battling enemy soldiers in heavily fortified positions about 30 miles south of Da Nang. The helicopter was hit by small-arms fire, crashed and burned in the jungle.

Meanwhile, U.S. military analysts said from now until mid-February is a critical period in the Vietnam war because of the peace talks in Paris and the new administration in Washington.

These experts do not see any imminent threat to Saigon. Instead they anticipate enemy attacks on the three provinces along the Cambodian border northwest to northeast of the capital—Tay Ninh, Binh Long and Phuoc Long.

The analysts said intelligence reports indicate the Communist command plans to increase operations in an attempt to give the negotiators from Hanoi and the Viet Cong greater leverage in Paris and to put pressure on the Nixon administration while it is still shaking down.

An enemy winter-spring offensive has been anticipated since last Dec. 13, but the experts said they believe the U.S. and South Vietnamese operations that have smashed numerous bases and captured hundreds of tons of supplies have upset the Viet Cong's timetable.

With more than 700 tons of munitions and food captured already this month, South Vietnamese headquarters today announced the biggest single haul of the war. A ranger battalion seized 60 tons of assorted ammunition near the Cambodian border 132 miles west of Saigon, a communiqué said.

Because Cambodia is off limits to U.S. and South Vietnamese forces, supplies stockpiled just over the border are available to the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese for operations nearby in the three northern provinces of the 3rd Corps Area, which has Saigon at its heart.

Thousands at Coffin

Czechs Mourn for Palach, Leaders Wait for Violence

PRAGUE (AP) — Thousands of sobbing, wailing Czechoslovaks filed past the closed coffin of Jan Palach today.

The coffin of Palach, who set himself afire for the cause of freedom, rested alongside a statue of Jan Hus, who died at the stake in defense of truth in 1415.

Huge crowds gathered in narrow Zeleny Ulice, the Ironmongers' Street, to enter the main building of Charles University where the coffin rested. Members of the university faculty stood near the catafalque.

A youth opened a Bible and began reading, started sobbing uncontrollably and had to be helped away by companions. A roughly dressed old man sobbed and wrung his hat.

Many Flowers

Small children knelt and placed flowers near the coffin, adding their tiny offerings to a profusion of floral wreaths.

The 21-year-old university student set fire to himself on Wenceslas Square Jan. 16, to protest the Soviet occupation of Czechoslovakia. He died three days later.

The coffin will be on view through Saturday morning. Then students planned a massive memorial observance in advance of private funeral services Saturday afternoon.

Student leaders said they expected 400,000 students in the capital for the ceremony. Prague Radio said the leaders told the worried interior ministry they could not guarantee there would be no incidents.

The students made public appeals for a calm, dignified memorial. They said any violence could "entirely destroy our hopes for socialism with a human face," the motto of the liberal reform wave which Soviet troops invaded the country to reverse.

Fearing violent demonstrations that might provoke new intervention by the Russians, the Czech government warned the students to be on guard against "irresponsible elements" that could cause trouble.

Student leaders said unrest was widespread among the young, but they stressed that the memorial ceremonies would be orderly and dignified.

They reported demonstrations in Bratislava, the capital of Slovakia, were suppressed by the authorities and others in Brno and Ostrava were interfered with. They said students at a teachers' college in Ostrava occupied a school building.

Wreaths and condolence telegrams piled up at the philosophy school where Palach was a student. However, hunger strikers were gone from the fountain where he set himself afire. The Interior Ministry denied rumors that they had been arrested.

It was announced that a sixth Czechoslovak since Palach had set himself afire in Levice, Slovakia. None of the six has died, and authorities said none had political motives for their acts. All had histories of suicide attempts.

Feel 30 Years Younger!

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A three-hours-a-week program of exercise makes 70-year-old men feel and function as if they were 30 years younger, the University of Southern California reported today.

The school gave these results after a year of tests with 69 men aged 50 to 87:

Blood pressure—improved 6 per cent.

Body fat—decreased 4.8 per cent.

Oxygen consumption (best single measure of vigor)—increased 9.2 per cent.

Arm strength—increased 7.2 per cent.

Nervous tension—reduced 14 to 15 per cent.

The men taking part in the experiment work out for one hour three times a week. Their closely supervised regimen includes calisthenics, stretching, swimming — and jogging.

The research was conducted by Dr. Herbert A. Devries, professor of physical education and head of an exercise research group at USC's gerontology center. He said in an interview he plans to test groups of older women later.

Better Motivated

"We may get even better results with women," he said, "because of greater motivation. We are already swamped with demands from women who have heard about our project."

Key to success of the experiment lies in tailoring exercise to the individual. Devries is developing a "pharmacopoeia of exercise" similar to the catalog of drugs available to physicians.

"Exercise should be prescribed with the same care and certainty that a physician uses in prescribing drugs," Devries said.

Devries has developed a series of tests to monitor physical condition during the exercise program and whenever trouble shows up exercise is suspended or canceled.

"People in this age group should undertake an exercise program only after a complete physical examination," he said, "and the older they are the more carefully they should be supervised."

Go-Go Dancer Too Young To Prosecute

Charges Against Flagstone Performer Are Dismissed

Two charges against a former dancer at a Town of Grand Chute tavern were dismissed Thursday after the court was told that she was only 17 years old at the time of the alleged offense.

Mrs. James Vanderloop, now 18, of 201 Cross St., Menasha, had been charged by Outagamie County authorities with disorderly conduct and with consuming intoxicating liquor in public while under the age of 21.

The charges were brought after a sheriff's department deputy witnessed an allegedly indecent performance at The Flagstone, 2820 W. Prospect Ave., the night of Oct. 17. She was employed as a go-go dancer at the Grand Chute tavern.

Demands Trial

Mrs. Vanderloop pleaded innocent and demanded a jury trial, which was to have been Thursday in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Although at the time she was arraigned in court last October, she did not state an age, she told county jailers she was 20 when she was booked Oct. 18 after being taken into custody at her home on a warrant. She has been free on a $150 bond.

Thomas Cane, Outagamie County assistant district attorney, in asking dismissal of the charges Thursday, told the court that although his office Pulp and Paper Co. Feb. 1, was thought Mrs. Vanderloop was 20, it later was learned she was a juvenile on Oct. 17. The girl reportedly was born Nov. 23, 1950.

Could Not Be Tried

Schaefer ruled that since she was 17 at the time of the alleged offense, she could not be tried in criminal court.

The district attorney's office said Thursday it had not yet been determined if an effort will be made to bring the case into Juvenile Court.

Jacques LaPave, 47, who owned The Flagstone Oct. 17, had been charged with furnishing intoxicating liquor to the young entertainer, but Richard Hamilton, former assistant district attorney, moved to dismiss the charge Jan. 2.

The Flagstone was closed by order of the town board on Dec. 13, after two deputies observed another young dancer perform in the nude.

Two Injured in 3-Car Accident On U. S. 41

OSHKOSH — Two youths were taken to Theda Clark Memorial Hospital for treatment of injuries they received in a three-car accident about 1 a.m. today on U.S. 41 at State 114 in the Town of Oshkosh.

The youths were John L. Carke, 19, 426 Coolidge St., Appleton, driver of one car, and a passenger in his car, Patricia Ciske, 18, 600 Second St., Menasha. Clarke suffered arm and chest injuries and Miss Ciske sustained a possible hip injury.

County police said a car being driven north on U.S. 41 by Raymond F. Hintz, route 2, Weyauwega, was turning left onto State 114 when it was struck in the rear by the Clarke auto. The Clarke vehicle was eastbound on 114 and skidded on ice into the intersection, police said.

Clarke got out of his car to inspect the damage to its front end, when another eastbound auto, operated by James M. Landsverk, 19, 211 King St., Neenah, skidded on ice through the intersection and struck the Clarke vehicle. The Clarke auto lurched due to impact and struck Clarke, police said.

Damage to the two vehicles in the first part of the mishap was estimated at $60. The second crash caused damage estimated at $1,300 to the Clarke and Landsverk autos.

Sutherland was made an honorary citizen of Kaukauna and presented a gift by Mayor Gilbert Anderson on behalf of the city. The gift was presented by James McDanel, council president.

Both men paid tribute to Sutherland for the interest he has shown in all Kaukauna endeavors and the role he played in making Kaukauna a better place in which to live.

Also paying tribute to him was J. T. Thomas, Thilmany president. Sutherland was also honored with a "Ted Sutherland Hamilton" at a Quarter Century Club party prior to the holidays.

Sutherland joined Thilmany as office manager in 1940, later was made secretary-treasurer, a director and in 1965 chairman of the board.

Natural Beauty Council

Student Aid Sought to Help Eliminate County Eyesores

Elementary school pupils and high school youths will be enlisted to seek out eyesores in Outagamie County.

The project is part of an inventory of unsightly places undertaken by the newly organized Outagamie County Natural Beauty Council and is an initial step in a program to rid the county of unsightly areas.

Each county in the state has organized its own beauty council as established by legislative action in Madison in 1967.

Harold Miller of Appleton is president of the county council which works in cooperation with the University of Wisconsin Extension Division. The division's function is to help plan and coordinate programs.

Much To Do
Mrs. L. P. Williams, Appleton, vice president of the council, said "we're just getting off the ground and much needs to be done."

She noted that more than 400 letters have been sent to Boy Scouts, Girl Scout groups, 4-H leaders, and teachers in various communities in the planned cooperative program.

The elementary and high school youths of the county have been asked to participate in a poster contest depicting one area in the county that could be improved.

"The first step in any solving problem is to see what the problem is," Mrs. Williams said. She stressed the importance of getting youths as well as adults involved in the project "that should be of concern to the entire community."

Urges Local Help
"Let's not sit back and let the government do for us what we can do for ourselves," she added.

The posters will be judged and winning entries recognized at the council's kickoff dinner program at the Columbus Club.

Two Burglary Suspects Held In Oconto Jail

Men Suspected Of 6 Break-Ins in Outagamie County

Two young men being held in the Oconto County Jail have admitted burglarizing six business places in Black Creek, Shiocton, and Nichols last week, Outagamie County sheriff's investigators said today.

The suspects, 19 and 22 years old, were to be arraigned in Oconto County Court Thursday on burglary charges brought by authorities in that county.

The men, from Briarton and Green Bay, were taken into custody Wednesday morning by Brown County police, after an alert was issued for their car, which reportedly had been seen in the area of an Oconto County burglary.

The men reportedly are questioned in connection with 13 burglaries, including the six in Outagamie County, six in Oconto County and one in Green Bay. Charges arising in Outagamie County are expected to be consolidated with those brought in Oconto County, the investigator explained.

The Outagamie burglaries, reported early Jan. 14, were at the E. J. Graf Lumber Co. in Nichols; the Citgo Service station, and Van Straten Oil Co. at Shiocton, and Fassbender's Service Station, a laundromat, and Don's Mobil Service in Black Creek.

An investigator said that some of the merchandise taken in the burglaries has been recovered, but that money was not recovered. Several pairs of binoculars taken from Van Straten's Service Station had been sold, the investigator said.

Hearing for Janet Holly

Seek Termination of Parental Rights to Toddler

A hearing will be held in Outagamie County Juvenile Court Feb. 17 on a petition requesting termination of parental rights to a newborn infant abandoned in a car in the county hospital parking lot Dec. 13.

The 9:30 a.m. closed hearing was ordered by Judge Raymond P. Dohr, of the Juvenile Court, after a petition was filed by the Outagamie County Department of Social Services.

The infant girl was placed in a "temporary foster home" by the identity of the mother or the county welfare authorities after father.

The beauty council office is located in the extension offices of the county courthouse.

'Barber of Seville' Italian Comic Classic Well Staged and Sung

BY JAMES AUER
Post-Crescent Sunday Editor

The pleasures and pitfalls of presenting Italian opera in English-language translation were pointed up once again Thursday evening as the Lawrence University Opera Theatre presented the first of three scheduled performances of Gioacchino Rossini's "The Barber of Seville".

The delights, of course, are many: an extremely lucid (if equally farcical) story line; fewer problems for fledgling singers (all of whom speak English fluently), and improved audience empathy — especially if many members of that audience are not familiar with the work being performed.

Waupaca Youth Jailed on Three Traffic Counts

WAUPACA — Frank Figlinski, 20, 318 Oak St., was fined $125 and received a 120-day jail sentence Wednesday after pleading guilty to three traffic violations in Municipal Justice Court.

Figlinski was charged with non registration of a car which brought a $25 fine. He also was charged with driving while his driver's license was revoked, which carried a $100 fine and a mandatory 60-day jail sentence.

The final charge was for using a stolen driver's license for which he drew an additional 60 days in jail.

The mandatory 60-day sentence was imposed because it was his second offense for driving after revocation.

Seek Termination of Parental Rights to Toddler

A hearing will be held in Outagamie County Juvenile Court Feb. 17 on a petition requesting termination of parental rights to a newborn infant abandoned in a car in the county hospital parking lot Dec. 13.

The 9:30 a.m. closed hearing was ordered by Judge Raymond P. Dohr, of the Juvenile Court, after a petition was filed by the Outagamie County Department of Social Services.

The infant girl was placed in a "temporary foster home" by the identity of the mother or the county welfare authorities after father.

The legal notice, appearing in today's Post-Crescent classified section, refers to the infant as "Baby Girl X".

The pitfalls lie in the labored, self-conscious and frequently distracting internal rhyme schemes that are all too often developed by translators in the course of adapting new lyrics to the intricacies of the original score.

It's difficult not to sympathize with Robert C. Bird, author of the present version, in his task. It isn't easy to come up with lines like: "Don't recant me, but rather just grant me a heart to enchant me." Or: "I won't complain about your brain if these plans are not in vain."

But they do add to the artificiality of an already artificial evening, and the spontaneous laughter they generate can do violence to the lyricist's intended mood.

On the other hand, nothing could really interfere with the familiar fun of Seville's beloved intriguer, and in its present incarnation, blithely directed by John Koopman (with chorus preparation by Karle Erickson), we have a fast-moving, broadly-acted, attractively mounted and, in the main, well-sung production of Rossini's 19th century classic.

The story, of course, revolves about that sturdy staple of romantic fiction, the sequestered virgin, "protected" from her ardent young lover by an older man with his own, ill-concealed designs on her affections. In the course of it all, youth wins out, of course, and the bawling, paunchy representative of the middle-aged Establishment gets his comeuppance. (Shades of "The Graduate"!)

Koopman's attractive and generally competent student cast is headed by Daniel Foster as the ardent (and romantically acceptable) Count Almaviva; David Varnum as the justifiably worried guardian, Dr. Bartolo; and Fred Schuetze as Figaro, the antic barber whose machinations make the world of love go 'round.

Rosina, Dr. Bartolo's lovely ward, was portrayed on opening night by Carol Jegen, alternating in the role with Susan Noffke. Tom Herman impersonated Don Basilio, the stick-stiff music master; Linda Dagenhardt was Dr. Bartolo's housekeeper, Berta; and Randy Remmel was effective in a number of smaller roles.

As might be expected, not all of the youthful performers are equally gifted both as actors and singers. But by maintaining a brisk tempo, the director has minimized these potential deficiencies, and created an evening of warmth, charm, good humor and good musicianship. "The Barber of Seville" will be repeated at 8 p.m. tonight in Stansbury auditorium of the Lawrence Music-Drama Center.

Private benefit, although some tickets will be sold at the door.

State Sheriffs To Seek Terms Of Four Years

Proposed Legislation Would Put Office on Non-Partisan Basis

HUDSON — The Wisconsin Sheriffs and Deputy Sheriffs Association, at the urging of its outgoing president, Sheriff Calvin Spice of Outagamie County, will seek state legislation allowing election of sheriffs on a non-partisan basis for four-year terms.

Spice, who was succeeded as president by Columbia County Sheriff Vearn Golz, told lawmakers at the organization's mid-winter conference here, that the present two-year limitation on sheriff terms requires almost continual campaigning for re-election.

He also said he did not understand why a "man should lose office because of a political tag hung on him."

The executive board of the state lawmen's association, at a meeting in Superior last October, voted to bring the four-year term, non-partisan election proposal to the entire association membership.

1969 Term

The state association has traditionally favored partisan election of sheriffs.

Some association officers predicted at Superior that the state legislature will be asked to make the election change during the 1969 term.

Some 150 delegates at the winter conferences which ended Thursday approved resolutions urging the naming of a state coordinator of sheriffs departments; a coordinator for the traffic ticket system; and the abolishment of juvenile status for youthful traffic offenders.

The association tentatively set its summer conference for Marinette, but did not pick dates.

Bank Elects Directors at Black Creek

BLACK CREEK—Two new directors were elected and three directors were returned to their posts at the recent annual meeting of the Bank of Black Creek.

Elected to the board were Orville Murphy, 2019 Rankin St., Appleton, and Donald L. Lautenschlager, 2514 N. Owaissa St., Appleton. Lautenschlager also is vice president of Appleton State Bank.

Directors re-elected were Louis Kaphingst, Herman Wussow, Glen Van Straten and Curtis Reed, executive vice president and cashier of the bank. All are from Black Creek.

The resignation of Gilbert Rehen, senior vice president of Appleton State Bank, was accepted. He has been associated with the operation here for the past 15 years.

Drive Over the Top United Fund Officers Elected in Clintonville

CLINTONVILLE — Following the announcement that the 1968 United Fund drive was over the top by $2,638.50, officers were elected at the fund's annual meeting Tuesday night at the junior high school cafeteria.

Mrs. Harold Heuer will serve as president during the coming year. Other officers are Dr. William Krueger, vice president; Mrs. Allen Mahnke, secretary, and D. M. Russell, treasurer.

Elected directors for three year terms were Don Heinisch, Kenneth Spearbraker, Dr. Roger Wilson, William Martens, Glenn Giersbach and Laurel Behnke, outgoing president. A unanimous ballot was cast for the slate presented by Mertens in the absence of Giersbach, chairman of the nominating committee.

The total amount pledged in the 1968 campaign was $20,638 on a goal of $18,000. Of the total, $5,518 is in unpaid payroll deduction pledges.

Fund Allocations

The United Fund allocations for 1968-69 include the Valley Council of Boy Scouts, $3,300; University of Wisconsin Cancer Research, $500; American Red Cross, $3,718; Waupaca County Association for Mental Health, $500; Fox River Area Girl Scouts, $1,800; Salvation Army, $1,000; Children's Service Society, $1,671.17; Local American Field Service, $1,000; U.S.O., $250; Wisconsin Welfare Council, $60; Waupaca County Association for Retarded Children, $1,800; and American Social Health Association, $39. The allocations total $15,638.17.

A motion was passed to amend the by-laws to reduce the board of directors from 15 to 13 members beginning with the 1969-70 year, in addition to the officers. Also passed was a motion that a fund be drawn up by the ad-

Waupaca Chamber Selects President at Annual Meeting

WAUPACA — C. Kenneth Petersen was named president of the Waupaca County Board of Supervisors.

It was pointed out that it would be beneficial to have a full-time secretary at an office because of the large number of inquiries received annually.

The other new officer is Robert Niemuth, vice president. Re-elected were G. H. Stordock, secretary, and Lualyn Gylden-vand, treasurer. New directors named to three-year terms were Ben Krause and Russell Kalms.

Re-elected to another three-year term on the board was Norman Peterson.

The main item of discussion at the business portion of the annual meeting was increasing booth service provided by the size of the information booth located on the courthouse square so that it can be used as a year round office and headquarters for the Chamber of Commerce offices. At present, the Chamber of Commerce has an office at the armory, but most of the work is done from Stordock's home. The information booth is open and staffed only during the summer months.

Full-Time Secretary
One of the proposals was to enlarge the booth to about twice its present size and hire a full-time secretary and maintain offices in the new quarters on a 12 month basis.

Cost of increasing the size of the present building would be between $2,000 and $3,000. Approval of the addition already

16 Fire Runs Made in '68 Weyauwega Chief Lists Department Statistics in Report

WEYAUWEGA — The city fire department made a total of 16 fire runs and answered 7 rescuator calls during the past year, according to the annual report by Wilbur Hinz, fire chief.

There were nine stand-bys with the emergency truck, four false alarms and three for use of the tanker.

Total fire loss of $30,000 was estimated for the year. Largest was the laundromat in the city with damages estimated at $15,000. Two homes in the Town of Royall were destroyed by fire.

A new pumper truck, with a pumping capacity of 750 gallons per minute, and emergency truck were purchased to replace old units. All firemen now have red lights for their cars.

In the city there were five runs, three rescuator calls and three false alarms.

In the southern part of the Town of Royall there were six fire calls, one rescuator call, one false alarm and two for the tanker truck.

Town of Weyauwega had three fire runs and three rescuator calls.

In the eastern half of the Town of Lind there were two fire calls.

A total of 419 inspections of public buildings were conducted in the city and 40 in the towns.

reach a decision on enlarging the booth. Another of the suggestions was to have a high school girl work on a part-time basis to help with the secretarial work.

A change in the constitution was approved increasing the minimum dues from $20 to $25. The added money would be used to construct the addition to the information booth and to aid in paying the additional staff.

Whole County

It was pointed out during the discussion, that many inquiries are received for information about other parts of Waupaca County, and with an increased staff and facilities, services could be provided for many of the other communities of the county.

In other business, Fred Mannel was named to represent the Chain O' Lakes area, replacing Orin Florence, and Merle Pennebecker was renamed to be the rural representative on the board of directors.

At a dinner after the business meeting, Andre' E. LeTendre, Wausau, a vice president of the United Jaycees, told why residents of a small community should be proud of themselves and be an example for the rest of the nation.

Look Ahead

LeTendre told the businessmen that they should not become complacent with what they are doing and not slip backwards but go ahead. "Don't look at the negative side of things, be positive and forge ahead," he said. Waupaca can't expect to keep all of its young people because of the many technical positions the youth of today are training for, but he pointed out that these same people should be encouraged to stay in Wisconsin. "Back your state as well as community," he said.

It also was suggested by LeTendre that merchants of the community attempt to provide the residents with everything so they won't travel to larger cities. "Try to keep as much business as possible at home," he said.

A highlight of the dinner portion of the meeting was the presentation of an "Outstanding Citizens Award" to T.M. "Tom" Karavakis, manager of radio station WDXU. He is a native of Waupaca. Karavakis has been an outstanding resident of the community, but he soon will be leaving the city for Colorado where he and his associates have purchased a radio station.

Bridge Construction Backed by Knowles

Appleton, Valley Projects Top Priority in Program of Transportation Department

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Prospects for the replacement of strategic bridges in the Fox River Valley improved substantially Thursday as Gov. Warren P. Knowles, in his message to state legislators, urged them to approve the bridge bonding program proposed by the State Department of Transportation.

The list of priority bridges released by the department last year includes the Memorial Drive, Oneida Street and Lawe Street bridges in Appleton; Main Street bridge in Oshkosh and the U.S. 10 bridge over the Wolf River at Fremont.

Bridges carrying lower priorities include the two proposed bridges over Little Lake Butte des Morts in the Town of Menasha as part of the Tri-County Expressway system.

Planning Started

Some planning for such structures has been completed so that if the Legislature approves the bonding plan, as is believed likely, the accelerated bridge program could be underway within the year.

Such bond financing would be amortized by future collections of the state highway fund, which are now growing at the rate of 4 to 5 per cent a year. Last year net collections of the segregated fund reached $115 million.

The governor said the state's highway system in general ranks with the best in the nation, but that the state has lagged in bridge replacement on the strategic traffic corridors.

Becoming Unsafe

"Now that the bonding program for accelerated highway construction has been completed," he said, "we must turn our attention to the substantial number of highway bridges which are rapidly becoming unsafe or inadequate for modern traffic loads."

He said a bridge bonding program could correct such deficiencies in "an orderly, prompt and economical manner."

State highway administrators have lamented the lack of a bridge construction fund of significant size for years and last year published the list of pressing bridge replacement needs, totaling millions of dollars.

The existing long-bridge act, under which most of the major bridges in the state are built, only provides $200,000 a year for such construction.

State Sen. Reuben LaFave, R-Oconto, chairman of the senate highway committee, had pushed in the last session of the Legislature to have the funding formula changed before the bonding proposal was made.

Extra Office Aide Asked by Clerk of Courts

Constantly Increasing Work Load Cited By Gloria Johnson

Clerk of Courts Gloria Johnson Thursday told the Outagamie County Board of Supervisors and law enforcement committee she needs at least one more office aide and a copying machine.

Committee members took no action on the request, but they told Miss Johnson they would study the matter. They also told her to look into the cost of a micro-film machine for her office.

Miss Johnson has urged county officials to hire more help for her office almost from the time she was appointed court clerk last fall, replacing Sydney M. Shannon. She won election in November.

Services Suspended

About mid-November, Miss Johnson, citing a lack of help and a major backlog of office work, suspended several services of her clerks in the county's four courts. She reinstated the services a short time later, after a conference with judges and attorneys.

She told the courts and justice committee that with six women in her office, "it is impossible to keep up" with the increasing work load through the courts.

Miss Johnson cited figures showing that in the lower branches of County Court, there were 3,162 more city cases last year than in 1965. County cases increased 460 and state cases increased 1,349, comparisons between 1963 and 1968 revealed, Miss Johnson said.

In the upper branch of court, actions filed in 1960 totaled 255 and in 1968 totaled 935, she said.

Check Passer Jailed, Told To Pay $1,244 Restitution

Probation, a six-month jail term, and restitution totaling $1,244.68 were ordered for a 22-year-old Miles City, Mont., man who earlier this month pleaded guilty of issuing four worthless checks.

Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer first sentenced Gary Gibson to two years in the state reformatory, but then stayed sentence and placed him on probation for two years to the State Department of Health and Social Services.

However, as a condition of probation, Gibson must serve the first six months of the term in jail under Huber Law.

Gibson, who has been in jail without bond pending a presentence investigation, was charged with passing four worthless checks, totaling $55, at Bob

Police Chief Lauds New London Youth

NEW LONDON—Less than one per cent of the youths in the New London area were involved with police last year, according to Police Chief Jack Algiers in his annual report of local department activities.

"The youths of our city have received more than their share of adverse publicity. New London has an enrollment of over 2,500 students and it may interest you to know that less than one per cent of these are police problems. These few problem students have tainted many but, let's look up to the majority with pride," Algiers said in his report.

"National statistics show 14 out of every 100 policemen under present day conditions are assaulted. Last year New London officers were subjected to two such assaults," he continued.

Adequate Protection

Algiers reported at times citizens feel they do not get enough police service. He said besides himself the department has eight policemen and one radio operator. These nine men must be divided into three eight-hour shifts, seven days a week. Days off, vacations and sickness cut into their availability. It is also necessary for a man to be at the desk to answer calls and handle communications.

Algiers also reported on improvements in training for department members.

These included participation in the U.S. Department of Justice federal assistance program under which a "Sight-Sound Filmstrip" training program was obtained; participation in law enforcement agency-sponsored seminars; and a Vocational and Technical Adult Education series.

During 1968 squad cars patrolled 66,181 miles in the city, with one vehicle cruising 51,730 of the miles.

"The department initiated a daily vacant house checking program to improve community service and 140 homes were checked during the year," the chief stated.

1,286 Complaints

The department received 1,286 complaints during the year. These included: auto theft, 10; burglary, 23; fraud, 22; miscellaneous serious offenses, 48; sex offenses, 3; shop lifting, 14; theft, 63; and vandalism, 103.

Department personnel also performed 2,056 miscellaneous services during the year. Included were 49 blood runs for Community Hospital, 90 funeral escorts, 2 miscellaneous escorts, 133 assistances to other departments, and 1,304 unclassified public services.

A total of 429 arrests were made. Arrests for traffic violations accounted for 265 of these, while 123 were for criminal offenses, and 41 on miscellaneous charges.

Criminal arrests included unlawful removal of property, 54; unlawful damage to property, 34; burglary, 18; issuing worthless checks, 9; and auto theft, 8.

Steffens Won't Run For Judicial Post

NEENAH-MENASHA — Competition for the new Winnebago-Calumet County Circuit Court judgeship dwindled Thursday from a three-way to a two-way race with one expected candidate announcing he has decided against running while another filed nomination papers.

City Atty. Richard Steffens, Menasha, said he had dropped plans to run after deciding his duty was to remain available to defend the city's Banta and Schwarzbauer annexations in the state supreme court.

Meanwhile, Winnebago County Corporation Counsel Gerald Engeldinger, 35, Neenah, announced he has filed nomination papers with the secretary of state in Madison.

Engeldinger becomes the first candidate officially in the race. Still circulating papers is Edmund P. Arpin, 45, also of Neenah, a Circuit Court commissioner and private attorney.

Engeldinger was Winnebago County district attorney prior to being appointed to his present post as counsel to the county board.

Steffens, who served two terms in the state Assembly from 1946 to 1950, said he had intended since last fall to seek the newly-created post.

Town Challenge

His decision against running, he said, was made on Saturday when he received notice the

Architect Hired For Proposed School Building

Site Sought for Joint Wittenberg, Birnamwood Facility

WITTENBERG — The school board voted unanimously Monday to employ R. W. Surplice Architects, Inc., Green Bay to design a proposed high school for the combined Wittenberg-Birnamwood district.

The board will invite Surplice to a board meeting Monday at the Birnamwood High School to discuss plans.

The school board also votes to purchase an option on property known as the Mission Site on the west edge of the village here.

The board will contact Joe H. A.stad, superintendent of Homme Home for Boys, Lutheran Social Services, Milwaukee and officials of the American Lutheran Church, Minneapolis, for release of the property.

Although a date has not been set, a public meeting will be conducted to allow electors to act on the site recommendation. After the meeting a referendum will approve or deny the recommendations on financing the program.

The proposed school will house from 500 to 600 students. In accordance with state specifications the school must be from 90,000 to 100,000 square feet, allowing 150 square feet per student.

Board members have visited schools at Tomah, Athens and Marshfield to observe features which may be incorporated into the design.

Flexible modular scheduling has been considered. Under the system, 20 12-minute time modules are combined to form class periods. Open design is needed to institute the system.

NEW Cagers To See Action

Bonduel Hits Road To Winless Bay Port; Pulaski at Seymour

NORTHEASTERN WISCONSIN CONFERENCE
	W	L	Pct.
Oconto Falls	9	0	1.000
Kewaunee	7	2	.778
Sturgeon Bay	7	2	.778
Oconto	4	5	.444
Algoma	4	5	.444

Tonight's Games:
Bonduel at Bay Port.
Pulaski at Seymour.
Sturgeon Bay at West De Pere.
Kewaunee at De Pere.
Oconto at Ashwaubenon.
Oconto Falls at Oconto.

Bonduel tries to regain the .500 mark, while Seymour seeks to halt a 2-game losing streak in Northeastern Wisconsin Conference basketball action tonight.

The Bears, 4-5 after splitting a pair of games last weekend, take on one of the loop's two hapless teams, Bay Port, on the Pirates' floor. Port, like Ashwaubenon, has yet to win a conference outing in nine starts.

The Indians, meantime, will have the home court advantage against Pulaski. With twin setbacks last week, Seymour's record slipped to 3-6. Pulaski, too, will be looking to shrug off a pair of losses it incurred recently.

In the circuit's major attraction, front-running West De Pere places its 9-game winning skein on the line at home against Sturgeon Bay. The Clippers are currently tied with Kewaunee for third place, two games off the pace with a 7-2 mark.

Elsewhere around the loop, once-beaten Oconto Falls has a road test at Oconto, and Algoma visits Ashwaubenon.

Breather?
Bonduel should have little trouble notching its second win over Bay Port, unless the Pirates can suddenly reverse their past form. The Bruins stormed to an easy 86-50 triumph the first time the teams met at Bonduel.

On the other hand, Seymour may have considerably more difficulty in getting past Pulaski. The Raiders, in fact, won on their own hardwood the first round by a 55-53 count.

In last weekend's double round of play, Bonduel topped Algoma, 75-60, but then fell before Kewaunee, 65-55. Seymour suffered successive 74-61 and 72-59 defeats to Kewaunee and West De Pere, respectively.

John Dussling, who is third in NEW scoring with an 18.0 average and rates first in rebounding, along with teammate Bob Swanson tossed in 35 points each in the two Bonduel contests.

Bob Tremi hit 34 points and Pete King 33 in the Seymour losses.

Tax Collection Hours Set in Town of Maine

LEEMAN — Taxes for the Town of Maine will be collected from 2 to 8 p.m. each Friday during January and each Monday during February at the town hall.

Deadline for personal property postponed-payment taxes is Jan. 31. The balance of the taxes are due July 31.

Bonding Referendum Scheduled

School Needs Outlined During Sherwood Informational Meeting

SHERWOOD — Needs for the proposed northside elementary school in Kaukauna and its price tag were explained here this week to district electors by members of the board of education, in an effort to improve communications with the outlying area.

A district-wide referendum is scheduled Tuesday on the $1.5 bonding issue.

It was explained that the new school not be built for two years was circulated only in the city and involved only those electors last April and was not the responsibility of the board or city officials, but a "family affair".

Classrooms Rented

Seven classrooms are presently being rented from three church groups and 12 of the planned 18 classrooms in the new school could be filled now to relieve the overcrowding in others. No art or music rooms are available at Park, Nicolet or Harrison schools. Supplies and pianos are moved from classroom to classroom. The pupil-teacher ratio is 27.6 and is expected to rise next year.

Figures given for the construction amounted to $1,124,938, including $721,881, general construction; $183,500, heating, and ventilating; $72,750, plumbing; $105,700, electrical; $16,207, kitchen estimate; $24,900, painting.

Additional costs given were an estimated $135,000 for equipment including, furniture, carpeting, gym, library, bleachers, visual aids, custodial and outdoor equipment; $10,527 for art room cabinetry; $983, soundings and borings; $164, advertising for bids; $23,385, change orders; $71,557, architect's fees; $10,000 kitchen expansion-high school; $782, topographic survey; $1,600 site utilization and grade plan; $1,900 preparation of specifications for earthwork and playgrounds.

Cost Estimates
Other cost estimates were $8,497, asphalt paving; $9,160, steel fencing; $328, nature study area; $8,870, finish grading within architect's area; $16,687, athletic field and north ball field; $6,510 seeding and fertilizing; $2,500 trees and shrubs; $2,988 storm sewer assessments; $10,213 sanitary-sewer assessments; $5,965, water main assessments; $5,589, grade and gravel street assessments; $22,370 concrete street and walks assessments and $2,000 insurance during construction.

In addition to the 18 academic classrooms the facility will have two kindergarten rooms; art, music and instructional material center and features the open concept design.

"We have been told there are too many frills," Victor Haen, who served as chairman said, "Maybe this depends on what you call frills" adding that the $27,000 price for carpeting was less than $28,500 for vinyl floors and walls, which had been eliminated in the design.

Structure Explained
Architect George Narvoic explained the open concept structure, and noted that the building also contained a maintenance section with garage for district vehicles being used by other schools.

Kitchen costs included a large cold storage unit. Meals would be transported from the main kitchen at the high school and served in the multi-purpose room.

The large expenses for the site improvement were overthrown by the $1,000 an acre price for land it was explained. Board members stated the site had been selected with the aid of the Council of Governments (COG) and the school planned at the pupil population center.

The $1.5 facility is for 650 pupils kindergarten through sixth grade.

Compared Costs
Several questioned the costs compared with other schools in the area. The question was clarified by the architect who said it was impossible to compare figures as so many things enter into the picture. Others felt parochial schools were being built for less and the architect pointed out that private schools do not have to meet requirements set by the State Department of Instruction, only the State Industrial Commission.

Renting additional facilities seemed out of the question the official said, noting that all parochial schools in the district were full and other buildings which would meet standards were not available.

Asked what would happen if the parochial school in Sherwood closed, as had been suggested by 1972, board members answered that as other districts were involved not all pupils would enter the Kaukauna system and there would be the possibility of renting the parochial plant.

Enrollments were constantly increasing they said due to persons moving into the area. The new school would serve pupils mainly from the Town of Vanden Brook, Little Chute and Town of Kaukauna, "for about 20 years."

Aid Variances
Variances in aids received by districts also was touched on giving taxpayers insight into the rates paid to their school district and it also was noted that the parochial school bus bill added $27,000 to the school budget. Services are also provided to parochial pupils. "We're not objecting, just explaining it," an official said.

Last week several members of Sherwood village board toured all the facilities in the Kaukauna system and verified that all rooms were full. Clarence Zahring, village president, is now the village's representatives on the fiscal control board.

The session attended by about 50 taxpayers from the Sherwood-Hollandtown area brought with it a request for more informational type meetings with the board, not only to discuss plans but other matters of interest to the rural electors "to improve communications." A once-a-year session was agreed.

Second Contest Develops for Waupaca Council

WAUPACA — A second aldermanic race developed in Waupaca when Francis Vergaunen, 1219 E. Royaltown St., and James Stephens, Sixth Street, took out nomination papers for the 2nd Ward aldermanship. Incumbent Leo Martin has not taken out papers but he will not confirm rumors that he will not seek reelection.

The other aldermanic race is in the 1st Ward where Henry Leffin Jr. is opposing incumbent Edsel Huntoon. Both Leffin and Huntoon have already filed their papers with City Clerk Harriet T. Ward. Duncan Campbell, who is unopposed in the 3rd Ward, is the only other candidate to have filed papers.

Other incumbents who are still unopposed are 4th Ward Ald. Robert Bergman and 5th Ward Ald. Stanley Salter. Both have taken out nomination papers.

The deadline for filing completed papers with the city clerk is 5 p.m., Jan. 28.

Wittenberg Church Presents $22,259 Budget Proposal

WITTENBERG — A budget of $22,259 was proposed Sunday at the annual meeting of the Redeemer Lutheran Congregation.

The proposal is a $1,915 boost from last year's budget. Increases were for the pastor's salary, supplies and the general repair and upkeep of the College Avenue and the Vinal Street churches.

Pastors Report
The pastors report listed 18 new members joining through baptism; 11 through confirmation; 12 by letters of transfer; and a loss of 22 members by letter of transfer. The congregation consists of 621 baptized members and 445 confirmed members.

A slate of new officers was presented by chairman of the nominating committee Robert Alberg.

Morris Nelson was elected congregation president to succeed Carl Larsen who served the past 5½ years. Trustees elected were Ervin Laude, Ray Block and Earl Peterson. Deacons elected were Albertine Benson, Mrs. Carl Larsen, Willis Blake, and Chester Tellock. New board of education members are Richard Swanson and Mrs. Amy Hoffman. Mrs. Allen Wendt has been named financial secretary to succeed Mrs. Willard Hartleben.

Church Finances
A proposal was made that a drive for additional funds be conducted for the next two Sundays, because of existing debts of 1968.

Only Two Incumbents Circulate Papers in Village of Hilbert

HILBERT — Only incumbents Joseph Anheier, assessor and Ralph Koffarnus, trustee, are circulating nomination papers in the Village of Hilbert.

Others whose terms expire are Orville Manz, president and Clarence Hemauer and Clarence Stengel, trustees.

Deadline for filing papers is 5 p.m. Jan. 28.

New London Boat Dealer Arraigned In Waupaca Court

WAUPACA — Elmer C. Beyer, 43, route 3, New London, owner of a New London boat sales firm was arraigned, Wednesday in Municipal Justice Court on a charge of possession of stolen property.

Beyer was bound over to County Court for trial and a preliminary hearing was set for 10 a.m. Jan. 31. He has been released on a $5,000 property bond.

Beyer was ordered to appear in court after two New London men admitted that they had stolen a boat, motor and trailer in Hastings, Minn. and Beyer now had possession of the equipment.

Waupaca County authorities confiscated the boat, motor and trailer from a New London area barn prior to Beyer's arrest. They were valued at $700 and were taken from Minnesota prior to Oct. 1, 1968.

Including G. G. Bloomer, Edgar Daun, Clem Ecker, Dr. John Knaut, Clifford Mayer and Alfred Schumacher.

The directors re-elected were Bloomer, president; Schumacher, vice president; Emil W. Kufahl, cashier and Mrs. Norbert Gilles Jr., assistant cashier.

Soaring Cost, Demand Face All Phases of Transportation

Transportation demands and rising costs in the next decade are the most important things facing all phases of transportation in Wisconsin.

That was the summation of the 56th Mid-Winter Highway Conference Thursday by William E. Redmond, chairman of the State Division of Highways, at the conclusion of the three-day session.

The address of G. H. Bakke, secretary of the Wisconsin Department of Transportation, was singled out by Redmond as the highlight of the conference.

Bakke said that transportation demands will double in Wisconsin in the next 10 years and that 30 per cent of the demand will be on highways. He stressed the importance of planning to meet these needs.

Labor Disputes
Another major item at the conference was a mass discussion on highway personnel labor disputes. A committee was named which will meet soon in Madison to study the over-all picture.

"Another major item," Redmond said, "was the word from Gov. Warren P. Knowles and Lt. Gov. Jack Olson that they are behind efforts to get bonding for bridges at this session of the Legislature. Our department has met with the chief executive and we are putting all our eggs in one basket at this session and

Nichols Man Found Guilty In Rape Case

No Contest Plea Entered in Assault On Young Mother

James L. Mory, 25, Nichols, Thursday afternoon pleaded no contest and was found guilty of the attempted rape of a young mother near her home Sept. 24.

Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer ordered Mory committed to the State Department of Health and Social Services for not more than 60 days for a social, mental and physical examination at the sex deviate center at Waupun. No date was set for further court proceedings.

Maximum sentence for attempted rape is 15 years, Schaefer told Mory.

Testimony introduced at a Sept. 28 hearing before Schaefer was accepted as evidence following the no contest plea.

Mory was taken into custody by Appleton police shortly after he attacked a 33-year-old woman near her northside home about 3 a.m. Sept. 24.

The Nichols man has been free on bond while undergoing psychiatric examination.

Calumet Fines Three $45 for Game Violations

CHILTON — Three persons were fined a total of $45 for conservation violations when they appeared Monday in Calumet County Court before Judge D. H. Sebora.

Michael J. Alsteen, 24, Green Bay, who was arrested Nov. 22 in the Town of Brothertown, was fined $25 for having loaded shotshells with single slugs not in deer season.

Orville E. York, 59, Waukesha, and Alois Ziselsberger, 37, Chilton, were fined $10 each. They were arrested in the Town of Brothertown on Jan. 11 for fishing with more than three lines.

The summer meeting of the highway conference will be at Egg Harbor in June.

Jaycettes to Man Brillion CP Center

Pledge Headquarters, Fish-Pond, Planned At Kloehn Company

BRILLION — Jaycettes here have established a pledge center at the Kloehn Electric and Auto Co. for the annual cerebral palsy fund drive Saturday and Sunday.

Businessmen have donated novelties to be distributed to youngsters who visit the fish-pond at the center between 10 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. Sunday, according to Mrs. Charles Miller Jr., chairman.

Clowns, a local combo and Cheryl Geiger, a Packer Golden Girl from Brillion, will appear Sunday afternoon at the pledge center. She will perform a fire-baton-twirling act.

Mrs. Ronald Schultz is in charge of the telephones at the pledge center. Jaycettes will accept telephone calls at the center from 10 p.m. Saturday to 6 p.m. Sunday.

Pledges made through local calls and the fish pond last year netted $739.

Mrs. Thomas Goddard is in charge of business solicitations.

Brillion Recreation

Complex Plans Move Ahead

BRILLION — The community recreation center progress report presented at a special city council session here Wednesday indicated that industrial commission and board of health requirements are being handled by Jeff Nichols of Nichols and Barone Architects, Green Bay.

This and other detailed preliminary work is being stepped up to assure the April groundbreaking. Advertising for bids is currently being conducted, and they will be opened at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 26. Soil tests at the site were made this week.

Included in the recreation complex are a seven-lane olympic swimming pool, a diving pool, and an isolated wading pool. The entire area will accommodate 350 swimmers, according to state board of health capacity restrictions. An adjacent glassed-off outdoor sunning area is featured for swimmers.

Meeting Rooms
Meeting rooms that can be subdivided will accommodate Scouting sessions and furnish storage space while adjacent rooms will handle 29 to 30-member club meetings. Kitchen facilities are included.

A multi-purpose room on the second floor, above the meeting rooms, will provide space for dancing, volleyball and other gym activities, dramatics, movies or banquets.

The one-story youth center will accommodate about 200. A snack bar, tables, ping-pong, pool and card games will be provided.

Judge to Speak To PTA Clubs At Clintonville
CLINTONVILLE — Judge Robert W. Dean, Marathon County Court, will speak at a joint Parent-Teacher meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Junior High School auditorium.

This includes PTA members from the senior high, junior high, Rexford, Dellwood, Embarras, St. Martin and St. Rose schools. Mothers' Clubs from all the kindergarten classes may also attend.

Tax Bills Sent in Waupaca Portion Of New London

NEW LONDON — Waupaca County residents in the city have received tax notices totaling $572,874.70 according to George B. Groher, assessor-treasurer.

Property taxes after deduction of state credits amounted to $562,541 and special assessments were $10,333.

Residents of Outagamie County living in New London received their tax notices about 10 days ago. All notices were prepared by the Outagamie County Clerk's office for the first time and some problems arose with the new accounting machines resulting in a delay.

G.K. Anderson Files Papers For Judgeship

Ex-Waupaca County Assemblyman Seeks New Branch 2 Post

WAUPACA — G. K. Anderson, a Manawa attorney and former Waupaca County assemblyman, filed his nomination papers Wednesday with County Clerk Robert Backer for the judgeship of the newly-created Waupaca County Court Branch 2.

Nathan Wiese, a Clintonville attorney and municipal justice also has announced he will be a candidate for the judgeship and is circulating nomination papers but has not yet filed with the county clerk.

If there are no other candidates, there will not be a March primary and they will oppose each other in the regular April election. The deadline for filing is Jan. 28.

The successful candidate will assume the judgeship July 1. He will handle many of the cases now being processed by Municipal Justice George Whalen who is planning retirement shortly after the new court is established.

Tentative plans also call for the Branch judge to hold regular office hours on a one-day-a-week basis in New London and Clintonville as well as regular hours in Waupaca.

New London Jaycees 15-Point Rally Wins Over Pacelli, 46-45

NEW LONDON — A 15-point rally in the final period earned the Bulldogs jayvees a narrow, 46-45, decision Tuesday over Stevens Point Pacelli.

Roger Steingraber topped the Bulldogs scoring with 12 points, but received ample help from Bobby Brown and Calvin Hand-schke with 10 points each.

Jimi Lila and Leroy Gledowski paced Pacelli with 15 and 11 points respectively.

Pacelli led 26-20 at the intermission and maintained a 37-31 edge going into the final period.

More State Funds Needed to Support Parochial Busing

Neenah Man Says Non-Education Items Shouldn't be in Budgets

MILWAUKEE (AP) — School districts need prompt financial assistance to handle the increased cost of providing bus transportation for parochial school students, the Wisconsin Association of School Boards was told Thursday.

"Education is getting the black eye out of the increased costs of things that aren't really education," said James Clark, business manager for the consolidated Neenah school district.

Clark was a member of a panel which discussed school problems during the association's convention.

He suggested that such auxiliary services as bus transportation and free lunches be removed from school districts' budgets.

Change Financing

George Hnilicka, director of the Racine consolidated school district's special services, said delegates to the association convention should urge a change in the financing of the school bus program.

He said that because of longer bus routes, his district's average cost of transportation per pupil increased from $30 to $45 in the two years since Wisconsin voters approved—in a referendum—a decision to have public school districts help provide transportation for parochial school youngsters.

Donald Siegfried, business manager for a suburban Milwaukee school district, said the State Supreme Court has been asked for decisions which could obligate school districts to provide even more bus services for private schools.

'Costly, Inefficient'

Hnilicka said the referendum led to "an expensive, inefficient operation" of bus facilities, and that the state should be willing to help with the added expenses.

A co-operative service agency, he said, would provide more efficiency than having individual districts administer individual bus routes.

Siegfried said an option of the new law, allowing private school students to decide which nearby public school they might want to attend, is responsible for having expanded his district's transportation responsibility.

His district, he said, is appealing a Circuit Court ruling which, if it stands, would make his district's responsibility almost limitless.

Losing Favor

Clark said the financial impact of the referendum decision has been so hard on school district budgets that many legislators and voters may be changing their minds about the wisdom of it, and that a reconsideration of the new law may be in order.

Another question about school budget problems was outlined Thursday by Richard P. Gousha, superintendent of Milwaukee schools.

Gousha said Wisconsin appears to have gotten itself in a position of providing a disproportionate amount of money for higher education at the expense of elementary education.

His comments had been pre-

Charge Reduced; Motorist Guilty of Reckless Driving

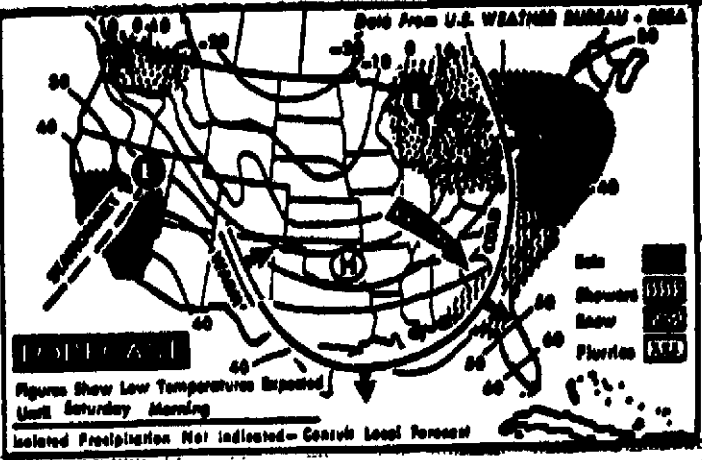

Robert W. Crook, 29, 1350 W. Commercial St., who was charged by state police with driving under the influence, was found guilty Thursday of reckless driving.

Not Really a Comedy, Though Wildly Funny

BY DAVID F. WAGNER

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

It wouldn't be quite accurate to call Robert Anderson's "You Know I Can't Hear You When the Water's Running" a comedy, although it is wildly funny. It is more a collection of four one-acts — three funny and one quite tender — each dealing with subjects related to sex.

Whatever the classification for the play (s), it (they) is (are) an enjoyable night's entertainment, and the road show version which appeared Thursday night at Appleton High School West auditorium was generally quite capable.

Imogene Coca was the name star of this production, but it was her husband, King Donovan, who had most of the choice parts.

First Play

The first one-act, "The Shock of Recognition," deals with an attempt by well-known playwright Jack Barnstable to force his producer, Herb Miller, to include a scene in his latest play of a naked man emerging from a bathroom, "toothbrush in hand," to remind his wife, "you know I can't hear you when the water's running."

When Barnstable, played by Rand Mitchell, says "naked," he means absolutely — and the repercussions result in some hearty laughs for the audience. Producer Miller (Sherman Lloyd) tries to dissuade Barnstable by embarrassing his secretary, Dorothy (Kaie Hefflin), and having little-known, long-suffering actor, Richard Pawling (Donovan), "audition" for the role. The results are predictably hilarious.

The only reservations about the first segment was the acting. Mitchell was stilted throughout and both Lloyd and Miss Hefflin must have been hard to hear in the rear sections of the well-populated hall. Fortunately, Donovan's port r a y was strong enough to lift the one-act to an agreeable level.

Part Two

"The Footsteps of Doves," part two, considered the 20-years-married couple who was at odds whether "old 54," their 4½-foot wide double bed, should be discarded and two twin beds purchased. From a practical standpoint — the wife's back and preferences for different mattress firmnesses — it seemed a sensible move, but Donovan, as George, had several romantic reasons why it was a poor

Kaukauna Asks Authority to Fix Pipe Under Canal

KAUKAUNA — The board of public works has applied for a permit from the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers to replace an eight-inch sewer pipe east of the fourth lock here.

The board said the pipe was found to be faulty just after the mavigation season closed in the fall. Workmen at the locks reported effluents in the canal and investigation disclosed the eight-inch pipe had deteriorated.

Plans call for the installation of a 15-inch submarine sewer pipe buried a minimum of three feet below the canal bed and protected by a 12-inch concrete cap.

Extended Bus Service Okayed for Kaukauna

MADISON — The Kaukauna Bus Service, Inc., route 3, Kaukauna, has been granted temporary permission by the state Public Service Commission to expand operations to urban Kaukauna, the Village of Little Chute and Town of Grand Chute.

Electric Utility Plans $3 Million Substation Unit

MADISON — The Wisconsin Public Service Corporation proposes to build a $3,764,118 stepdown substation at its Kaukauna nuclear plant site, it has advised the state Public Service Commission.

The corporation proposes to increase the capacity of its line between the East Krok and the Shoto substations.

Completion is planned in 1971. The financing will be through short term bank loans which will later be replaced by permanent securities. The project is intended to provide the required outlets for power generated at the Kaukauna nuclear unit No. 1 after its expected in-service date of June 1972.

Proposed Legislation Would Raise Speed Limits for Trucks

MADISON — The long-standing speed limit of 45 miles per hour for commercial trucks and truck combinations would be raised to 55 m.p.h. under a bill introduced into the Legislature by the joint legislative council.

Sponsorship by the council usually gives a proposal considerable weight.

The liberalization would not apply to motor busses.

The present 45 mile an hour limit applies to commercial vehicles of 10,000 pounds gross weight or more.

Chances Slim for Increase In School Aids, Boards Told

Current Appropriations Probably Won't Meet Obligation, Kahl Says

Special to The Post-Crescent

MILWAUKEE — A not-too-optimistic picture was painted this morning on chances of adequate increased state and federal aids to relieve the growing Wisconsin public school financial crisis.

William C. Kahl, state superintendent of schools, told the closing session of the Wisconsin Association of School Boards (WASB) that the current appropriation for elementary and secondary schools apparently will be about $21 million short.

"If additional funds are not provided, aid payments to local school districts will have to be prorated at approximately 86 per cent," he said.

Federal Help Unlikely

Sixth Dist. Rep. William Steiger, R-Oshkosh, told convention delegates that it's unlikely there will be any increased federal aid to schools in the next few years.

"There are just too many demands on the federal treasury," he said.

However, Kahl and Steiger expressed some hope and offered possible solutions.

Kahl outlined his proposed changes in the school aids formula which would add $95 million to be distributed to local school districts. The Tarr task force has recommended a formula change which, as chairman Dr. Curtis Tarr put it Wednesday night, "the state can afford."

Dollar Pressure

Kahl indicated that objection to his proposal, as well to any plan to help school financial woes, "is the increasing dollar pressure that it places upon the resources of the state."

But if the state gives no help in the next biennium, he warned "we have no alternative except rapidly increasing property taxes to pay for the costs of education or reduction in the quantity and quality of the programs we provide for our children."

He discarded the latter as inconsistent with past practices.

His department budget, he said, "seeks a realistic commitment by the Legislature and the people of this state." His formula change proposal will continue elementary education "without placing undue hardship burden upon the local property tax base," he said.

Unique Position

He pointed out that 30 per cent of the state's population attend secondary and elementary schools and that "education is in the unique position of being the critical prerequisite for much of our society's progress."

Steiger said the only immediate federal action that appears realistic is combining existing programs.

"I think if we can consolidate existing programs and make them more efficient and effective, then it would seem possible to begin to move toward more general types of assistance as these special programs become an accepted part of the educational system."

Currently, federal funds provide little support toward the total cost of elementary and secondary education, and funds granted are for remedial and enrichment programs over and above the normal operating costs.

Not the Solution

The federal government is not going to put billions of dollars more into education, Steiger said. This will not solve the problem.

Instead, he urged, communities will have to work it out locally, with school administrators, local government officials, teachers and parents putting their heads together.

Steiger, however, noted he would like to see the federal aid formula changes so it reflects the total school-age population and income levels, instead of only the latter.

He also said comprehensive solutions must be found, noting this appears to be the direction being taken by President Richard M. Nixon.

Six Candidates Seek Nomination In Buchanan

DARBOY — Nomination papers have been taken out for six of the seven Town of Buchanan posts to be filled in the April 1 election, according to Clarence Wundrow, town clerk.

Candidates must file completed papers with the clerk by 5 p.m. Jan. 28.

Incumbent officers who have taken out papers include Joseph DeBruin, chairman; Harry Van Roy and Richard Killian, supervisors; Cyril Klister, treasurer, and Wundrow.

Mrs. Donald Gerhartz has taken out papers for assessor.

Ewald Ring, the incumbent assessor will not seek re-election. There has not been any papers taken out for constable.

Business Leaders In Valley Join UWGB Talks

Corporation executives from the Fox Valley will join those from New York and Illinois Saturday noon for the first meeting of the business advisory committee of the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay.

Another Look at the Sentinel System

One of the major problems facing President Nixon and his Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird is what to do about the Sentinel "thin" antiballistic missile system which former President Johnson authorized last year.

It was suspected that at least part of the reason for the authorization was to pull possible Republican campaign teeth of charges of a missile gap similar to that successfully, if erroneously, charged by John F. Kennedy in the 1960 campaign. President Nixon also said last fall that "we have a serious missile gap" but he didn't make a big issue of it. Former Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford has recently pointed to a considerable increase in Russia's missile strength. President Nixon and Secretary Laird have emphasized that we must deal from a position of strength in any disarmament talks with the Soviet Union.

The proposed system is supposed to be protection against a missile attack, not from the Soviet Union, however, but from Red China. This is supposed to cost only about $5 billion. Estimates of a system that would be worth anything against Soviet missiles range all the way from $50 billion to $200 billion. There seems little doubt but that the Russians would then bolster their anti-missile system as well and another arms race would be under way that would make those of the past seem like mere penny pinching affairs.

We agree with President Nixon that we must remain strong while we keep trying to create an atmosphere in the world where peace can thrive and "the world will be safe for mankind." But is there really any such thing as negotiating from a position of arms superiority between two nations which already possess the ability to destroy each other?

The history of all military arms has demonstrated that a new one is devised almost as soon as protection against an old one is perfected. There is little security anymore in being ahead in that brief period of time. While we once felt the need of missile bases in Turkey, for instance, they became outmoded in only a short time both as the Russians built safeguards against them and our Polaris submarines were deployed. Several scientists have predicted that by the time we have spent those $5 billion over a five year period for the Sentinel system, the Chinese will have discovered a way around it. One presidential scientific adviser, Jerome Wiesner, has flatly said that "I think we ought to regard the Sentinel as a bad joke perpetrated by Mr. McNamara and Mr. Johnson on us in an election year."

There is some hope coming from the Kremlin because the Russians have apparently also discovered how much such a system would cost. If cutting back on armaments, or at least not creating new ones, acts in the interests of the Soviet Union as well as the United States, we don't have to worry so much about trusting the Communists.

More and more it is becoming apparent that something other than a military solution is essential if our civilization is not to be destroyed either by nuclear holocaust or chaos within. We hope President Nixon will bear out his words both at the nominating convention and his inauguration that the era of confrontation is becoming one instead of negotiation. A review of the Sentinel system is a good place to start.

Hail the Hydrant Hunters!

Hats off to the fire hydrant hunters! Those concerned citizens of Appleton who responded to the recent plea of city officials to help remove the snow cover from an estimated 1,400 curbside fixtures are to be congratulated.

Needless to say, they performed a valuable community and neighborhood service during time of emergency when huge piles of snow completely buried hydrants from sight.

Boy Scouts and other groups, and scores of private citizens who pitched in and shoveled out hydrants, are deserving of a big "thank you" from an appreciative community.

And just in case Ol' Man Winter decides to keep the snow coming, we add this postscript to you volunteer hydrant hunters: Keep up the good work!

Japan Wants the Kuriles Too

In its quiet drive to regain stature in Asia, lost in defeat in World War II, Japan is now asking that the Soviet Union return to Japanese control the southern Kurile Islands and a few more small islands in the same area north of Hokkaido.

The return of Okinawa to complete Japanese jurisdiction is much more of an issue among the Japanese and this may possibly be one reason why the Japanese Government is now seeking the return of the Kuriles as well. The United States has agreed to turning over Okinawa eventually to Japan and acknowledges that it is a part of Japan. So far the Soviet Union has refused to do the same as far as the Kuriles are concerned. Since a considerable part of the Japanese demonstrations against American imperialism comes from the Far Left if not actual Communist influence, the Japanese officials can point out the inconsistency and questionable motives of Japanese students who make a big whoop and hurrah about Okinawa but are quite mum about the Kuriles.

The Japanese Ambassador to Moscow, Toru Nakagaya, recently returned to Tokyo and reported on his efforts to negotiate the return of the northern islands to Japan. Since the Ambassador, had just made a similar report concerning Okinawa and other Ryukus Islands, it seems obvious that Japanese leaders want to tie the two requests together.

The Russians have pointed out that Japan renounced all claims to the Kuriles and southern Sakhalin when they signed the San Francisco peace treaty ending World War II. But the Japanese retort that the Soviet Union did not sign the treaty.

Whatever the attitudes of Japanese students, the problems of Japanese fishermen may put renewed emphasis upon the Japanese claims to the Kuriles. Fishing boats sail into waters claimed by the Soviets a very short distance north of Hokkaido and Russia has seized more than 1,200 Japanese fishing boats and arrested more than 10,000 Japanese fisherman on charges of territorial waters violations. It's been suggested that the Japanese Government propose a fishing fee to be paid to the Russians but opponents argue that this would be tantamount to accepting the Russian claims to the islands.

The Japanese remarkable recovery from the chaos that followed World War II has made it the third largest industrial nation in the world and clearly the most important country in Asia. With its growing economic strength it is bound to have considerable influence. But its leaders and people have not yet resolved their conflict between their constitutional prohibition on military forces and the threats of armed aggression in the turbulent waters of the Pacific.

Crescent Lauds Lecture, Speaker

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Jan. 16, 1869.

We were well entertained at Cleman's Corners with a lecture by W. Jones, of Neenah, delivered on the 4th of January, on Education.

It was discussed from the physical, intellectual and moral aspects.

We freely commend the lecture to public attention, and advise lyceums and literary associations to arrange with Mr. Jones to secure the delivery of this able and useful lecture on the proper mode and manner of educating children and youth of our nation.

We do not hesitate to say, as a writer and speaker, that Mr. Jones excels as a speaker and is better than most of our lecturers.

This lecture is well adapted to interest and benefit all classes, and to correct the lax indulgences and ruinous habits of our age.

Taylor Writes
It's Put-Up or Shut-Up Time Now;
Johnson Budget Is Place to Start

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

President Johnson prepared a $195.3 billion budget and now President Nixon — and the taxpayers — are stuck with it. In the same tiresome words he used in previous years, the outgoing President said there would be a surplus. But it never works out that way. This so-called budget just grabs at our money like a starved man at the sound of a steak sizzling in the pan.

What happened to President Johnson's famous "under $100 billion" budget? That was only as long ago as 1965. Here's a $95.3 billion difference in just four years. That's ridiculous, on the face of it — and so are the deficits. We pay them, and the millions of dollars in daily interest on the debts. This interest alone costs us more than six times as much as our people's annual clothing bill. But the Washington windbag boys prefer to be irresponsible — it's easier — and show no more concern for who foots the bill than for the tortoises of Aldabra in the Indian Ocean.

Mr. Johnson proposed increased Social Security taxes, shared by employers and employees alike. Well, already Social Security has gone up about 300 per cent since it was instituted, and this increase has been nearly twice as much as the increased benefits payable from the taxes. What we're really being hit with is increased Social Security taxes without equivalently increased benefits. But who would know it?

Look at Medicare, bound up in enough red tape to wrap a mummy. Even with its loopholes, exclusions, delays, bureaucracy and all, it costs us today about double the estimated cost originally stated by Washington.

Like Fort Knox, our actual Social Security deposits are gone with the wind. These do not go into a sacrosanct trust as millions think. When we send them they are merely shoveled into the general fund of the Treasury and spent. The cash thus borrowed from us is spent and is replaced with government bonds, i.e., IOUs. Meanwhile, the House payroll had gone up 84 per cent in the past seven years. And, even before their last mighty boost, the Congressmen have been steadily raising their own salaries, voting themselves their own self-protection against the inflation the over-spending pumps into our costs of living.

A Congress so busy boosting its pay may be too busy to tear this latest so-called budget to pieces. But the 91st Congress — so full of promises during the campaign — should bear from the taxpayers' peasants with an instant roar.

Every place I go in the country the people are sick and tired of officeholders who say they'll do one thing and do another. This is put-up-or-shut-up time and the so-called budget is the place to start.

People's Forum

Kaukauna School Facility Badly Needed

Editor, The Post-Crescent:

Normally, I do not become overly concerned with such issues as the upcoming school bond referendum in Kaukauna except to ascertain the facts and then go and vote. However, this particular issue has given rise to many rumors most of which tend to discredit the need for a new elementary school. As always, perplexing questions arise. What is the truth? Who am I to believe?

Mayor Gilbert Anderson, in a speech printed in The Kaukauna Times of Friday, January 17, stated, "The school building program contemplated for this year will again face a referendum. The mandate which our council and city government had from the people of the City of Kaukauna in last year's referendum was to proceed with the building of this school. To delay it at this time would be quite costly as costs of building and costs of financing becomes increasingly more expensive." Before elaborating on this statement, first let me point out that I realize that the people in the outlying areas of the school district were not given the opportunity to vote on the original school building program. Yet, whose error was this? Perhaps the people who took out those papers can explain the oversight. Could be it was an error in their computer programming! Enough about that point though.

Using a fact sheet identical to those which will be mailed to some 800 residents in the outlying areas of the school district, I find that if we wait to build the school we will face an increased cost of construction of at least $150,000 a year. In addition, we'll have to rent more classroom space, which presently is not available. Consider, then, this point; we will need at least five additional elementary classrooms and teachers for the 1969-70 school year based on present enrollment. More graphic illustrations on the need for room space are simply that at the Quinney School, the home economics room and band room are also used for junior high English, social studies, and speech classes. The janitor's room at Park School is being used for art storage and band practice. Also, at Harrison and Nicolet Schools pianos and art supplies are moved from room to room.

There is also the charge leveled that the proposed school contains unnecessary "frills." If air-conditioning could be considered as such, that item has been eliminated. There will be a $27,000 expense for carpeting which can be justified from this standpoint. The particular curriculum (open classroom concept) for this school calls for less noise. This can be achieved through the more expensive acoustics made necessary by installation of more walls, doors, etc., or the use of less expensive carpeting. If another plan were chosen, the cost for vinyl tile floors, doors, and walls needed for noise elimination would be $28,500. This doesn't include the architect's cost for a new plan. As I understand it, the maintenance cost of carpeting is over 50 per cent less than tile on the annual basis. So what "frills" are left?

Before turning to the most important issue of all — the education of children, something needs to be said about taxes. The Kaukauna city taxes, including school tax, are eighth lowest of 134 cities — based on full valuation. The present tax levy for 1968-69 includes in it all of the expenses for running the new school from September to December. It also includes $35,000 toward the payment of interest. The only expense not included in our tax is payment on the principal which would be approximately $70,000 to

Boost in Both Income
And Sales Tax Rates
Is Likely This Year

By JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — When the legislature is forced to authorize a sizeable increase in taxes to support the formidable budget deficit that will confront it — perhaps up to $400 million — it will have a narrow range of choices.

It could take a middle

ground between the sales taxes and the income taxes — as was finally decided after the classical impasse on revenues during the Nelson administration earlier in the decade.

It could levy only on incomes, as a few of the old fashioned liberals rooted in the philosophy of an earlier era, will continue to insist.

Or it could extend the coverage of the sales tax and raise the rates to raise the required amounts of money.

has been flattened somewhat in recent years and the painfulness of the exactions ameliorated for wage and salary earners with the enactment of the payroll deduction system, Wisconsin remains known as a high income tax state.

But as the situation appears now, the Republican rulers of the state won't have the luxury of choosing.

They will almost surely be required to increase the productivity of both levies, unless the governor and the legislature are able to put into effect the kind of spending austerity program that no one now believe they will be able or willing to do.

DEMOCRATS COULD CHORTLE

The outlook, therefore, is for a combined tax boost of a weight that the state has not experienced before.

It would be achieved to the accompaniment of the gleeful heckling of the minority Democrats who will be able to say "I told you so" and to generate the critical publicity that may restore them to control in the state-house — and to the responsibility for making such onerous decisions — in the elections of 1970.

COMBINATION RAISE LIKELY

The chances are that it will choose a combination of the sales tax and the income tax, if only because using one or the other of the sources would make for rates so high as to put Wisconsin in an unfavorably conspicuous position among its neighbors and perhaps in the country.

As the Nelson "blue ribbon" tax revision committee said in a memorable sentence on the previous occasion, Wisconsin must strive to present the appearance as well as the reality of moving in reasonable consistency with competing economic jurisdictions.

There is little doubt that if the Republican directed legislature, and probably Gov. Knowles as well, could choose one avenue, they would prefer the sales tax. Not only is the Wisconsin sales tax quite moderate in its application, being selective and lower in rate than many other states levy, but the Republicans are more likely to respond to the fact that the personal income tax in Wisconsin is comparatively high.

STATE INCOME TAX HIGH

It is one of the highest in effect among the states. Although the progressivity curve

What needs emphasis and repetition because the subject is inherently difficult to communicate, is that there would be little choice, in a realistic sense, even if the Democrats had the power to make decisions under the conditions that now obviously impend.

"Taxation according to ability to pay" was a defensible and plausible idea until a decade or so ago when the explosion of spending in response to an irresistible combination of pressures exhausted traditional methods. Today for the informed it is merely an echo of simpler times.

PROGRESSIVE CURB STEEP

Even now the income tax progressivity curve remains relatively steep. A recent compilation shows that the number of returns under the income tax filed by persons earning $12,000 and more constituted only three per cent.

Of taxable income reported, residents earning under $6,000 a year accounted for 44 per cent and paid only 29 per cent of the taxes. Those in the middle brackets, $6,000 to $12,000, earned 40 per cent of the income and paid the same ratio of taxes. But those earning $12,000 and above earned only 16 per cent of the taxable personal income, and paid 31 per cent of the tax yield.

$90,000. Another item which might be checked into is the Homestead Act. My understanding on this act is that people who have low incomes, such as those people living on Social Security, savings, etc., are eligible to receive a percentage of their property tax back according to the salary they earn. A justifiable argument then, would be that the new school will cost a lot of money, the property owner's money among others, but it is not money which is unnecessarily spent on frills or unneeded rooms. In good conscience I cannot vote against the school bond referendum for I know there is no acceptable alternative.

Finally, in educating a child the perfect pupil-teacher ratio would be 1 to 1; this, I realize, is unrealistic. In the Kaukauna Elementary Public School System the ratio is 27.8; the parochial schools' ratio is 33.0. The State Board of Education recommends 25.0. What is obvious is that this ratio would reach extremely alarming proportions if it became necessary to jam more children into the present school structures. Contrary to what might be heard, the K-8 enrollment will not decrease next year. Right now, besides being overcrowded, we are renting 7 rooms. I believe we'll find that sardines are more comfortable packed in cans! By way of passing, I sometimes wonder how much effective teaching and learning can occur when elementary classrooms are overcrowded? How much individual help can be given?

Taking out of context the Master Teacher's words, "Suffer the little children to come unto me..." I think we'll find in the final analysis that if the school bond referendum is defeated they are the only ones of great importance who will suffer!

Ky Optimistic Over Outcome of Talks

South Vietnam Vice President, Delegation Happy With Progress

PARIS (AP)—South Vietnam's Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky returned today to supervise his government's delegation to the Vietnam peace talks and said the Saigon regime is "sincere and ready in the hope of achieving a just and lasting peace."

"Peace can be restored as soon as the Communists abandon their scheme of expansion by force," the Saigon leader told newsmen.

Ky and his attractive wife were welcome at Orly airport by ranking members of the U.S. and Saigon delegations, including the man Ky once told intimates he regarded as a father, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

Ky was premier of South Vietnam at the time of Lodge's second tour as ambassador in Saigon in 1967. The two were on the best of terms, with Lodge often counseling Ky. Lodge this week replaced W. Averell Harriman as chief of the U.S. delegation to the talks.

Pair Urges State to Sell Car Insurance

MADISON (AP) — The state would sell auto insurance to Wisconsin residents under terms of a bill introduced in the Assembly Thursday.

The state has long operated a plan under which it sells life insurance.

Under the proposal, offered by Assemblyman George Molinaro of Kenosha and Sen. Norman Sussman of Milwaukee, both Democrats, any Wisconsin driver would be eligible for a policy to provide personal injury, liability and collision coverage.

The authors quickly conceded the measure would not be received kindly by the Republican-controlled legislature.

"They'll call it socialized insurance," Sussman said.

Still Wearing Portions of their factory uniforms, workers at a Viet Cong jungle munitions factory take time out for a game of volleyball in this scene from a film seized when government troops overran an enemy position.

Film Shows Effectiveness Of Enemy Weapon Factory

CA MAU, Vietnam (AP) — Somewhere in the jungle, barefoot steelworkers lift pots of molten metal from crude oil barrel furnaces. As the Viet Cong's propaganda department films them, they cast weapons for the enemy—possibly under the noses of American or South Vietnamese government patrols.

Mines, grenades and mortars, waist-high finned rockets and bulbous warheads are stacked around the primitive foundry depicted in 600 feet of black and white film seized with a Viet Cong regional information center in the U Minh Forest southwest of Saigon.

The workers, clad in uniforms without insignia, move about busily beneath a sign in Vietnamese that reads: "Be careful. Don't cause accidents." Another scene shows a plaque with a red star and a list of names. It looks like an award for diligence.

Northwest of Saigon

The film was shot last fall, probably in the Cambodian border region of the Mekong Delta or northwest of Saigon. A work chart posted on a shop wall shows the date Sept. 21, 1968, and mines stacked in the shop are inscribed August 1968.

Tall, leafless trees, possibly defoliated by American planes, surround the weapons factory. It is primitive, but it is the most advanced such installation yet seen in South Vietnam. The Saigon government relies on ammunition imported from the United States. American and South Vietnamese troops have overrun many jungle factories, but they were simple installations compared to the one in the captured film.

The film opens with Viet Cong soldiers marching through a forest carrying Russian rifles. The camera then moves through the trees to a pall of smoke.

Steel is being boiled in several drums, and the molten metal is poured into casts to form the hulls of torpedo-like land mines and grenades. Clay is knocked away, and a cluster of grenades is shown tangled like grapes on a vine.

Several sequences depict the manufacture of grenade fuses, showing the crudely molded forms, then the fuses being smoothed on a lathe and an inspector congratulating a girl who poured the casings. She smiles proudly, and the camera shows the ammunition belt hung around her waist in guerrilla style.

Weapons Factory

Hundreds of large claymore mines are turned out by the weapons factory, and workers fashion the shaped cases of the mines from tin drums, soldering them together and filling the cases with lethal steel pellets produced on the spot.

A smiling girl wearing a woolen cap and gold earrings operates a lathe, her eyes reflecting the light of a naked light bulb overhead. Another girl, wearing two rings on her wedding finger, carefully files a 75mm recoilless rifle shell.

Democrats Promise to Keep A Watchful Eye on Hickel

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has easily won its first congressional test, gaining confirmation of Walter J. Hickel as secretary of interior over the opposition of nearly all the Senate Democratic leadership.

But indications were Democrats in Congress will be watching the Alaska governor's every move after he is sworn in at the White House ceremonies today.

"Mr. Hickel is on notice from both ends of Pennsylvania Avenue," said Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield after Hickel was confirmed Thursday by a vote of 73 to 16.

"It will probably mean he will be a very good secretary of the interior," Mansfield added.

Mansfield, paired against confirmation, said the vote has no significance for the future and "we're very hopeful relations will be good."

Hickel, whose views on conservation and water pollution had stirred a storm of controversy, was the last of Nixon's 12 Cabinet appointees to be approved. The others were sworn in Wednesday.

Also confirmed Thursday was multimillionaire California industrialist David R. Packard as deputy secretary of defense.

The vote was 82 to 1. Tennessee Democrat Albert Gore, declaring the nomination constitutes "a conflict of interest as plain as the nose on your face," cast the single "nay."

Packard's $300-million stock holdings in an electronics company he helped begin raised the conflict-of-interest questions. His company has done substantial business with the Defense Department, so Packard plans to put the stock in a trust from which he will derive no income or profit.

Dividends and any increase in the stock's value will go to charity and education, but he can reclaim it when he leaves government service.

All 16 dissenting votes on the Hickel nomination were cast by Democrats. All Republicans either voted for the Alaska governor or stated support of him.

The dissenters included such luminaries as Edward M. Kennedy, the party whip; Fred R. Harris, the chairman of the National Democratic Committee and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie and Eugene J. McCarthy, possible 1972 presidential candidates.

Several lesser appointees won quick approval, but the Senate Armed Services Committee put off action until next week on the nominations of John H. Chafee, as secretary of the Navy and Dr. Robert C. Seamans Jr. as secretary of the Air Force.

Its ranking Republican, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, accused the Nixon administration of "a serious error" in not asking the Senate to reconfirm Stanley R. Resor, who is remaining as secretary of the Army.

400 Persons Arrested at San Francisco

Police Enforce Anti-Rally Rule At State College

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police, enforcing an anti-rally rule, arrested more than 400 persons Thursday at San Francisco State College.

By midnight, officers at city prison still had not booked all those brought in during a three-hour relay of nine police vans. Many were out on bail and their own recognizance a few hours later.

It was the biggest haul since a student strike, spearheaded by about 200 dissidents and supported by 250 striking teachers, began Nov. 6 at the 18,000 student campus.

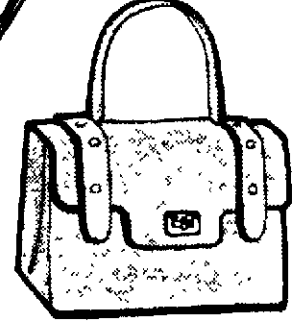

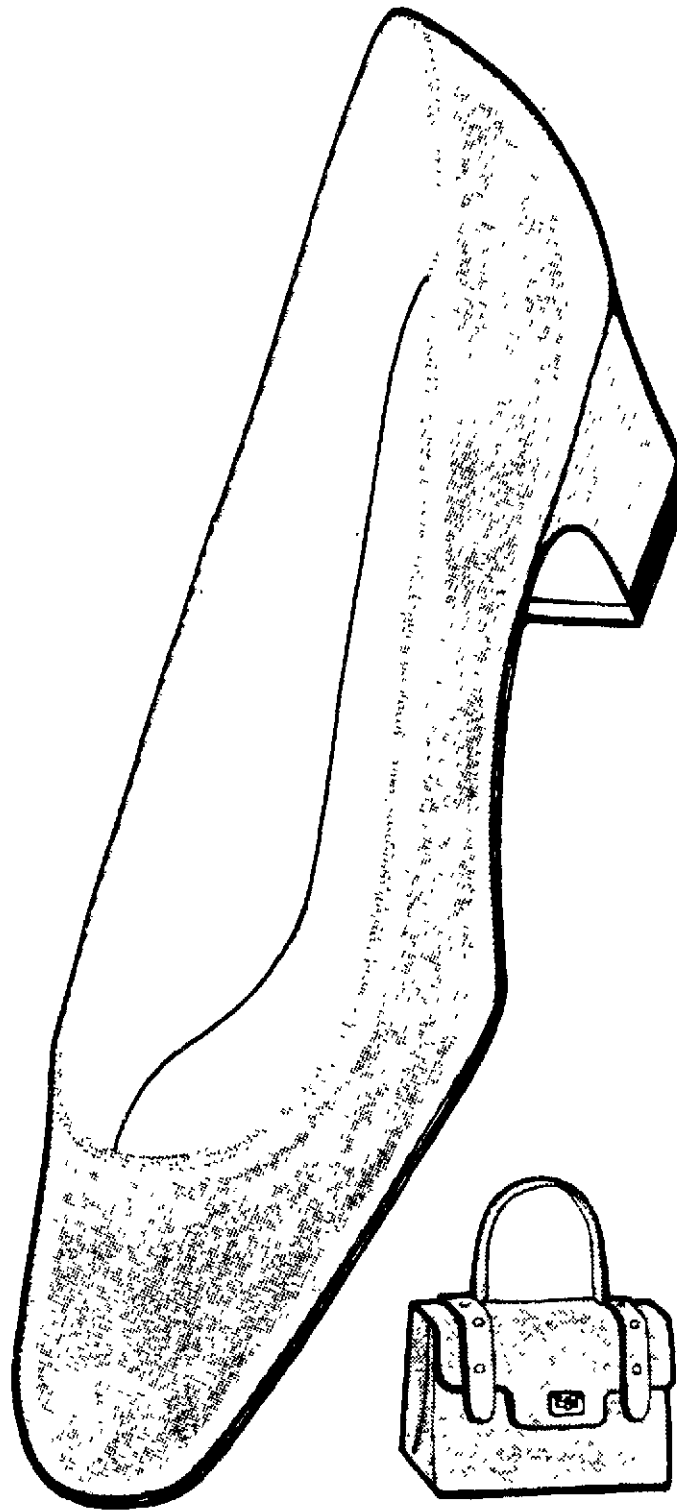

About 300 policemen moved in after the crowd refused to heed warnings to disperse, given over a loudspeaker atop the administration building.

At a news conference later, Dr. S.I. Hayakawa, a noted semantist who is acting as the college's seventh president within the past eight years, called the rally "an act of desperation" by militants.

Among those arrested were 15 American Federation of Teachers union pickets, including some from Fresno State College; and Nathan Hare, a Negro instructor newly named to head a black studies department, created to placate strikers.

Thursday's arrests brought the total for the school year to more than 600.

State Sheriffs To Seek Terms Of Four Years

Proposed Legislation Would Put Office on Non-Partisan Basis

HUDSON — The Wisconsin Sheriffs and Deputy Sheriffs Association, at the urging of its outgoing president, Sheriff Calvin Spice of Outagamie County, will seek state legislation allowing election of sheriffs on a non-partisan basis for four-year terms.

Spice, who was succeeded as president by Columbia County Sheriff Vearn Golz, told lawmakers at the organization's mid-winter conference here, that the present two-year limitation on sheriff terms requires almost continual campaigning for re-election.

He also said he did not understand why a "man should lose office because of a political tag hung on him."

The executive board of the state lawmen's association, at a meeting in Superior last October, voted to bring the four-year term, non-partisan election proposal to the entire association membership.

1969 Term

The state association has traditionally favored partisan election of sheriffs.

Some association officers predicted at Superior that the state legislature will be asked to make the election change during the 1969 term.

Some 150 delegates at the winter conference which ended Thursday approved resolutions urging the naming of a state coordinator of sheriffs departments; a coordinator for the traffic ticket system; and the abolishment of juvenile status for youthful traffic offenders.

The association tentatively set its summer conference for Marinette, but did not pick dates.

Water Bomb Spree Costs Youth $50

A second Appleton youth arrested for throwing water-filled balloons at cars Jan. 18, this morning was fined $50 and costs or 12 days in jail.

Allen Southard, 18, 1124 W. Brewster St., appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 on a disorderly conduct charge brought by Appleton police.

He and Jack F. Downie, 19, 1218 S. Memorial Drive, were caught by an Appleton police patrolman who saw them dropping the balloons from the fourth level of the H. C. Prange Co. parking ramp. They hit at least one auto.

Downie was fined $50 on the same charge Monday. He also was sentenced to 10 days in jail when he pleaded guilty of driving after his license was revoked.

Lions Beat Problems Plaguing Promotion

SHERWOOD — Obstacles which have been plaguing the Sherwood-Menasha Lions' first Snowmobile-Fisheree Rally scheduled at High Cliff this weekend are now mostly being looked back on. Lions are optimistic everything will turn out all right.

The 'hard luck story' began when the new 1969 car being given as the number one spectator-award received $700 damage in a crash, Jan. 7 in Neenah.

The Lions couldn't give a damaged car as a prize; and didn't want to give one that had been repaired. Yet couldn't find one exactly the same to replace it.

After many anxious moments Reynold Brantmeier, who is handling the promotion here, located another, of the same model, at a Colby dealer. Although it cost the club additional funds it was purchased. The only variation is the car will be "new lime" instead of the original "lime gold".

Two Injured In 3-Car Accident On U. S. 41

OSHKOSH — Two youths were taken to Theda Clark Memorial Hospital for treatment of injuries they received in a three-car accident about 1 a.m. today on U.S. 41 at State 114 in the Town of Oshkosh.

The youths were John L. Clarke, 19, 426 Coolidge St., Appleton, driver of one car, and a passenger in his car, Patricia Ciske, 18, 600 Second St., Menasha. Clarke suffered arm and chest injuries and Miss Ciske sustained a possible hip injury.

County police said a car being driven north on U.S. 41 by Raymond F. Hintz, route 2, Weyauwega, was turning left onto State 114 when it was struck in the rear by the Clarke auto. The Clarke vehicle was eastbound on 114 and skidded on ice into the intersection, police said.

Clarke got out of his car to inspect the damage to its front end, when another eastbound auto, operated by James M. Landsverk, 19, 211 King St., Neenah, skidded on ice through the intersection and struck the Clarke vehicle. The Clarke auto lurched due to impact and struck Clarke, police said.

Damage to the two vehicles in the first part of the mishap was estimated at $80. The second crash caused damage estimated at $1,300 to the Clarke and Landsverk autos.

KAUKAUNA—E. R. Sutherland, who will retire as chairman of the board of Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co. Feb. 1, was feted at a dinner meeting Wednesday at Oakwood Hills.

Sutherland was made an honorary citizen of Kaukauna and presented a gift by Mayor Gilbert Anderson on behalf of the city. The gift was presented by James McDaniel, council president.

Both men paid tribute to Sutherland for the interest he has shown in all Kaukauna endeavors and the role he played in "making Kaukauna a better place in which to live."

Also paying tribute to him was J. T. Thomas, Thilmany president. Sutherland was also honored with a "Ted Sutherland Night" at a Quarter Century Club party prior to the holidays.

Sutherland joined Thilmany as office manager in 1940, later was made secretary-treasurer, a director and in 1966 chairman of the board.

Air Wisconsin Gets Ticket, Baggage Pact With Ozark Airlines

Air Wisconsin has added Ozark Airlines to the list of air carriers with which it has interline ticket and baggage agreements.

The Appleton-based third level airline now has full ticketing and baggage agreements with Air Canada, Continental, Air West, Delta, S.A.S., Northwest, American, Eastern, TWA, B.O.A.C., Pan American, Western, United and Braniff, in addition to Ozark.

weather started acting up. Cross-country snowmobile races, originally planned off the marina at High Cliff State Park, just west of here, were scheduled to take place at High Cliff Village, on land adjacent to the park. Weather turned worse and all the races were scheduled to be staged at the recreational development. Then Lake Winnebago became so slushy and water clogged, the fisheree was planned on a trout pond in the same area.

Lions members have been working long hours preparing the track for races Saturday and Sunday.

Prize Money
About $1,500 is guaranteed in prizes and trophies to the winners as well as several spectator awards in addition to the car and snowmobile.

Races start at noon Saturday. They include stock, modified, cross-country and lap, all sanctioned by the United States Snowmobile Association. Entries for Saturday's events must be made at the registration station by 10 a.m. All drivers are guaranteed 100 per cent return in prizes of their $5 entry fee.

Powder Puff Race
Races Sunday will be for trophies and will include a "powder puff" event for the women. Entries must be made by 11 a.m. and are $1.

Prizes for the fisheree Sunday include ice augers for the largest trout and bass.

Heated tents will be set in place today and refreshments including fare usually served at summer picnics, plus hot coffee, will be served throughout the two-day event.

Plans For an Informational agency to coordinate groups for senior citizens in Appleton and Outagamie County are discussed by from left Michael Doyle, University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Campus coordinator of continuing education; Mrs. Alice Schultz, Outagamie County Extension Home Economist, and Harry Hutson, Fox Valley Campus dean at a meeting Wednesday at the Campus. The agency proposed would inform senior citizens of benefits available to them and coordinate agencies for senior citizens. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Natural Beauty Council

Student Aid Sought to Help Eliminate County Eyesores

Elementary school pupils and high school youths will be enlisted to seek out eyesores in Outagamie County.

The project is part of an inventory of unsightly places undertaken by the newly organized Outagamie County Natural Beauty Council and is an initial step in a program to rid the county of unsightly areas.

Each county in the state has organized its own beauty council as established by legislative action in Madison in 1967.

Harold Miller of Appleton is president of the county council which works in cooperation with the University of Wisconsin Extension Division. The division's function is to help plan and coordinate programs.

Much To Do
Mrs. L. P. Williams, Appleton, vice president of the council, said "we're just getting off in the ground and much needs to be done."

She noted that more than 400 letters have been sent to Boy Scouts, Girl Scout groups, 4-H leaders, and teachers in various communities in order to instill interest in the planned cooperative program.

The elementary and high school youths of the county has been asked to participate in a poster contest depicting one area in the county that could be improved.

"The first step in any solving problem is to see what the problem is," Mrs. Williams said. She stressed the importance of getting youths as well as adults involved in the project "that should be of concern to the entire community."

Urges Local Help
"Let's not sit back and let the government do for us that which could be handled by those in the county communities," Mrs. Williams urged.

"We hope the posters will convey an idea for improvement that is feasible," she added. The posters will be judged by and winning entries recognized at the council's kickoff dinner program at the Columbus Club.

Democrats to Meet
MADISON (AP) — The Young Democratic Clubs of Wisconsin reported today that its 1969 convention will be held in Oshkosh March 21-23. Major business will be the election of officers.

Drive Starts Saturday
Appleton Chairman Named for Telethon

Mrs. Robert Getschow has been named Appleton telephone chairman for the 16th annual Cerebral Palsy Telethon from 10 p.m. Saturday to 6 p.m. Sunday.

Mrs. James Long heads the fish bowl donations for the fund drive in Appleton. The fishbowl for donations will be located at Prange's Midway.

Other chairmen in Appleton are Glenn Erdman in charge of business collections; Mrs. Gerald Schoepke, and Mrs. Jerome Kolosso, give-aways, and Mrs. Frank Mueller, publicity.

The volunteer chairman represent the Appleton Jaycettes, Appleton Jaycees and PBX.

The annual event will feature singer-entertainer Miss Eileen Smith, who has appeared on three previous telethons.

Miss Smith was grand talent winner and second runner-up to Miss America in 1965 and has acted in roles in musical comedies at summer theaters with Gordon MacRae, Howard Keel and Van Johnson.

Johnny Tillotson, a young television and night club singing star, also will appear on the 20-hour program.

PSC Hearing Set on Gas Rate Increase

Agency to Review 4 Per Cent Hike for Fox Cities Customers

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — A Public Service Commission (PSC) hearing at 10 a.m. Feb. 11 at the agency's headquarters will decide if natural gas rate increases by the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. (WMPCO) in the Fox Cities are just and reasonable.

A natural gas rate increase of slightly less than 4 per cent to residential customers was authorized in a Jan. 3 PSC ruling. The usual 60-day waiting period was waived on condition that the rate increase be subject to a review hearing and that the rates will be adjusted should the review board find them unsuitable.

The increases followed a jump of 8.4 per cent in the price WMPCO pays its supplier for natural gas.

17,000 Customers
The hike affects about 17,000 customers in Neenah, Menasha, Appleton and surrounding areas.

The average residential customer using gas to heat his home can expect a $6 rate hike per year. Residential customers using gas for other purposes will average a 90-cent hike. Small commercial and industrial users will average $13 more yearly.

Five Divorces Are Granted by County Court

Five divorces were granted in Outagamie County Court Branch 1, all on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment.

Joseph A. Van Ooyen, 20, Green Bay, was divorced by Bonnie Van Ooyen, 20, 213 1/2 N. Meade St. The couple was married May 6, 1967, and has one child. He is to pay support of $50 every two weeks.

Jacqueline Montanye, 19, 419 W. Kimberly Ave., Kimberly, was divorced from Chris A. Montanye, 20, 608 Broad St., Menasha. They were married Feb. 6, 1967, and have one child. A division of property was agreed upon.

Richard Crane, 37, Milwaukee, was granted a divorce from Jacqueline Crane, 36, Westerville, Wis. He is to pay $150 per month support for three children. The Cranes were married Oct. 13, 1950.

Robert E. Murphy, 44, 220 N. State St., was divorced by Mary Murphy, 38, 514 N. Lawe St. Married Nov. 24, 1949, they have three children, for whom Murphy is to pay $50 per week support.

Anne Jaches, 43, 1534 E. Randall St., was divorced from Matthew G. Jaches, 47, Des Plaines, Ill. They were married May 6, 1944, and have three minor children. The court approved a division of property.

'Barber of Seville' Italian Comic Classic Well Staged and Sung

Post-Crescent Sunday Editor
The pleasures and pitfalls of presenting Italian opera in English-language translation were pointed up once again Thursday evening as the Lawrence University Opera Theatre presented the first of three scheduled performances of Gioacchino Rossini's "The Barber of Seville".

The delights, of course, are many: an extremely lucid (if equally farcical) story line; fewer problems for fledgling singers (all of whom speak English fluently), and improved audience empathy — especially if many members of that audience are not familiar with the work being performed.

The pitfalls lie in the labored, self-conscious and frequently distracting internal rhyme schemes that are all too often developed by translators in the course of adapting new lyrics to the intricacies of the original score.

It's difficult not to sympathize with Robert C. Bird, author of the present version, in his task. It isn't easy to come up with lines like: "Don't recant me, but rather just grant me a heart to enchant me." Or: "I won't complain about your brain if these plans are not in vain."

But they do add to the artificiality of an already artificial evening, and the spontaneous laughter they generate can do violence to the lyricist's intended mood.

On the other hand, nothing could really interfere with the familiar fun of Seville's beloved intriguer, and in its present incarnation, blithely directed by John Koopman (with chorus preparation by Karl Erickson), Saturday's performance is a we have a fast-moving, broadly-acted, attractively mounted and

The story, of course, revolves about that sturdy staple of romantic fiction, the sequestered virgin, "protected" from her ardent young lover by an older man with his own, ill-concealed designs on her affections. In the course of it all, youth wins out, of course, and the balding, paunchy representative of the middle-aged Establishment gets his comeuppance. (Shades of "The Graduate"!)

Koopman's attractive and generally competent student cast is headed by Daniel Foster as the ardent (and romantically acceptable) Count Almaviva; David Varnum as the justifiably-worried guardian, Dr. Bartolo, and Fred Schuetz as Figaro, the antic barber whose machinations make the world of love go round.

Rosina, Dr. Bartolo's lovely ward, was portrayed on opening night by Carol Jegen, alternating in the role with Susan Noffke. Tom Herman impersonated Don Basilio, the stick-stiff music master; Linda Dagenhardt was Dr. Bartolo's housekeeper, Berta, and Randy Remmel was effective in a number of smaller roles.

As might be expected, not all of the youthful performers are equally gifted both as actors and singers. But by maintaining a brisk tempo, the director has minimized these potential deficiencies, and created an evening of warmth, charm, good humor and good musicianship.

"The Barber of Seville" will be repeated at 8 p.m. tonight in Stansbury auditorium of the Lawrence Music-Drama Center. Saturday's performance is a private benefit, although some tickets will be sold at the door.

Voting Procedures Given For Kaukauna Referendum

KAUKAUNA — Regular voting procedure will be followed and voting machines will be used for the special referendum election to be held Tuesday on the proposed $1.5 million school bond issue, according to Karl E. Marzahl, city clerk.

Voting hours will be from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. with First and Second ward voters casting ballots at Park School and Third, Fourth and Fifth Ward voters voting at Nicolet School. Voters in Little Chute will also use voting machines while outlying areas of the district will mark paper ballots.

A "yes" vote will authorize the board of education to float a $1.5 million bond issue to finance construction of a new northside elementary school to completed.

Classroom space is being rented from parochial schools and in church halls to handle the referendum will prevent contractors from having the building ready this year.

Train Gradually to Reduce Sore Muscles

BY GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Many times when a new sports season opens, the athletes' muscles get sore. What is it in the muscle that causes the aching? — M.S.

Two main elements are at work. One is the sheer stretching of muscles that are not in condition. The other is the presence of metabolites (chemical substances) which accumulate from the abruptly increased demands on the muscles.

Training, and more gradual

Galapagos in TV Limelight

Remote Islands of Pacific Need Their Isolation From Man

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — If we have many more TV specials about the remote, sparsely inhabited Galapagos islands, they may become successors to Acapulco or Las Vegas as "In" places for tourists. And what will happen then to the blue-footed boobies and the Darwin finches and the giant tortoises that the conservationists want to keep alive?

A little over a week ago, Jacques Yves Cousteau and his fun-loving divers gave the ABC viewers a once-over-lightly tour of the volcanic Galapagos and its unusual fauna.

On Wednesday night CBS viewers had a closer, more comprehensive look at the island that more than a century ago stimulated Charles Darwin to study and think more deeply about the origin of the species.

This hour special apparently was made originally for the British TV audience and it had the duke of Edinburgh doing some of the commentary and frequently mentioning the need to keep the islands off limits to man.

The camera team of Alan and Joan Root—who made "Born Free"—shot the footage showing the reptiles and birds found on the barren islands far off the coast of Ecuador. Since most of the creatures are amazingly tame, they had some marvelous sequences.

Viewers, thus, were able to see in close up the amusing courtship rituals of lumbering tortoises, sleek frigate birds and the clown-like blue-footed boobies. We watched the woodpecker finches poke twigs and cactus spines into tree holes to dig out insects.

Prince Philip visited the island briefly four or five years ago and is interested in conservation. His remarks were directly to the point and he displayed a good sense of humor and a nice turn of phrase. Most of the narration, however, was done by American actor Leon Janney.

For a family audience, it was a delightful hour. It would, however, have been helpful if, after lecturing us on the importance of saving the Galapagos, someone had told us specifically how individuals could help. A second mild complaint concerns the commercials—so carefully integrated into the show that the viewer was not aware the sales pitch was in progress until somebody started exhibiting cereal boxes.

increase in strain on the muscles, avoids this. Most athletes know this — or if they don't, they soon learn that it pays to keep in shape rather than suffering through the aches and pains.

There's a still better reason, though. Injury is much more likely when muscles are subjected to severe strain. This is more than a matter of overstraining the muscles involved. Ankles and knees can be damaged if put under too much stress before the muscles that support them have been toned up by use.

A good many of our skiing accidents would most certainly be avoided if ski fans would take pains to give themselves some conditioning and not try to tackle the steep slopes the first few times out.

Same thing applies to just about any active sport and I'll certainly include the recently popularized sport of jogging. Smart joggers take it easy at first, jogging only short distances until muscles have perked up. Starting gradually can avoid turned ankles, foot injuries (you have a lot of important muscles in your feet) and even an occasional nasty fall. Besides that, the middle-aged (or older) jogger owes it as well to his heart and lungs to get himself in shape gradually.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am sending 35 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for your booklet, "How to Heal Peptic Ulcers and Keep Them Healed." Also, I have ulcers in my mouth and have had two doctors tell me that smallpox vaccinations will cure them. Do you think this is true? — Mrs. M.C.W.

I can't say that it is "true." All the same, I have heard of some instances in which it worked. Best answer I can give you is maybe, and that it works in some cases, not in others. No harm in trying it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I evidently missed your article regarding the difference between powdered milk and raw or other milk for babies. Which is better? — J.S.

Special problems (allergies, eczema, etc.) may require a special milk, but for general use, ordinary, homogenized, pasteurized milk serves very well. Canned milk, of course, is widely used in formulas for small babies.

When you say "raw" milk, that raises my hackles, because raw (unpasteurized) milk is dangerous. Too many diseases can be transmitted. So be sure milk is pasteurized.

Powdered milk, after being reconstituted with water, is just about equivalent to whatever the milk was like before it was dried and powdered — but here's the rub. A great deal of the powdered milk is made from skim milk or low fat milk. That's fine for some purposes, but with children it means that you are short-changing them on
